Confidence Vote Given New British Cabinet

Many Interuptions When MacDonald Addresses Commons

Head of New National Government Tells M.P.'s Britain's Economic Crisis Grew So Fast Most Vigorous Measures Were Demanded; Labor Members Make So Many Interjections Speaker Forced to Appeal Premier Be Given Opportunity to Make Statement.

London, Sept. 8.—The new National Government was given a vote of confidence in the Commons this evening, its majority being sixty-nine.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 8.—Parliament opened to-day in a storm. Almost from the moment the speaker took the chair, Laborites were in a battle with the new National Government.

The House was jammed to the doors, presenting an amazing scene. In a swift change-over such front-benchers of the old opposition as Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill and Rt. Hon. L. C M. S. Amery were seen as back-bench members of the government.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, who was a leading member of the late Labor Cabinet, to-day, as leader of the opposition, sat facing Premier MacDonald. To the right of Mr. MacDonald was Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader and new Lord President of the Council. To the Prime Minister's left was Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, still Chancellor of the Exchequer.

MANY INTERRUPTIONS

And as the Prime Minister stated his case, he had at times almost to struggle for a hearing with those who only a few weeks ago were under his leadership.

Interruptions and interjections came to thick that Rt. Hon. Edward Fitzroy, Speaker of the House, had to appeal that the Prime Minister be given opportunity to make his speech.

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 8.—The new National government met Parliament to-day with a straight challenge to the new opposition.

In formal motion to establish a committee of ways and means—the committee of the whole House, which considers taxation changes—the government sought a vote of confidence.

With a majority secured, the way will be cleared for the government's economy proposals and for the supplementary budget which Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will introduce on Thursday.

MEMBERS IN SCRAMBLE

With the House called to open at 2:45 this afternoon, by 8 o'clock this morning forty parliamentarians who had waited for some time, engaged in a scramble for seats. Major Nathan, Liberal, had been waiting in the library since midnight.

When the doors opened at 8 a.m. Lady Nancy Astor, Conservative member for Plymouth-Sutton, was in first, securing on the government side a seat corresponding to her old gangway seat on the opposition side of the House. From then until early afternoon members came in a steady stream.

TRAIN SERVICE IN MOUNTAINS IS DISRUPTED

Thousands of Holiday Folk, on Week-end Holiday, Caught in Torrential Rains

Calgary, Sept. 8.—Train service on the Canadian Pacific Railway through the Rockies is expected to be resumed Friday or Saturday after nearly a week of interruption from a cloudburst that swept trees, rocks and torrents of water across the railway tracks. The Illecillewaet River switched its course as the rushing waters plunged onward, also swelling the Columbia River nine feet.

BRIDGE DOWN

The torrential rains struck between Glacier and Albert Canyon in British Columbia Saturday and Sunday, destroying the trestle bridge a few miles east of Albert Canyon, smashing telegraph poles and stopping communication with Pacific Coast centres. Yesterday, however, communication was restored as repair gangs sped into Albert Canyon to rebuild the bridge and replace the poles.

Until normal conditions return trains of the railway will be dispatched from Calgary to MacLeod, Alta., thence along the Kettle Valley line to Vancouver.

TREES UPROOTED

When the cloudburst broke over the mountain, huge rocks were loosened and plunged down the mountainside. Uprooted trees rolled over the railroad while the waters from the Illecillewaet River swung towards the five-mile Connaught Tunnell tearing up trackage and causing other damage. The tunnel was finally drained and repair gangs are working on the line to-day.

At Glacier, tons of debris, rolling down the mountainside, completely

AMY JOHNSON AT BERLIN ON LONG FLIGHT

Running short of gasoline while over Latvian territory Sunday, Amy Johnson and her mechanic made a successful forced landing at Aizpute. They obtained only ten gallons of gasoline there and flew on to Lispaka, where they spent the night, continuing the journey yesterday.

B.C. HOSPITALS' CONVENTION WILL OPEN TO-MORROW

Round Table Conferences on Hospital Matters Will Continue For Three Days

The fourteenth annual convention of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association will be opened at the Empress Hotel to-morrow morning with welcoming addresses delivered by Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, and Mayor Anscomb. The sessions will be under the chairmanship of J. H. McVety, president of the association.

With the presentation of reports by the secretary, Miss Mabel Gray, Vancouver, and the treasurer, Miss G. M. Currie, North Vancouver, the convention will resolve itself into a series of round-table conferences.

Luncheon will be served to-morrow at the Jubilee Hospital by invitation of the directors.

Dr. A. E. Haywood, general superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital and special adviser to the Provincial Government on hospital matters, will preside at to-morrow afternoon's round-table when there will be a discussion on methods by which general hospitals can assist in the treatment and earlier diagnosis of tuberculosis, state health insurance, financing of hospitals, boards of directors, attitude to professional work of hospitals, case record, post mortem examination, discipline of doctors in small hospitals and insurance companies' payments.

THURSDAY'S PROGRAMME

E. S. Withers, business manager of the Royal Columbian Hospital at New Westminster, will conduct the round table on Thursday morning, commencing at 9.30 o'clock. Luncheon will be served at St. Joseph's Hospital by invitation of the Sister Superior.

Miss W. C. Pipes, chief dietitian at the Vancouver General Hospital, will conduct the round table Thursday afternoon, when she will go into the whole question of dietetics.

Miss G. M. Fairley, acting convener of the committee on nursing affairs, will conduct the Friday morning session on nursing.

Adjournment will be made at noon on Friday, when the delegates will be taken on drives about the city and otherwise entertained.

Cabinet Meets to Consider Offer On Unemployment Work

Premier Calls Ministers to Decide What Proportion Government Will Contribute of Fifty Per Cent of Bill to Be Paid in Province and What Terms Municipalities Should Be Given to Pay Share Charged to Them.

Following receipt Saturday of the long-awaited offer of the Dominion government on its contribution towards public works for the relief of unemployment, Premier Tolmie called his cabinet together to-day to discuss the whole subject.

Briefly the offer of Premier Bennett is for the federal government to foot the bill for all such undertakings, for the provincial government to refund half the cost and for the provincial government to collect a proportion of the half from municipalities. The half of the cost of undertakings for which the federal government will hold provincial governments responsible will be secured by treasury bills of the province. The quarter, or what proportion the provinces may hold municipalities responsible for, would be secured in the bonds of the municipalities.

TO DECIDE PROPORTION

Whether British Columbia will contribute a quarter of the cost of relief work in municipalities and on what terms municipalities would repay the British Columbia government were matters up for discussion at the cabinet meeting to-day. From statements of Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, it was expected the municipalities would be offered a twenty-year repayment plan.

OTTAWA ADVICE

The information received from Premier Bennett Saturday was as follows:

"We have indicated that we are prepared to make most generous contributions, subject to effective supervision, to enable the provinces to provide employment for large numbers of persons. We have further concluded that in addition to our responsibility for purely federal undertakings and assistance direct to provincial undertakings, we will contribute one-half the cost of approved relief undertakings in British Columbia cities and towns, and will loan to your province the additional one-half, leaving to you the responsibility of making satisfactory arrangements with such cities and towns as to their contributions, on the assumption that they will deliver to the province their bonds as security, and that treasury bills of the province will be delivered to our government for the one-half thus loaned."

MINERS GO ON STRIKE IN SOUTH SASKATCHEWAN

Eight Lignite Pits in Estevan District Idle While Dispute Continues

Canadian Press

Regina, Sept. 8.—Bringing to a head trouble that had been stirring since agitators from Alberta points first appeared in the district about ten days ago, approximately 400 miners in the Estevan district failed to show up to work at 8 o'clock this morning. In consequence eight mines were closed down.

The centre of Saskatchewan's lignite coal area, the Estevan district has for many years been free from labor trouble.

NEGOTIATED ON HOLIDAY

Negotiations between the miners and coal operators ended yesterday evening, a final meeting being held when operators failed to comply with the demands of the miners and the latter indicated they would not appear at the mines this morning.

Threatened trouble arose over dissatisfaction with company stores, housing and boarding house arrangements, weights on which the miners are paid and wages.

The Communist workers from Alberta, although not actively voicing their opinion during the meetings, are alleged to have been working silently among the men. Government investigation of the sudden appearance in the Estevan coal area of Communist propaganda resulted in the discovery of many copies of the Communist paper, The Worker.

In an interview Hon. J. A. Merkley, Minister of Railways, Labor and Industries of Saskatchewan, indicated the matter would now lie with the federal government under a Dominion statute

Fair Weather For Moyle And Allen to Speed Along B.C. Coast After Sea Hop

If All Goes Well, Daring Air Voyagers Who Left Japanese Beach at 12.30 p.m. Yesterday, Victoria Time, Are Expected to Alight on Boeing Field, Seattle, Between 7 a.m. and Noon To-morrow.

Seattle, Sept. 8.—Favorable tail winds and clear weather prevailed in the Aleutian Islands area, which Don Moyle and C. A. Allen were to fly across to-day on their two-day non-stop flight from Samushiro, Japan, to Seattle. They are expected here between 7 a.m. and noon to-morrow.

Officials of the weather bureau at Boeing Field, where they are expected to land, believe the only adverse conditions the fliers are likely to encounter will be southerly winds along the British Columbia coast to-morrow. The north Pacific is altogether free of fog to-day.

An official reception for the Californians, who are endeavoring to establish themselves as the first aviators to cross the Pacific in one non-stop flight, was being arranged here by the Seattle chapter of the National Aeronautical Association to-day.

While clouds hung over Seattle and this vicinity to-day, they were expected to break this afternoon and be entirely dispersed to-morrow.

TOKIO AWAITS WORD

Tokio, Sept. 8.—Word was eagerly awaited here late to-night of the hoped-for sighting of the monoplane of Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, Californians, who took off from Samushiro Beach, Japan, at 5.30 a.m. (12.30 p.m. Monday, Victoria time) in a non-stop flight across the Pacific to Seattle.

At midnight here, eighteen and one-half hours after starting the non-stop flight, the plane had been sighted only once. Seventy minutes out from Samushiro it was reported passing Point Erim, 110 miles northeastward.

If the men held the starting speed of approximately 100 miles an hour, they should have been over the Aleutian Islands of Alaska at midnight (7 a.m. Victoria time).

NORTHWARD SWING

Efforts of the Japanese radio station at Ochiishi and of other agencies to learn the fliers' whereabouts were unavailing, although Ochiishi addressed inquiries to several Japanese and other vessels which might have been near the Moyle-Allen route.

It was felt, however, that absence of word was not a cause for undue alarm. The fliers were believed to have swung northward of the shipping lane across the Pacific in order to shorten the flying distance.

KING REDUCES HIS INCOME BY $250,000

Prince of Wales Gives $50,000 to National Funds in Economic Emergency

Queen and Other Members of Royal Family Also Arrange For Reductions

(Canadian Press)

London, Sept. 8.—As in the dark days of the Great War during 1916, the King has again placed himself at the head of his subjects by initiative in the national sacrifice during an economic emergency.

He announced yesterday evening in a letter to Premier MacDonald that he desired a reduction of £50,000 (about $250,000) in his civil list, which is the annual income paid by the government to the crown.

The Prince of Wales also informed the Prime Minister he intended to contribute $50,000 to the national funds.

The King said all other members of the royal family receiving parliamentary grants desired cuts in their incomes. It would be their contribution in the nation's time of financial emergency. The King's voluntary reduction is to continue for the duration of the period of stress.

George Wood Will Claim Boat Trophy

Brother of Gar Wood Races Miss America VIII Alone To-day in Harmsworth Trophy Series on Detroit River

Kay Don's Miss England II Overturned After Being Disqualified Yesterday Along With Gar Wood's Miss America IX

Canadian Press

Detroit, Sept. 8.—The 1931 Harmsworth Trophy race ran into further complications to-day. On top of the disqualification yesterday of Miss England II, Kaye Don's challenging boat, which overturned, and of Gar Wood's Miss America IX, George Wood, brother of Gar and pilot of Miss America VIII, the third boat, protested the race committee's decision declaring the race "no match."

George Wood said his boat finished third in the first heat on Sunday and first in the heat yesterday. He declared nothing in the Harmsworth rules prevented a third heat being run by Miss America VIII alone, the boat to be declared winner of the 1931 trophy at the finish.

George Wood said he would make the run at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

If the protest is allowed the name of George Wood would be inscribed on the Harmsworth Plaque as the 1931 victor.

BOAT WENT DOWN

To-day Miss England II, the world's fastest hydroplane, lay at the bottom of the Detroit River. With one heat safely won and needing only another victory to capture the trophy Gar Wood had held since 1920 when he won it in England, Kaye Don was eliminated from further competition in this year's international race by a double share of ill-luck yesterday.

As Don was swinging wide on the second turn at the lower end of the course on the first lap his craft struck the wash of Wood's Miss America IX and turned over. Don and his two mechanics, Roy Platford and Dick Garner, were not hurt.

It was almost at the instant the British challenger foundered that it

THIEVES LOOT STORE IN CITY

Merchandise Valued About $80 Taken From Robinson's

Two Other Robberies Reported During Week-end

Burglars who apparently spent quite a time to pick out a varied assortment of goods raided the sporting goods store of George Robinson, 1220 Broad Street, between Saturday night and early yesterday morning, taking approximately $80 worth of merchandise.

The robbery was discovered at 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning when Mr. Robinson visited the store prior to going fishing. Constables James Strong and W. Andrews answered his call to the police, but the case was subsequently taken up by detectives who believed to-day they had a clue to the thieves.

The stolen articles were taken from the display counters and shelves after the intruders had entered through a rear door, detectives found. The safe of the place was not touched. Among the things taken were two .22 calibre rifles, four generator bicycle lamps, thirty batteries and globes, two cyclometers, pedals, bicycle chain, flashlight brackets, bicycle tubes, repair kits, tire tape, tire cement, fifteen pocket knives, fishing reels and lines, leather helmets and goggles, shells and a hunting knife.

"I went to the store about 4.30 o'clock to get some things before I went fishing," Mr. Robinson said. "As soon as I entered I saw how everything had been disturbed and phoned the police.

"Needless to say I did not go fishing and it spoiled my holiday. However I went out yesterday evening and got six as compensation."

A couple of minor robberies also took place over the week-end.

The garage of A. G. Brooks, 1178 Fort Street, was broken into and a leather grip containing old cheques and papers was stolen.

Blow Received In Crash Cause Of Memory Blank

Rex Stinson, taxi-driver, who sustained a fractured skull in an automobile accident at the intersection of Pandora Avenue and Fernwood Road several weeks ago, suffered a temporary loss of memory from the blow he received in the crash, Magistrate George Jay was informed this morning in City Police Court by City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison. Stinson remembers nothing of the circumstances of the mishap.

Mr. Harrison made this statement in connection with the prosecution of W. H. Maxam for driving to the common danger. While Stinson would be presented to the court to give evidence, and for the purposes of cross-examination, his testimony would be very brief, the prosecutor said.

The hearing was set for next Tuesday. Stuart Henderson appears for the defence.

John Augerman was admitted to the hospital suffering from serious injuries received in an accident at Camp 3 of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Co. Ltd.

Digby Bayne, a well-known resident, was knocked down on Saturday by an automobile and removed to hospital.

Two Fires In Vernon Said to Have Been Set

All Saints' Anglican Church Destroyed This Morning; Blaze in Armories Causes Loss

Canadian Press

Vernon, B.C., Sept. 8.—All Saints' Anglican Church here was destroyed by fire shortly after 5 o'clock this morning, with a loss of some $35,000, partly covered by insurance.

The colors of the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, deposited in the church, were destroyed, as were the organ, valued at $4,000, and a number of valuable stained glass windows.

FIRE IN ARMORIES

Another fire about two hours earlier had partly destroyed the mess room at the Vernon Armories with a loss of $300.

Both fires are believed to have been of incendiary origin.

BRITISH TREASURY REPORTS DEFICIT

London, Sept. 8.—Exchequer returns issued to-night showed a total ordinary revenue last week of £8,450,761 ($42,253,805), or £1,621,104 ($8,105,200) less than the corresponding week in 1930. The total ordinary expenditure was £15,391,090 ($76,955,450) or £1,324,007 ($8,620,035) more than in the same period last year.

Safecrackers in Auto Escape From Police

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—A gang of alleged safecrackers evaded a police prowler car after an exciting chase through the west end of Vancouver at 1.45 a.m. to-day.

Constables B. Richardson and G. Monger were in the police car on Howe Street when an auto passed them at a great speed. They pursued, but lost the chase at Richards and Nelson Streets.

WILKINS SUBMARINE AGAIN IN PORT AT SPITZBERGEN

Canadian Press

Oslo, Norway, Sept. 8.—Sir Arthur Wilkins brought his polar submarine Nautilus back to Longyear City, Spitzbergen, shortly after noon to-day from a trip under the polar ice.

The craft appeared to have been damaged to some extent during its hazardous voyage.

The Nautilus started its cruise toward the Pole on August 18, when it left Longyear City. Three days later the party radioed the vessel had entered the zone of the ice pack and would press on despite a minor mechanical defect.

There followed several days of silence, during which men who knew the north felt grave concern for the safety of the expedition. Rescue vessels were equipped and made ready for a search, but before they got under way Sir Hubert's radio spoke again. The ship was safe, he said. It had made several dives under the ice.

The return of the party at this time follows the advice of many friends who warned against proceeding farther toward the Pole at this time of year.

DR. W. ROSE OF NEW YORK DEAD

Dr. Wickliffe Rose, Executive of Rockefeller Foundation, Died Near Sproat Lake

Was Famous Public Health Expert; Held Many Important Posts

Port Alberni, Sept. 8. — Dr. Wickliffe Rose of New York, famous public health expert of the Rockefeller Foundation, died from heart failure in the wild highlands above Sproat Lake on Saturday, when on a holiday here with Dr. L. Pricks, director of the Seattle Public Health Service.

Robert Smith, guide to the party, brought information of the death and Sergt. Fred Markland of the Provincial Police, with Richard Burge, Robert Griffin and R. Smith, left Alberni to bring in the remains.

The body was brought to Alberni on Sunday afternoon and has been shipped to New York for interment.

Dr. Rose was born in Tennessee in 1862, and after taking degrees at the Universities of Nashville, Chicago and Mississippi, and later at Harvard, he became well known as an educationist, holding important positions, including those of dean of Peabody University and also of the University of Nashville. He was appointed administrative secretary of the Rockefeller sanitary commission in 1910, a position which he held until 1915. He was secretary of the Southern Education Board from 1909 to 1913; a member of the Rockefeller Foundation 1913-28, being general director from 1913 to 1923. From 1923 to 1928 he was president of the International Education Board. He was a member of the China Medical Board, and a member of the Medical Advisory Board of the American Red Cross War Council in 1917.

Dr. Rose is survived by his widow and three children.

The following letter was made public yesterday evening:

'Balmoral Castle, September 7

"My Dear Prime Minister:

"I am commanded by the King to inform you that in the grave financial situation within which the country is confronted His Majesty desires personally to participate in the movement for reduction of national expenditures.

"The King has decided that His Majesty's civil list should be reduced by £50,000 while the emergency lasts.

"When after the war, owing to the increased cost of living and the fall in the purchasing power of money, the civil list settled by Parliament was found to be quite inadequate, drastic economies were made and therefore it is not easy to reduce the civil list further without sacrifices or some of the state functions which are traditionally associated with the monarchy and without throwing numbers of His Majesty's servants out of work.

"After careful consideration, however, the King has arrived at the conclusion that if they exercise the most rigid economy it should be possible to reduce the civil list by £50,000.

"I am to say that the Queen and other members of the Royal Family who are in receipt of parliamentary grants are all desirous that reductions of these grants should be made during this time of national crisis.

"Yours sincerely,

"F. PONSONBY,

"Keeper of the Privy Purse."

POSITION OF PRINCE

The Prince of Wales is in a totally different financial position. No provision is made for him in the civil list and his only source of income consists of revenues from his Duchy of Cornwall which, in 1929, brought him about $330,000.

SETS EXAMPLE

The London Daily Telegraph said:

"Yet again His Majesty makes himself one with his people and stands before the world as a living proof of that national unity of purpose that alone is needed to surmount our difficulties."

JAPAN-SEATTLE PLANE BELIEVED OVER ALEUTIANS

HEAVY LOAD

Don Moyce, motorcycle salesman, and C. A. Allen, former purveyor of washing machines, took off from Samushiro Beach, 375 miles north of here, at 5.30 a.m. to-day (12.30 p.m. Monday, Victoria time), with 1,020 gallons of gasoline, one of the heaviest fuel loads ever lifted by a single-motored plane, and began what is considered perhaps the most hazardous of all ocean flight undertakings—a jump estimated at 4,465 miles. They carried no radio.

The fliers estimated the 1,020 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of their plane would keep them in the air forty-seven hours. In addition they crowded fifty gallon tins of gasoline into the cockpit, to give them fuel for two additional hours of flying.

If they reach Seattle they will win $25,000 offered by the Asahi Tokio newspaper, for the first non-stop flight from Japan to North America south of a given degree of latitude.

The total weight of their plane at takeoff was a little less than six tons. As Moyle had predicted, they had no trouble taking off, clearing the beach after a run of 1,800 metres.

EARLIER ATTEMPTS

Nearly a year ago Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty—the latter the same man who recently established an around-the-world speed record with Wiley Post of Oklahoma—tried to fly this same plane from Samushiro Beach to Tacoma, Washington. They returned to the beach many hours later with a broken fuel line. This year Thomas Ash Jr., another United States flier, tried to make the flight alone, but could not get into the air, although he dumped a good part of his precious gasoline supply.

Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George's old seat below the opposition gangway went to W. E. E. Allen, Unionist, West Belfast, who is a member of the small group of Sir Oswald Mosley, Socialist. Another Mosleyite sits in the old seat of Sir Herbert Samuel, acting Liberal chieftain, who now sits among the government as Home Secretary.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, new parliamentary Labor leader in succession to Premier MacDonald and thus new opposition leader, was present before noon with half a dozen colleagues of the late Labor cabinet.

CROWDS IN STREETS

In the streets outside big crowds waited patiently for hours. The proceedings begin with a message from the King. As it is an adjourned session, although a special one, there was no state opening and no speech from the throne—and consequently there will be no long debate on the address in reply. After the debate on the vote of confidence, and the division, Parliament will get right down to work.

At 2.45 p.m., the Speaker, robed and wigged as of ancient custom, called the House to order. The 615 members crowded themselves into the House, many of them standing or sitting in the aisles.

At either end of the chamber the visitors' galleries also were crowded. The chamber presented the historic scene associated with developments of great national importance.

CHEERS HEARD

Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, hobbled to his seat, leaning on his two canes and political friends and foe alike raised a cheer which continued when Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, chief Conservative member of the cabinet, arrived.

The proceedings began with parliamentary routine as though no change whatever had occurred in the government. A Labor member asked about the shooting of a British sailor at Leningrad recently and an under-secretary reviewed that case briefly.

But Mr. MacDonald's first move preparatory to setting up a ways and means committee precipitated a noisy protest from the back bench Laborites.

Standing at the bar of the House, the Premier read a message from the King declaring that in the opinion of "His Majesty's advisers" the position of the national finances calls for imposition of additional taxation and for effective economies in the public expenditure.

Such a message from the monarch is a necessary formality under the constitutional theory that all taxes are levied at the King's command.

HENDERSON ASKS STATEMENT

The Labor members burst into applause as Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, who has replaced Mr. MacDonald as the Labor party chief, arose and asked the Premier for a statement of the business before the House.

Mr. MacDonald answered that tonight a vote of confidence would be asked, and to-morrow a resolution would be proposed controlling the length of debate. On Thursday, he said, Mr. Snowden would propose his supplementary budget, and Friday would be devoted to a second reading of the Economies Bill.

Mr. Henderson protested that such a rush at a time of crisis was a "very bad beginning."

There were loud cheers from both sides as this first clash between Mr. Henderson and his old Labor chief arose.

Mr. MacDonald, in a tone of studied sarcasm, retorted: "I am glad the gentleman admits there is a crisis."

NO PRECEDENTS

The Laborites suffered their first reverse in trying to block the government's programme, for the Speaker ruled the House had gathered in exceptional circumstances and could not act according to precedent.

"Why?" the Laborites demanded.

"Because there are no precedents," the Speaker replied.

Then Mr. MacDonald launched into his formal declaration for the government and a statement on the national situation.

GROWTH OF EMERGENCY

"On August 8, a statement reached me that the Bank of England, because of an outflow of deposits and danger to the gold reserve, was considering the possibility of a serious situation having to be met," Mr. MacDonald said.

"By the third week of August fresh credits that had been obtained were practically exhausted and the bank was down again on gold.

"The responsibility we had to face was like a typhoon approaching and unless we could avert it, it would pass over, leaving widely strewn wreckage behind.

"From day to day reports, everyone gloomier than the other, continued to come in.

"The government had to act promptly and vigorously, not in relation to party machines," said the Premier, glowering at the Labor ranks opposite him, "but with the promptest possible action.

"Our trade balance is not favorable and we must be careful lest we be put in the position of paying for our imports from capital or by printed paper," Mr. MacDonald said.

"Moreover, the May committee's economy report became a great international document. These things caused the present crisis."

CUTS HIGH SALARY

Mr. MacDonald's own salary would be cut $5,000 a year under the economy programme, he said, and he urged there should be no criticism, in the campaign of rumors against banks and financial leaders, "of the magnificent helpfulness and goodwill shown us by the American banks."

Far reaching negotiations concerning reparations and other international problems must begin soon, he said, "and the very best goodwill must exist ghetween America, France and ourselves."

HENDERSON SPEAKS

Mr. Henderson began speaking when the Premier had concluded. He asserted the present government was not a national government and that he and his associates would oppose it as long as it lasted. He was proud, he said, that he had been chosen leader of the opposition to reduction of the dole.

There was a burst of ironical laughter from the Labor back benchers as Premier MacDonald mentioned the King's offer to participate in the national sacrifice. "The King still gets fifteen hundred a day," a Laborite shouted.

SALARIES REDUCED

The Prime Minister stated that his cabinet colleagues as well as he himself were accepting an annual reduction in salary of $5,000.

He pictured the scene when he had been so hurriedly summoned back from Lossiemouth. The Bank of England was losing gold. Temporary borrowings had been practically exhausted. Another loan was necessary. Sterling was not only threatened with falling off the gold standard, but was threatened with tumbling off. From twenty shillings the British pound might drop to ten.

"Scaremonger," shouted Laborites.

"And it would have fumbled without control," Mr. MacDonald persisted. "I am no scaremonger. I am stating the facts."

CURRENCY CHAOS

Had sterling fallen, the Prime Minister continued, to the chaos of world trade would have been added the chaos of world currency.

"There was no time to fiddle while Rome was burning," the Prime Minister declared. "We had no alternative," he repeated, as Laborites again interrupted. The problem was to prevent the cloud breaking.

Mr. MacDonald sharply denied that government negotiations with the bankers for a loan differed in any way from the customary practice. There had been no attempt by the bankers to interfere with British policies, he declared.

TO BALANCE BUDGET

In the loan negotiations it had been made clear the government should:

(1) Take steps to secure a balanced budget.

(2) Put the unemployed finances in order.

"There is nothing different in these negotiations from those which precede floating a loan for a limited liability company," the Prime Minister said. "It was done just as a trade union does its banking business."

Mr. MacDonald was emphatic that all the banks had done was give expert advice. He appealed to the nation—

"Don't talk about it—go to the country now," interrupted a member from the Clyde.

Mr. MacDonald continued that he appealed to have the nation to support the National Government. For a time all might have to go with tightened belts. Burdens would have to be borne, but they would be equitable.

Italy Urges Nations Add No Defences Till Conference Date

Delegates at League Assembly in Geneva Hear Suggestion For Truce Till Disarmament Conference Decisions Made Next February

Canadian Press

Geneva, Sept. 8.—D. Grandi, Italian Foreign Minister, proposed at to-day's session in the League of Nations Assembly an immediate truce in the building of armaments to continue through the period of the disarmament conference to be held next February.

His proposal evoked no demonstration of enthusiasm among the delegates, but after he had finished speaking there was lively discussion of his suggestion in the lobbies. The German delegates particularly appeared to be well pleased.

Signor Grandi, reminding the Assembly the League Covenant was only twelve years old, urged the nations not to tinker with it too much until its real spirit should be more firmly implanted. Instead of creating more complicated machinery to supplement the covenant, he said, the nations should make some definite move to make the disarmament provisions of the covenant effective.

Man Is Killed On Cariboo Highway

Prince George, B.C., Sept. 8.—Robert Saul, a settler living near Decker Lake, was killed Sunday on the Cariboo Highway when an automobile he was riding in struck loose gravel and left the road.

Saul was on his way to Victoria, where he was to have been married. The driver of the car, Carl Holmgren, was to have acted as best man. Holmgren escaped with slight injuries.

secured a third prize. The other automobiles went to H. H. Klein, Vancouver (30434-3) and R. F. McGregor, Vancouver (34638-V). Cash prizes of $50 each were won by M. Lillback, Skookumchuck, B.C. (22578-U), F. E. Parker, 1920 Ranfley Street, Victoria (46230-Y); E. E. Hinsley 1125 Leonard Street, Victoria (23641-Y), F. Botsford, 710 Johnson Street, Victoria (2815-Y); G. Bowers, Vancouver (36763-V) and James Fitzgerald, Trail, B.C. (35441-U).

The following also received cash prizes:

Seller of winning ticket, J. Walters, Merritt, B.C.; seller of second ticket, A. A. Vigelius, Vancouver, B.C.; seller of third ticket, C. C. Lawrence, Victoria B.C. and seller of fourth ticket, R. Reid, Vancouver, B.C.; bonus for highest seller, J. M. Kirk, Victoria, B.C.; bonus for second highest seller, R. B. Baxter, Victoria, B.C.; bonus for third highest seller, W. Mitchell, Victoria, B.C., and bonus for fourth highest seller, A. A. Vigelius, Vancouver, B.C.

ALLOWED TO WITHDRAW HIS PLEA OF GUILTY

Chicago, Sept. 8.—United States District Judge James H. Wilkerson to-day granted the motion of "Scarface" Alphonse Capone, chief of Chicago gangsters, for leave to withdraw his plea of guilty to an indictment for conspiracy against the prohibition law.

was announced from the judges' stand that both Miss England II and Wood's Miss America IX had beaten the gun at the start by more than the permitted five seconds and were automatically disqualified from further competition. With only a single challenger in the race this would have ended the competition for Don, even had he escaped the mishap rounding the lower end of the course.

CROWD PLUNGED INTO WATER

To compete the series of mishaps that marred yesterday's races, a loading dock on the mainland side of the course collapsed at the start of the race and dropped about 100 spectators into the water. All were rescued except a three-year-old boy, who was reported missing.

This was the sixth occasion on which a foreign challenge against Wood's supremacy as competitive speed boat king was overtaken by misfortune.

The splendid showing made by Don in Sunday's heat had made him a long favorite to win the trophy.

Wood, however, had made some slight alterations in his big engine and had it wide open. He led the British boat across at the start by nearly five lengths. Moreover, he held the lead until the mishap occurred to the challenger. Wood was waved into the judges' stand and informed he had beaten the gun. His Miss America VIII, however, remained in the race and, although the running was unnecessary, finished the full thirty miles as an exhibition for the approximately 250,000 persons who watched the race.

RULED "NO MATCH"

The officials' decision was that it was "no match." Consequently, while Wood continues to hold the trophy his name will not be engraved on it as the 1931 winner.

Don did not learn of the race committee's action until two hours after he and his mechanics, Dick Garner and Roy Platford, had been removed from the Detroit River and taken to their apartments.

He discussed freely the accident that resulted in the sinking of the challenging boat.

HAS TWO SENSATIONS

"When we hit Gar's wash I don't know just how many times the boat turned over. I don't know whether it pitched forward and dived, or settled back and sank stern first," he said, "but I do remember two separate sensations. The first time I felt I was terribly far under water and that I was going farther down. I thought of my life jacket and said to myself: 'But I'll be coming up and up in a moment. I wonder whether I'm still in the boat.' That must have been when we first rolled over.

"The second time I went down, of course, must have been when the boat sank stern first. Again I felt myself going down, down, down, and I remember the thought passing through my mind that I'd soon be coming up, up, up.

BOAT SINKS FAST

"When my head broke through the water, there was the boat, fifty feet ahead of me. Her propeller still was turning. But it soon passed out of sight, as she was sinking fast."

Wood to-day admitted he had deliberately tricked Don into a premature start.

Although Wood in his more than a decade of Harmsworth Trophy defence never had beaten the starting gun before, he took his Miss America IX across the starting line more than nine seconds ahead of the gun, and Don, apparently fearful the United States defender might get too much of an advantage, streaked after him. The British boat was more than seven seconds ahead of the gun.

Prior to the race Wood had requested a forty-five-minute postponement to repair a newly discovered gasoline tank leak. This was refused by Don, who explained it would necessitate his taking his boat back to the boat well, emptying its oil tanks and reheating the lubricant.

"When they told me I couldn't have it," Wood said, "I made up my mind I would show Don a trick or two. We soldered up the spot hurriedly, but one of my mechanics was hauled out of the hull unconscious while doing so.

"I planned the start. I said I would be over the line first if I were a minute ahead of the gun and if Don wanted to follow me that was his business. Everything went off just as we had planned."

Don did not discuss the start. His United States manager, William Sturm, however, commented that "Gar Wood evidently knows lots of the tricks in the racing game."

Work of raising Miss England II, which sank in twenty feet of water, two miles from the premature start, was started this morning.

TRAIN SERVICE IN MOUNTAINS IS DISRUPTED

Revelstoke, Sept. 8.—Trees on mountain sides were uprooted, big rocks were rolled into valleys and the course of the Illecillewaet River was temporarily changed during the cloudburst and torrential rains of the past week-end. In forty hours the Columbia River rose nine feet.

Repair gangs were scattered over several miles of Canadian Pacific Railway trackage making repairs, especially in the five-mile Connaught Tunnel near Glacier, B.C., where severe damage was done by the changing of the course of the Illecillewaet River, which for a while carried torrents of water through the tunnel and damaged trackage.

Although the tunnel has been drained, the trackage repair work has not been completed.

MANY WASHOUTS

The cloudburst occurred at the west portal of Connaught Tunnel and carried tons of debris down the mountainside, completely covering the railway yards in Glacier. Damage to the engine house where fan machinery was operated was serious. Washout of railway track was excessive.

Heavy wrecking equipment and repair crews are working day and night at the bridge at Albert Canyon.

Equipment to the damaged areas has been rushed from both east and west and traffic has been rerouted over the Kettle Valley Railway lines.

Calgary, Sept. 8.—Thousands of holiday folk were caught in the heavy rain that struck the Rocky Mountains near Glacier, B.C., Saturday and continued Sunday. Eager to gain a week-end in the open and spend Labor Day in the picturesque Rockies, the pleasure-seekers had their outing spoiled by the cloudburst which forced rivers over their banks and made roads almost impassable.

Serious damage, it was indicated today, was caused at Glacier when debris from the mountainside was driven into the railway yards, striking the engine room. Great sections of trackage were ripped up between Golden, B.C., and Revelstoke. Total damage from the cloudburst is expected to reach many thousands of dollars.

KING OF SIAM VISITS NANAIMO AND QUALICUM

Will Inspect Logging Operations at Island Camp To-morrow

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Sept. 8.—Many Nanaimo citizens gathered at the entrance of the C.P.R. Wharf to witness the arrival of Their Majesties King Pradjadhipuk and Queen Rambai Barni with their entourage on Saturday. The royal party reached here at 6.45 o'clock on board H.M.C.S. Skeena from Vancouver. Police guarded the entrance to the wharves and no one was permitted on the wharf. There was no civic reception.

The King, Queen and heir-apparent entered a special car and left for Qualicum, escorted by motor police in advance and guarded in the rear by Inspector Parsons and another officer of the Victoria headquarters.

The crowd had only a fleeting glimpse of the royal visitors after waiting since 5 o'clock. Included in the party were H.H. Prince Chirasakiti, General His Excellency Chao-Phya Bijayeur, chief-de-camp; Admiral Mom Chao Thavara Chayant, Madame Thavara Chayant, lady-in-waiting, and Capt. the Hon. W. J. M. Watson-Armstrong, consul-general for Siam in Canada.

The itinerary had included sight-seeing of Vancouver Island, which was to have started Sunday with a trip up Jervis Inlet on the Skeena, but the trip was postponed, owing to the inclement weather and the party remained at Qualicum Beach for Sunday.

On Monday the royal visitors boarded the Skeena for a trip to Campbell River for some fishing and returned at 2 o'clock this morning, motoring back to Qualicum.

They will motor to the Campbell River Logging Camp to-morrow to watch the camp in operation and will return to Victoria on Thursday to embark on the Empress of Canada for the Orient.

An unsuccessful effort was made to have the King attend the local track meet here yesterday as His Majesty is greatly interested in sports and has done much to foster sports in his Kingdom of Siam.

"Long-Distance Calling, Sir"

That's why, when you do business over the long-distance telephone, you get a more concentrated hearing than you would from a personal interview. A long-distance call lends an air of urgent importance to the subject discussed.

IT'S EASY

Telephoning long-distance is easier than ever now. All-Canadian lines carry your voice quickly and directly to points in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Often you get your number while you hold the receiver.

Ask the Long-Distance Rate Clerk for rates and information . . . or the Commercial Engineer's Department for suggestions on how PLANNED use of the telephone will cut business costs.

JUDGE GILLIAM, SEATTLE, DIES WHILE MOTORING

Collapses at Wheel of Car; Served on Bench Twenty-six Years

Seattle, Sept. 8.—Stricken with a heart attack, Judge Mitchell Gilliam, member of the King County superior bench for more than a quarter of a century, died at the wheel of his automobile while returning to Seattle from an outing yesterday evening. The fatal attack occurred between Granite Falls and Everett.

Mrs. Gilliam and a family friend, Mrs. H. K. Owens, 735 Tenth Avenue North, were riding with Judge Gilliam at the time. With the assistance of passing motorists they sped with the stricken jurist to the Everett General Hospital, but he was dead when they arrived.

When the party was about half way between Granite Falls and Everett, Judge Gilliam suddenly slumped down in his seat without a sound. Mrs. Owen seized the steering wheel and quickly brought the automobile to a stop.

JUDGE FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS

Judge Gilliam was seventy-one, and had served on the King County bench for twenty-six years, having been the oldest member in point of service.

Judge J. T. Ronald, who, with Gilliam's passing, became dean of the Superior Court, himself in Seattle General Hospital, yesterday evening received the news of Judge Gilliam's death with great regret.

Judge Gilliam was born in The Dalles, Oregon, of pioneer stock. His father, W. P. Gilliam, was a well-known sheriff and Indian fighter.

In 1860, the year of Judge Gilliam's birth, the family moved to Walla Walla, Wash.

He was raised on a farm, and was educated in the public schools in Walla Walla, later attending Pacific University in Forest Grove, Ore.

He studied law under John B. Allen, who later became United States senator.

COMMUNISTS IN CANADA TOLD TO GO TO RUSSIA

Canadian Press

Regina, Sept. 8.— There is only one country for those who extol their support of Communism throughout Canada, and that country is Soviet Russia, Premier Anderson of Saskatchewan declared yesterday evening before members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in convention here.

These people, who in their efforts as "soap-box orators" endeavored to capture the support of the working class and "poison the minds of the unemployed," should move to the country they so ardently boast of, he said. They would not get very far in their efforts, Premier Anderson assured his listeners, and if they were not satisfied with Canadian social laws then they had better turn to Russia. The province of Saskatchewan was willing to aid them in their departure any time they were ready to leave, he said.

The talk of secession of western Canada had been greatly exaggerated, Dr. Anderson continued. Those in favor of it were not represented by any large numbers and much of it was only talk.

The Premier urged co-operation between eastern and western Canada, which, he said, would make all the greater the wonderful future that lay ahead of the Dominion.

Vice-chairman Of Free State Senate Dies in Dublin

He was London editor of The Freeman's Journal from 1912 to 1916 and then editor of the paper until it ceased publication.

FARM SCHEMES ARE DEBATED

Regina, Sept. 8.—Efforts to develop a national agricultural policy which would aid in solving difficulties confronting prairie farmers were being made at the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce here to-day. The problems of marketing were reviewed at great length and plans were discussed for standardization of all agricultural products.

Dr. G. I. Christie of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, John W. Dafoe of Winnipeg, and Dean A. M. Shaw of Saskatoon, all spoke on the subject, "What is a sound economic policy for agriculture?"

"Man Without Country" Goes Home At Last

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 8. — Peter Russell, "the man without a country," who has been shuttling back and forth across the Atlantic since last June, seems to have found a haven of refuge at last.

British and United States immigration authorities declined to permit him to enter either country while they debated his nationality. When he arrived here yesterday aboard the steamship Artigas, he learned he had been proved to be a Scotsman and was at liberty to go anywhere in Great Britain. He headed for Fife, where his home is.

FIVE FIRES SET AT DOUKHOBOR TOWNS IN B.C.

Nelson, B.C., Sept. 8.—Out of five separate fires set between 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday morning in the vicinity of Glade and Brilliant, one Doukhobor community bath house at Glade and a haystack in the same locality were the only pieces of property totally destroyed. The haystack was owned by A. Salikin. In addition to these two fires, attempts were made on two community villages near Brilliant. One situated at the junction of the Kootenay and Columbia Rivers, is that in which J. P. Shukin, second vice-president and general manager of the community, lives. Neither this village nor the one about a mile east of Brilliant were damaged to the extent of more than a few dollars. Each Doukhobor village is a single structure housing about 100 people. A second bath house was set on fire at Glade, but the combined efforts of persons living nearby saved the structure from destruction.

FOUR KILLED, ONE HURT IN PLANE CRASHES

Itasca, Ill., Sept. 8.—Two licensed pilots were killed yesterday when the airplane in which they were riding went into a spin and crashed from an altitude of several hundred feet on a baseball field. They were F. E. Mitchell of Chicago, who was piloting the plane, and George Wallis of Morton Grove, Ill.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 8.—Capt. George Converse of Somerset, Ky., U.S. army pilot stationed at Bowman Field, was fatally injured when his plane crashed near the field late yesterday. Private Arthur Jenks, Louisville, escaped uninjured.

Richfield, Utah, Sept. 8.—Joseph E. Elmore, twenty-one, Napa, Calif., was fatally injured and his pilot, Wilbur Stewart, thirty, also of Napa, is in a critical condition in a hospital here as a result of the crash of their plane in a pasture near here yesterday morning.

RIVER FLOODS IN YORKSHIRE

Canadian Press

York, Eng., Sept. 8.—The Derwent River in Yorkshire has risen at an alarming rate during the last four days. With families at Stamford Bridge having taken refuge in the upper stories of their homes, boats are being used for transport in the village streets. Hamlets around Malton have been completely isolated. A score of sheep belonging to a farmer at Byton were drowned by the floods.

Farther south, the river Don is rising ominously and Arksey Village, near Doncaster, is reached only by boat.

Tornado Damages Town in Maine

Palermo, Maine, Sept. 8.—A tornado here Sunday injured seven persons slightly and did considerable damage to property.

The wind storm damaged a house, destroyed a barn, carried a grist mill shed a short distance, ripped down telephone and electric light wires and uprooted many trees.

The storm, accompanied by rain and hail, blew the roof from a farm house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Russell and their five children. All seven were injured slightly.

Lowell Bayles Wins Thompson Trophy at Cleveland Airplane Meet

Cleveland, Sept. 8.—Lowell Bayles, speed sensation of the 1931 national air races, romped away in a field of eight racers yesterday to win the Thompson trophy with an average speed of 236.239 miles an hour.

Flashing around ten laps of a ten-mile course, the thirty-one-year-old flier, who hails from Springfield, Mass., was never headed in a thrilling climax to the ten-day air meet witnessed by 80,000 people.

His speed was nearly thirty-five miles an hour faster than last year's winner, the late Charles (Speed) Holman, whose revamped racer was flown into third place, next to J. R. Wedell of New Orleans, by Dale "Red" Jackson, St. Louis.

Bayles will receive $7,500; Wedell, who averaged 227.992 miles an hour, $4,500; and Jackson, who averaged 211.103 miles an hour, $3,000.

Major James H. Doolittle, St. Louis, was in second place when he dropped out of the seventh lap. He explained later that his motor was losing rapidly in revolutions per minute from an unknown cause and he landed to save burning it out.

WILL TRY FOR RECORD

Bayles, a short slim flier, weighs 120 pounds and stands 5 feet 7 inches. His hair was still unruffled when he stepped out of the cockpit of his victorious plane, a short and squatty Gee Bee monoplane, powered with a Wasp engine. Though the air races are over, he said he would make another try for a world's land plane speed record today or Wednesday over a three-kilometre course.

Miss Maude Irving Tait, also of Springfield, Mass., who flew another Gee Bee to win the women's free-for-all speed race, will attempt to better Miss Ruth Nichols's speed record for women.

NO FATALITIES

The meet was unmarred by fatalities, though four pilots became members of the caterpillar club by forced descents in parachutes.

POLICE FIRE AT FLEEING THIEVES

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—An exchange of shots over the tops of swaying box cars featured the pursuit of two men, believed to be auto thieves, by Special Constables S. F. Dickson of the Vancouver police, late Sunday evening. The chase began on Atlantic Street, alongside the C.N.R. freight yards, when Dickson saw the two men running away from a stolen car, and ended a few minutes later as the men burst through a throng of people in the Canadian National station and escaped in the confusion.

FOREST FIRES NEAR ATHENS

Athens, Sept. 8.—Athens has been surrounded for two days with the flames of forest fires twenty miles away. Fanned by a strong wind, the conflagration rages unabated.

President Alexander Zaimis has been forced to vacate the summer palace at Tatoi. The fire at one time menaced the palace, but the danger seems to have passed.

MEXICO INVITED TO JOIN LEAGUE

Geneva, Sept. 8.—Mexico was unanimously invited by the Assembly today to join the League of Nations after a number of delegates had delivered addresses of endorsement.

The League thus moved to rectify what some of its members termed a "lamentable error" in excluding Mexico from possible membership when the organization was formed twelve years ago.

A DEFINITE PROPOSAL

PREMIER BENNETT HAS ADVISED Dr. Tolmie that the Dominion government, in addition to direct federal undertakings and assistance toward provincial projects, will bear one-half of the cost of approved relief undertakings to be carried out by British Columbia municipalities, and will lend the other half—through the province—to enable cities and towns to proceed without delay with their part of the national programme to furnish work for the idle.

As security for the money the Dominion will advance to the province, the province will put up its treasury bills; and for such money as the federal government shall loan to the municipalities, through the province, the province will accept municipal bonds. It is suggested in connection with municipal undertakings that the province will propose a twenty-year sinking fund repayment plan for the refunding of provincial sums due to the federal government, the province in turn taking payment on serial bonds from the municipalities when these could be retired. In other words, the province becomes a sort of guarantor for sums loaned through it to the municipalities.

From many points of view this appears to be a satisfactory arrangement. It has advanced the whole situation; the municipalities now know where they stand and what they may expect as far as Ottawa is concerned. There are very few of them in British Columbia in a position to spend money for relief work of any importance. Their means of raising revenue is strictly limited, and any suggestion of further taxation of realty would bring an immediate protest from property owners, who already consider they are bearing altogether too heavy a burden. It may be assumed that now the provincial government knows what Ottawa is prepared to do for the relief of the municipalities, the province will be able to declare what it proposes to do in that direction. In some municipalities the entire cost of public works relief will have to be borne by the two governments. As far as Victoria is concerned, the expenditure of money at this time should be on such undertakings as will demand nearly one hundred per cent labor. In this regard the project of beautifying the city should receive immediate consideration and rank as the major operation within the corporate limits of Victoria. On this programme it should be possible to come to a definite arrangement with the provincial government, since it is not reasonable to regard this as purely a municipal undertaking. This the provincial authorities recognize; but so far they have not committed themselves to a contribution—at least not to a specific amount—toward the cost of the plan. In view of the latest proposal by the Dominion, however, the provincial ministry should soon be able to reach a definite decision on this important question.

The government at Ottawa has taken a considerable time to develop its programme, which should have been prepared six months ago. Nevertheless, Premier Bennett's message to the Tolmie government is very welcome, and as soon as full advantage of it shall have been taken, the general situation, in this province, at any rate, should gradually improve. The launching of provincial and municipal schemes of relief work not only will mean the provision of labor and a means of subsistence for idle workers; it will mean the circulation of a good deal of new money, with consequent benefit to merchants and business generally. But it should be recognized, incidentally, that the money advanced will eventually have to be paid back; hence, the spending of it should be governed by prudence. Never again perhaps will it be possible to get much needed work done as conveniently as it can be done under these unemployment relief schemes.

HOW TRADE HAS BEEN "STALLED"

IN AN ADDRESS BEFORE THE INSTITute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., the other day, Mr. H. E. Miles, chairman of the Fair Tariff League, declared that the high tariffs of the United States had stalled world trade and were responsible for the present unemployment and distress. By way of emphasis he said: "While we have solemnly said that an honest, protective rate measures only the difference in costs of production here and abroad, we have made the rates from two to five and fifty times greater than the differences in costs of production, and have brought about European hatred toward us."

Leading economists have been warning the great trading nations that as long as they persist in making the exchange of commodities increasingly difficult, the task of restoring the world's economic equilibrium will present many obstacles. These are the same economists who predicted a year or so ago that unless nations changed their tariff tactics, escape from an international financial crisis would be impossible. They were not taken seriously; they were told there was no justification for their pessimistic predictions. They might say "we told you so." However, they are in no mood for jubilation; all they ask is that the high tariff nations knock down their barriers to trade and give the world an opportunity to recuperate. True, their warning is beginning to have some effect. Even the high tariff advocates in the United States, the principal offender in the opinion of the authority we have quoted—and, of course, in the opinion of many others—are beginning to see the light and are tentatively suggesting that a moderate revision of their country's tariff schedules might be good policy. But prompt action is necessary.

In the light of what has transpired in recent months one of the most stupid fictions in international affairs is national economic self-sufficiency. The home industry is given as the reason for passing high tariff laws. But no account is taken of the effect such a policy must have upon the country which produces more of many commodities than its people can consume. Canada is a case in point. We increased our tariff on glass, for instance, for which we sent about $3,000,000 a year to Belgium. Belgium immediately retaliated by proposing an increase in the duty on Canadian wheat, immediately threatening the loss of a market worth about $14,000,000 to the prairie farmers. The duty on glass came off; so Belgium did not increase the duty on our wheat. But that is a fair example of the vicious circle in which the tariff works.

The world, as the economists have told us, will have to reduce its tariffs until they become practically extinct as far as they exist for boosting the profits of the producers. The nations then will produce what they can produce of the best and most. They are all specialists in one form or another. Neither excels in all departments. But the foundation of profitable international trade is buying and selling. Too many nations have been trying to do all the selling and little of the buying. It does not work out well.

A CHANCE TO BE GENEROUS

A PROMINENT MEMBER OF THE Chinese colony in Montreal says the surplus wheat in the elevators of Canada would save the lives of thousands of Chinese now starving in the areas flooded by the Yangtze River, and possibly be the means of furnishing a future outlet for Canadian wheat that would prove of great benefit to this country. We are told by the same authority that the Chinese are not likely to eat bread to any great extent, as it is a food absolutely foreign to them; but Canadian wheat could be used freely in the preparation of Chinese dishes, such as the making of dumplings and noodles. Its use for this purpose, he considers, would absorb millions of bushels annually.

It may be said that Canada has sufficient difficulties on her hands at the present time to occupy her undivided attention. But it should be borne in mind also that an opportunity is presenting itself in China for this country to put into practical form expressions of friendship and sympathy which marked the tour last winter of a delegation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce—and, at the same time, pave the way for the larger measure of business which Canada hopes at an early date to do with China. It is a proposal which the federal government might take into consideration.

BACK TO THE SOIL

CULTIVATE A GARDEN NEXT YEAR, or count yourself out of a job as far as my plants are concerned. Is this the ultimatum of a feudal lord? No; it is just Henry Ford telling his employees who have families what they must do. He undertakes to provide land for all who have none, and expert advice will be available for them.

No doubt Mr. Ford has reached the conclusion that in times of prosperity it is not necessary for an employer to trouble himself with the living problems of his employees. When depression comes, the scene changes. In Mr. Ford's case he is showing that he is interested in the home-efficiency, as well as the shop-efficiency, of his men. He is looking beyond the walls of his huge factories.

This novel decision of the automobile manufacturer may be taken as evidence that he believes there is something in working with the soil that develops a better appreciation of real values in life. He probably thinks employees need contact with nature as an antidote to human mechanization of factory life.

Planting radishes and lettuce may not be particularly romantic in an age of jazz and airplanes. But it is natural, healthy and wholesome; moreover, it is fundamental.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BOOTLEG CONVENTION
The Gloucester Daily Times

The bootleggers, it is said, are in convention in New York, making an effort to stabilize prices. One rum runner has cut his price from $3 to $2.50 a case for transporting liquor to shore from rum row.

What with income taxes and stabilization and all, but one thing more is needed. The bootleggers should hold their next convention in Chicago and be greeted by the official greeter of that noble and amusing metropolis.

"THE PRIME MINISTER ASKS TOO MUCH"
The Toronto Star.

The Prime Minister has asked that he be empowered to set aside the laws if need be in suppressing agitators who criticize our institutions, laws and customs. The serious thing about the course Mr. Bennett is taking in securing special powers for the suppression of agitators is that these powers are so easily abused. No sooner will these powers begin to be exercised than they will begin to be abused. They will be carried to excess. The man who criticizes conditions will be denounced and dealt with as an attacker of our institutions. Poverty and hunger are not sacred institutions in Canada which must be held in respect and not complained of; yet, the way things are shaping, men will be "suppressed" for talking of these things.

LIFE INSURANCE IN THE OLD COUNTRY
Canadian Insurance

Whilst the new business of the life companies in North America shows a drop this year of about 17 per cent, it is interesting to note that the new ordinary life business written in the Old Country is about 15 per cent above that of the same period of 1930. It is not the province of this paper to enter into political questions. But we think it will provide some useful ground of reflection to point out that the free trade countries, Holland, Denmark and England, are much more prosperous just now than the "protected" countries of the world. They are buying in the cheapest markets and consequently can sell at low prices and have a far better export business than the protected countries. Life insurance business in the Old Country is in a very fortunate position in another respect; the prices of securities in the Old Country have not dropped to anything like the same extent as in North America. We understand that the Old Country branches of the Canadian life companies therefore are doing well.

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND

To the Editor:—While Victoria is not suffering to the same extent as some other cities on the Pacific Coast, our committee has studied conditions of unemployed families here and finds that a great deal of distress and suffering will prevail this winter unless some funds are raised to look after those who are and will be badly in need of assistance.

The Victoria Citizens' Unemployment Relief Committee is making its last effort to raise funds to alleviate suffering among married men, single men who are unable to work owing to physical disability, married women with families without a bread-winner, and unemployed single women, all of whom will be up against it during the winter months even if they are successful in obtaining a few days' relief work from the city and government. Owing to the inclement weather no one can work more than three or four days a week, and with the low wage rate of $3 a day a family cannot provide for rent, fuel, light, water, clothing and footwear, etc. This fund is to assist such worthy cases.

The donors to this cause can be assured that not one dollar will be wasted or given to anyone who is not deserving. Any application for relief must go before the investigation committee, and is then passed on to the distribution committee. The finance committee will then pass the voucher for relief given. This will not be used as a dole. The committee will use the money for settlement of rent or buy the clothing for those in the city of Victoria requiring same.

PRICE OF SILVER

To the Editor:—Whatever may be the many contributory causes of the present world-wide trade depression, it is generally conceded, I think, that the scarcity of gold on the market and the low price of silver, very considerably influences present conditions, and in this field of activity British Columbia holds an important place.

In regard to silver, it is safe to say its next movement will be upward, for it is now as low as it can go. It would therefore be a safe investment for the general investing public to buy and store bulk silver till the price went up. If many investors began taking silver off the market, this would immediately send the price up, and when conditions became normal and the price of silver stabilized these investors could sell their silver bricks at a handsome profit.

In regard to gold, we have in British Columbia many lads between fifteen and twenty years of age whose names are on the unemployed list, they are part of the future generation, yet through poverty and idleness they are being forced to drift into ways of lawlessness and crime.

Instead of sending these lads to the common labor camps where they will learn and develop undesirable trends of character, may I suggest they be sent in bands and trained as gold prospectors.

Under the supervision of experienced gold diggers, if ten or twelve boys in a group were sent out and the government guaranteed them $25 a month, and encouraged them in every other way to become successful and ambitious in planning and discovering gold so as to far exceed the government's guarantee, this, to the country, would be worth far more than its weight in gold. It would develop these lads into a type of useful citizen with manly characters of self-reliance such as is needed to-day more than ever.

Besides, in their small way, each would be helping to restore prosperity by adding to the world's scant supply of the precious metal which is blamed for world depression.

Any scheme that will have the effect of increasing the supply of gold and raising the demand for silver is well worth encouragement these days, and if in addition, it would develop our boys into active and useful citizens no effort should be spared to set such schemes in motion.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
September 8, 1906
(From The Times Files)

According to information received to-day by H. J. S. Muskett, secretary to the Lieut.-Governor, the arrival of His Excellency Earl Grey and party in Vancouver will be delayed about twelve hours. Instead of reaching Vancouver on the morning of Wednesday, September 12, the special train with the Governor-General and his party will not arrive in that city until Wednesday evening.

* * *

Monday's meeting of the City Council promises to be of unusual interest as there are indications that the water problem will be considered with a view of reaching a definite decision immediately. As detailed in The Times yesterday there will be still two distinct schemes before the aldermen, one expressing the views of His Worship Mayor Morley and supporters, and the other those of the water committee.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, Sept. 8.—Carrying $250,000 in gold bullion and more than 1,000 reindeer carcasses, the steamship Arthur J. Baldwin was sailing out of Bering Sea yesterday, officers of the Lomen Reindeer Corporation here were informed.

The Baldwin, also carrying fifteen passengers and mail, sailed from Nome Saturday night, will call at Dutch Harbor for herring and at Akutan for halibut, and should reach Seattle on September 29.

One of the passengers is Carl Lomen, president of the corporation, which operates the Baldwin. His company will market the reindeer in the United States.

Germany's Hopes Hung In Balance In Recent Plot

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

BERLIN—Germany's highest hopes in its present crisis hung in the balance in the recent plot to assassinate Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Dr. Julius Curtius.

Loss of Bruening and Curtius would have been critical.

Both have believed in a German policy not only of fulfillment of treaty obligations, but of reconciliation with ancient enemies as well. Both are patriots. Men of simple tastes, Germany has pinned her hopes to them.

Bruening is forty-six. He was born in Westphalia, a religious Catholic and one of several co-religionists who have been chancellor. He is known as the queerest chancellor Germany ever had.

He is shy. Modest. Self-effacing. A bachelor, he leads an almost monastic life. His wants are few. He is found with governmental documents when he is working, and with books in his leisure hours.

STRIKES VIGOROUSLY

Meet him off duty and you would think you were being introduced to a serious-minded, kindly priest who for some reason was wearing civies. His face is smooth-shaven and the only lines in it are those carven there by the recent days and nights of stress and strain, during which he has been trying to save Germany, not only from financial crash, but from a dictatorship of the Hitlerites or the Communists.

A man whose voice and manner express gentleness, there is nevertheless considerable iron in him. When needs must, he strikes out vigorously in his speeches. When an emergency arises, he does not hesitate to promulgate decrees which in almost any other country would seem to savor of dictatorship. And one of the many queer things about him is that only a few years ago he was hardly known even in his own country.

MACHINE-GUN COMMAND

A university graduate, he sought to counteract the rapid growth of the Social Democratic party among German workers by organizing Catholic workmen within the framework of the Catholic Centre party. When the war came, the quiet scholar became commander of one of German's crack machine-gun detachments on the eastern front. Only six years ago he was sent as a deputy to the Reichstag. By 1929, without seeming effort and without being pushful, he was the leader of the Centre party. When the last government fell, Bruening was called upon to form the cabinet and did in short order.

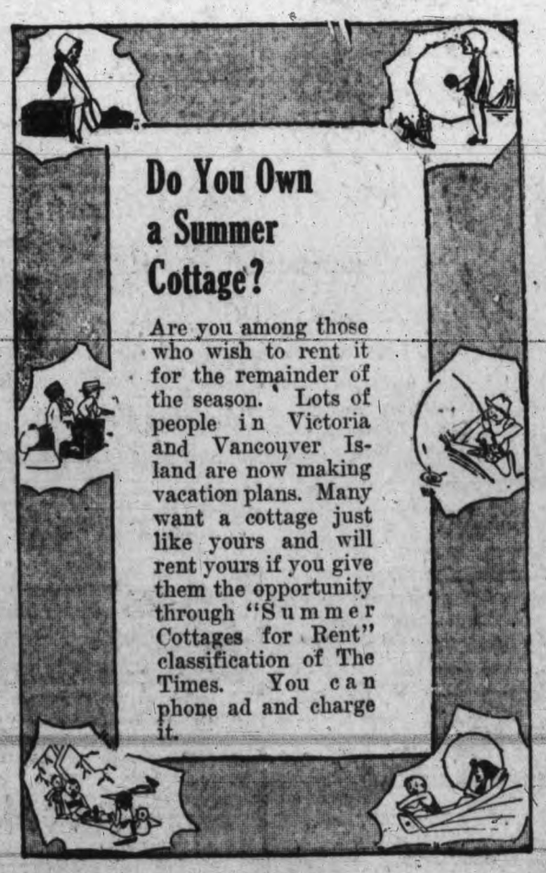
Chancellor Heinrich Bruening

He has had to face some of the most terrible days Germany has ever known—the Hitlerite sweep in the elections, the weed-like growth of the Communist party and the present financial tornado.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—Several ships, which have been laid up at Pacific Coast ports for some time, are soon to re-enter the service, or are already back on their runs, it was reported in local shipping circles yesterday.

Three inactive tankers of the Richfield Oil Company, the Pat Doheny, Agwiworld and Hugenot, have been fixed to carry petroleum cargoes to the east coast, while vessels that are already back in harness include the San Pedro and San Diego of the Quaker line, the Golden Mountain of the Oceanic and Oriental Steamship Company, and the tankers Tejon of the General Petroleum and Ohio of Cities Service.



Chamber of Commerce Chooses Halifax For Its Convention Next Year

Decision Made By Delegates Now Meeting in Regina; Dr. W. A. Lincoln of Calgary Tells of What He Saw in Soviet Russia

Canadian Press

Regina, Sept. 8.—The annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in 1932 will be held in Halifax. This was decided yesterday at the opening session of the four-day convention here.

It probably will be held in the early part of September, it was intimated, but no definite date was chosen.

The customary pre-convention tour probably will carry the delegates through the Maritimes to Prince Edward Island, and perhaps then to Newfoundland. The definite plans will be decided on later.

NEW BUREAU

It was decided to establish a foreign trade bureau as a department of the chamber with a section devoted to establishing trade with the Orient, Latin America and the West Indies.

ADDRESS ON SOVIET

Soviet headquarters in Russia are keeping close tab on Communistic activities in Canada, according to Dr. W. A. Lincoln of Calgary, who conveyed his impressions of Russia to members of the chamber yesterday.

Dr. Lincoln, who recently returned from a two months' trip to Russia, told of speaking to Soviet officials and examining charts revealing the stronger Cummunistic centres throughout the world. A map of Canada was dotted with red pins, and they were especially concentrated at Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary.

The Russians were being converted to a "religion" prepared from the teaching of Karl Marx and Lenin, the latter whose memory was exalted, asserted Dr. Lincoln. Every evening when the doors of the great Lenin stone tomb were opened for a short while, thousands thronged the district in hope of catching an inside glimpse before the doors are again closed.

Soldiers were the only ones observed by Dr. Lincoln in neat and decent clothing. There were soldiers everywhere, he said, and last year $578,000,000 was spent on arms.

He quoted one official as saying they fully expected they would have to fight against the rest of the world, and they were preparing for it.

A sharp eye was kept on Communistic activities throughout the rest of the world, and Canadian centres where disorders had occurred were watched with great interest.

PUBLICITY DESIRED

Hon. J. F. Bryant, Minister of Public Works and Telephones of Saskatchewan, appealed to the press to give wide publicity to the address delivered by Dr. Lincoln. He said that in view of the situation in eastern Saskatchewan, where paid "red" agitators were working among the miners, and in view of the publication by the former head of the Saskatchewan branch of the United Farmers of Canada of a book purporting to reveal conditions in Russia, he hoped the Canadian people would be given ample opportunity of reading Dr. Lincoln's impressions.

Conditions in southern Saskatchewan were far more serious than usually realized, declared Mr. Bryant, who has just returned from attempting to negotiate a settlement among the coal miners.

BRITISH M.P.'S RACE PIGEONS

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—One of the pleasant little pastimes with which M.P.'s beguil themselves between times is pigeon racing. This does not mean that they send off pigeons to race one another. They "race" pigeons against themselves. At week-ends during the summer, often in Palace Yard, Westminster, one may see a member carefully release pigeons from a basket, jump into a taxi, and hasten to a railway station, his endeavor being to reach his constituency before the pigeons. Sir William Edge, the member for the Bosworth Division of Leicester, is particularly fond of this form of pastime.

Pigeon racing is exceedingly popular in many northern towns, and large money prizes are offered for long flights.

THE HEROIC PIGEON

At the exhibition in commemoration of the Royal United Service Institution, designed to illustrate a hundred years of development in the army, the navy, and aviation, may be seen models and tableaux showing how conditions have changed.

From these human achievements one may turn to the embalmed body of a pigeon that died of wounds received in action near Menin in 1917. The bird was dispatched with a message to headquarters at 1.30 p.m. A bullet broke one of its legs, drove the message-carrier into its body, and passed out through it back. The gallant pigeon struggled home to its loft nine miles away, delivered its message at 10.55 the following morning, and died.

Frothblowers Of Merry Fame Quaff No More

London.—The Ancient Order of Frothblowers exists no longer, for after a merry life of seven years it has gone into voluntary liquidation. The organization has lost its moving spirits by death—Blower No. 0, Mr. "Bert" Temple, and Sir Alfred Fripp, the famous surgeon, who was Blower No. 1.

Sir Alfred died in February last year, and Mr. Temple died just twelve months later. There was no one left to step into their shoes at headquarters, and Miss Dorothy Roper, known to all Frothblowers as the Gentle Zephyr, played a lone part as secretary up to the end.

The order, founded in 1924, has raised more than £100,000 for children's charities. It won popular support in a remarkable degree, assuming proportions which its founders had never foreseen. Few people know the manner of its origin. Sir Alfred Fripp saved Mr. Temple's life with a major operation, and, out of gratitude, Mr. Temple decided to raise money for an East End charity which Sir Alfred conducted for waifs and strays. Hence the A.O.F.B.—although Blower No. 0 had been sentenced to teetotalism for the rest of his life. So much money was raised, however, that fifty hospital cots had been endowed with £500 each, and Boy Scouts and Girl Guides have helped as well as waifs and strays.

The Order became a national institution. It has been referred to by the Prince of Wales and discussed in the House of Commons. Soldiers left for China singing the Frothblowers' famous anthem, "The more we are together," and in almost any convivial company of Britons the command "Shoot your linen" was heard, an order to reveal the cuff links on which were inscribed the initials of the Order. The movement spread all over the world. It had members in 170 countries. There were nearly 40,000 in Africa and 800 in the Solomon Isles; there were vats at such far apart places as Tientsin, Patagonia, Nairobi, Jerusalem and Wiesbaden. One subscription of five shillings, however, constituted a Blower a life member, and new members have not been coming in large numbers for some time.

OUT FOR AERODROME

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—Air travel in England will be assisted by the proposal of Brighton, Hove and Worthing to make a joint effort to cater for the air visitor.

The Brighton council has approved the spending of £16,000, Brighton's share of the cost of a municipal airdrome, which it is proposed to establish at Shoreham. This decision must be ratified at the public meeting.

Similar amounts will have to be contributed by Hove and Worthing, the other towns which will share the airdrome. There is already at Shoreham an airdrome which is one of the largest in the country, and it is regarded as the ideal site for a joint airdrome. The £48,000 which it is suggested should be provided by the three councils will be spent on greatly extending the landing-ground, leveling the land, covering over ditches, building hangars, a clubhouse and a grandstand.

"The decision is a great and important step towards insuring the future prosperity of Brighton," declared Alderman Sir Herbert Carden. "We want to make the townspeople airminded, and everything will be done to encourage persons of all ages to take up flying. Brighton realizes that many visitors of the future will come by air from all over the world, and we do not wish to risk losing them by failing to provide a proper and fully equipped airdrome. Right from the start we shall encourage air visitors from the north of England and from the continent. Everything from the largest airliner to the smallest single-seater will be properly catered for and warmly welcomed. There will be, too, an air-taxi service."

The airdrome is close to a railway station, and there are two main roads nearby.

Oak Bay United Church W.A.—At its first meeting after the holidays the members of the Women's Auxiliary of Oak Bay United Church completed plans for the fall fair to be held in November, with Mrs. Gerry as general convener. Instead of the customary bazaar it has been decided to add many novel and entertaining features continuing until the evening. Arrangements were also made for the production by the members of the play, "The Secret Society of Oakville" on Friday, October 16. Rehearsals already held have shown the play to be interesting and amusing.

YOUR OVERWEIGHT

Keep Up Your Strength While You Burn Up Your Surplus Fat

You need not be too fat. You can have your nature-intended figure. This depends largely on the food you eat, perhaps most of all on your regular daily bread. You should make Ryvita Crispbread your daily bread.

Ryvita is not in any way a medicated or invalid food. It is simply a modern form of true daily bread. Ryvita is made of pure, crushed whole-grain rye, which is very rich in vitamins and the salts of lime, iron and phosphorus, upon which bodily well-being depends.

Ryvita feeds but does not fatten, and so decreases figure whilst increasing vigor. It keeps the body at the peak of fitness — nourishing bone, muscle and nerve—while by its natural "roughage" it prevents constipation (one of the causes of obesity) and allows the system to burn up the extra stores of surplus fat.

Ryvita stimulates and assists the entire group of digestive processes involved in the eating of food, assimilating of nourishment and eliminating of waste.

Constipation, malnutrition, obesity and other maladies consequent upon indigestion have become practically unknown in the thousands upon thousand of homes where Ryvita is now the regular daily bread.

Begin with a couple of slices of Ryvita with at least one meal each day—it is delicious broken into soup, hot or cold milk, or with butter and cheese, honey or marmalade. Ryvita entirely supersedes the old - time breakfast toast.

Ryvita is obtainable from all good grocers, large package 50c (40-50 slices) and smaller package 28c (20-25 slices).

LADY ASTOR IN RUSH FOR SEAT

First Member of Either Sex Made First Claim to Seat in Special Session

London, Sept. 8.—Lady Astor, first woman to sit in the British Parliament, to-day was the first member of either sex to stake a claim for a seat in the special session of the House of Commons.

She was among forty eager members who burst into the chamber when the doors opened at 8 o'clock and made a wild rush for places. She reached her chosen position an easy first and placed her white card on the seat at the end of the third row on the government side of the House, corresponding to the one she had occupied among the opposition during the session which closed in July.

As the hour of 8 o'clock approached a line of members who are not entitled, ex officio, to places in the front benches, formed a queue at the door of the chamber. When it was opened they rushed in and placed their cards where they wished to sit. This done, they were free until the formal opening at 2.45 this afternoon.

The first early bird was on hand at 11.30 last night, but he had to pass the night in the library, where many of his fellows joined him as the hours passed.

Hospital Convention.—Members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Jubilee Hospital are reminded of the B.C. Hospitals' Association Convention which will be held at the Empress Hotel, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. One session of particular interest to members is the round table conference relative to hospital auxiliary problems which will take place to-morrow at 11 a.m., to which they are especially invited to attend.

MRS. FORDHAM JOHNSON GUEST AT TEA TO-DAY

Government House Chatelaine Guest of Women's Canadian Club

In honor of Mrs. R. W. Fordham Johnson, the new chatelaine at Government House, the Women's Canadian Club held a largely-attended tea at the Empress Hotel this afternoon, which marked the first public appearance of Mrs. Johnson at a prominent social function in Victoria.

Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, president of the Women's Canadian Club received the guest of honor, who was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Helen Johnson, in the Elizabethan room, from where they proceeded to the ballroom, which was lavishly decorated in the club colors of blue and gold. An address of welcome was given by Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, expressing the appreciation of the members of the honor conferred upon the club by Mrs. Fordham Johnson, who had accepted the honorary presidency of the organization. In a gracious manner, Mrs. Johnson replied, voicing her pleasure in accepting the office. Little Miss Patsey Joan Scurrah presented Mrs. Johnson with a bouquet of Johanna Hill rose buds and maidenhair fern.

During the afternoon a delightful musical programme was rendered, with Miss Hazel Grace Mackay of Nebraska and Mrs. Arthur Dowell contributing

MRS. J. W. FORDHAM JOHNSON

The tea tables were arranged in the ballroom and the foyer. At the main table, lace mats were used on the polished top, and blue and gold flowers formed a centre piece, while tall blue tapers in silver candelabra further enhanced the artistic appointments of the table.

The invited guests at the main table included: Mrs. R. W. Fordham Johnson, Miss Helen Johnson, Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, Mrs. Herbert Anscomb, Mrs. George A. Bucklin, Mrs. R. P. Butchart, Mrs. Julian Piggott, Mrs. Hobart Molson, the past presidents, Mrs. Peter McNaughton, Mrs. J. F. C. Hyndman, Mrs. H. P. Hodges and Miss Agnew and the present executive, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, Mrs. C. C. Spofford, Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mrs. D. B. McConnan, Mrs. E. M. Brown, Mrs. Arthur Dowell, Mrs. W. Ellis, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. E. H. Mitchell, Mrs. Herbert Pendray, Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. F. E. Winslow, Miss Hazel Grace McKay, Miss Mary Bucklin and Miss Dorothy Morton.

PLAN DOMESTIC TRAINING FOR UNEMPLOYED

Calgary Committee Formulates Plan For School For Girls

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 8.—A domestic training school for unemployed girls will be established here shortly, according to a plan launched by the unemployed girls' committee. The announcement said the proposal has the support of government authorities, and financial aid from both provincial and federal relief coffers is anticipated to provide a building and equipment.

The committee pointed out that domestic service is almost the only field where girls can still find employment, but many of these who were formerly in stores, offices and factories are without knowledge of cooking and cannot give satisfactory service.

By providing a body of highly trained girls, the committee believes wide benefits will be realized both by higher earning capacity and in later life when the girls have homes of their own.

Members of Royal Party in Seattle

Seattle, Sept. 8.—While the King and Queen of Siam were enjoying themselves at Qualicum Beach on Vancouver Island, Seattle yesterday played host to four other members of the Siamese royal family.

Prince Svasti, who is the father of the queen and the uncle of the king, and Princess Svasti and their two sons, arrived Monday and spent the afternoon in seclusion in a hotel.

A miscellaneous shower was held on Friday evening at the Tom Thumb Tea Rooms in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seward, nee Kathleen Goucher. The Misses Beryl Piercy and Gladys Robinson were responsible for the decorated rooms and tables, gladioli, cosmos, dahlias and sweet peas being effectively used. The many beautiful gifts were concealed in a blue and gold boudoir box, the handiwork of Mrs. E. Shields and Mrs. L. B. Peatt. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. F. Pitt, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Peatt, Mr. and Mrs. E. Goucher, Mr. and Mrs. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Janson, Mr. and Mrs. P. Pitt, Mr. and Mrs. T. Seward, Mrs. G. Piercy, Mrs. A. Whitfield, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. A. Wale, Mrs. C. Carnegie, Mrs. E. Shields, Mrs. T. W. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hughes and family, who have been living at "The Spaniards," Island Highway, have left to reside in Victoria.

Glasses Relieve Strain

THE first and foremost function of glasses is to relieve eye-strain and correct faulty vision. By so doing they also relieve the strain on the brain. They permit clearer, keener thinking, surer, steadier nerves, more "even" dispositions, as well as overcome such secondary physical symptoms as headaches and stomach upsets. You will like glasses. By relieving strain they add measurably to your comfort and efficiency.

CANADIAN DAUGHTERS TO HOLD MEETING

Assembly No. 5, Canadian Daughters' League, held their regular business meeting in the Shrine Temple. A gift of $5 was received for the special benevolent work of the assembly. The members were asked to bring to the next meeting any suggestions they had to offer along educational lines in order that the educational committee may plan their winter's work. The membership has been divided into several groups, each in turn will have charge of the monthly social meetings during the year. Group No. 1, under the convenership of Mrs. T. Thomson, will be responsible for the first social evening to be held September 17.

W.C.T.U. Meeting—The Frances Willard W.C.T.U. will meet on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. T. Humphries, 2976 Quadra Street. A full attendance of members is requested.

To Remove Hair So It Won't Grow Back Coarse and Bristly

New Way So Many Women Are Asking About

A WAY has been found that experts say probably comes closer to solving the arm and leg hair problem for women than anything known before.

It resembles a beauty clay in appearance. You simply spread it on the surface where the hair is to be removed, let it remain a few moments and then rinse off with water.

That is all. Every sign of hair is gone completely. Quite different from the razor and old ways. No coarsened regrowth; no stubble.

You can obtain it now at any toilet goods counter for a few cents. The name is NEET—Cream Hair Remover. Women are flocking to its use.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By Marion Mason

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

THIS DEPARTMENT OFFERS FREE ADVICE AND LEAFLETS

Readers who have been reading this daily article about baby care and feeding may be interested to know how they may get advice from this department.

First of all I want to explain that this is not a medical department. I offer no advise on medical care. That is for your own doctor to give you. Sick babies or sick children need help and need it promptly. I beg you, therefore, not to waste time writing to this department to get medical aid.

HOW I CAN HELP

However, there are hundreds of ways in which I can be of help to you. There are the problems of baby's diet, the right kind of formula, the new foods to be added to the diet the first and second years. Likewise, there are training problems which arise in teaching and reteaching cleanly habits, how to teach the baby to use a spoon and cup, how to help mothers with the ever-present behavior problems which arise from the time baby is able to say, "Mama."

There is a vast field which has nothing whatever to do with illness, but involves the problems of every mother and every household where there are babies and children.

During my thirteen years in this work I have published hundreds of leaflets. These cover almost every problem that is likely to arise in a household. I try to give you, in this daily article, the modern principles of child care.

If your problem is an unusual one which a leaflet will not cover, I give it my personal attention and a personal reply.

But there is something you must do, too. In order to be of help, I must know something about the child, in fact I must know lots of things.

For instance, it is impossible for me to tell any mother why her child is not gaining unless I know how the child is being fed. Then I can see what is missing, and decide how the diet can be improved and the gain thus made possible.

TELL ME EVERYTHING

When you write to this department, keep in mind that I must have a short history of your child. I want to know the baby's weight at birth. I want to know the present weight. I want to know how many times each day the baby is being fed, exactly how you prepare the formula, and information about every other food the child gets. In addition, I like to know when the child gets his naps, when he is bathed, and when he is taken outdoors for his daily airing. All this gives me a picture of your baby that enables me to tell you what can be done to solve your problem.

This is just as important if it is a behavior problem. Children are often cross and unmanageable because they are badly fed, or do not have enough rest, or are kept indoors without healthful exercise. If you tell me all this and if, in addition, you send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope upon which you have written your name and full address, it is possible for me to give you either the leaflets that you need or the personal help you should have.

MANY SAIL ON NEW EMPRESS

Britain Hopes to Make New Record on Crossing From Quebec to Southampton

Quebec, Sept. 8.—In quest of still another record to tack on to her list, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain sailed from Quebec for Cherbourg and Southampton Saturday afternoon with a notable list of passengers aboard.

The mammoth ship expects to lower her own record on the present trip, and she was greeted with favorable weather for her departure, for a hot sun was beaming down, while the waters of the St. Lawrence were as smooth as a mill pond.

In addition to the party of British educationists, who have been touring the Dominion and who sailed for home on the Empress of Britain, there were hundreds of other passengers from all lands and climes on board.

Senator Raoul Dandurand also sailed on the Empress together with three of his grandchildren, the Misses Susanne and Jacqeuline Matthieu and Claire Beaubien, all of Montreal, bound for a rest and vacation in Paris and other European cities, while other prominent passengers included Mrs. Frank Carrel of Quebec; Dr. McKendy, M.C., of Montreal; Dr. J. L. and Mrs. Fraser, also of Montreal, together with Col and Mrs. G. H. Aikens and Miss Jeanne Aikens, of Winnipeg. Col. Aikens is the son of the late Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba, Sir James Aikens.

Successful Band Leader Was Aboard Ill-fated Steamer

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Led by Arthur William Delamont, the Kitsilano High School Band of Vancouver, left here yesterday by the Canadian National Railways for home, bearing many trophies, symbolical of its musical prowess. Collectively, the band won the juvenile band competition at the Canadian National Exhibition. A quartette of its members were victorious in their class, and Boy William Johnson bore off the prize in the cornet solo class under twenty years.

On its way to Vancouver the band plans to visit Winnipeg and Edmonton, as well as staying a day at Jasper Park lodge.

Apart from his successful career as a bandmaster, Mr. Delamont has passed through several thrilling experiences, one of which resulted in tragedy. He was one of the passengers on the Empress of Ireland when it was rammed by the Storstad and sunk in the St. Lawrence in 1914. With him were his wife and two brothers en route to the Salvation Army congress in London. Mr. and Mrs. Delamont were picked up after spending considerable time in the icy water. One brother was drowned and the other rescued shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Delamont.

The Delamont boys were all cornetists of no mean ability, and Walter, in addition to directing the Kitsilano band, is widely known as a professional cornetist throughout western Canada, particularly for his ability to produce a veritable cascade of notes in the shortest time and for his rich tone.

Will Be Tough Job to Select All-star Major League Ball Team

* * *

Philadelphia Athletics Intact Would Be First-class Selection

* * *

New and Deader Ball Is Reason for Hack Wilson's Downfall

WHO IS going to comprise the all-star major league baseball team for 1931? And if you choose to choose one, what consideration are you going to give batting averages, so different in the rival loops because of the difference in the baseballs used.

* * *

There's a nice little problem to keep anybody awake nights. Slug Bodie hits .321 in the National League where the ball is dead. Babe Bowman is batting .348 in the American where it still has a kick left in it. Both are star right fielders, dependable hitters in the clutches and greased lightning on the bases. You can roll and toss until the wee hours deciding whether Slug or the Babe is the man for the spot.

* * *

* * *

Just the same, the A's are a pretty good place to start. You won't make enemies selecting Grove, Earnshaw, Simmons and Cochrane. That accounts for pitching, catching and left field assignments. But with six open positions, where do you go next?

* * *

Terry of the New York Giants is a pretty fair first baseman and a great hitter. But so is Charley Grimm. And what about Gehrig, Morgan, Hendrick, Hurst and Foxx?

Ordinarily, you could write Gehringer, Frisch and Thompson on separate slips of paper and draw one out of a hat for your second baseman. But not this season. They have been out of the lineup too much. So has Critz. You can't consider Hornsby or Lazzeri this year. So that leaves only Melillo, Bishop, Cuccinello, Myer and Grantham. After all, maybe you'd better take Gehringer or Frisch.

* * *

Cronin for stortstop? Yes, but the Cronin of 1931 isn't slapping the ball like he was last season. And Jackson, English and Gelbert demand consideration.

Stripp happens to be the best hitting third sacker in either league. But he's not reckoned in the same fielding class with Whitney, Traynor, Bluege or Kamm. And not one of those fellows is denting any walls with basehits these days.

You've got Simmons for an outfielder, and that's something. You can have Babe Ruth, too, and he's something. The problem, then, is to select another gardener from Klein, Cuyler, Webb, Averill, Goslin, Chapman, Hafey and two or three others.

* * *

Gabby Street, the old Sarge of St. Louis, knows what's wrong with Hack Wilson this year. He says it is the new ball. Hack is still trying to drive 'em over the wall and the dead balls are dropping in the hands of the outfielders. Hack needs to adjust his swing to the new ball, declares Gabby.

Perhaps that goes for the whole Brooklyn club as well. Regarded as a serious pennant contender before the season opened, the Robins fell flat in hitting the new ball. And Uncle Robbie didn't get the pitching from Vance and Luque and Clark to balance this batting slump.

* * *

There will be rejoicing in the coal regions of Pennsylvania if Frank Navin does choose Steve O'Neill, former Cleveland backstop, as rumored, to manage the Detroit Tigers. Steve proved himself a capable pilot at Toronto, so he may come through on the Detroit job where Harris failed. The coal fields would welcome another big leaguer. The only thing they talk about is black diamond and baseball.

Hands Ed. McQuade 10 and 8 Beating In 36-hole Final

Uplands Club Star Cuts Loose With String of Pars in Afternoon Round to Snow Under Veteran Colwood Southpaw; Morrison Led 3 Up at End of First Eighteen; Both Players Have Trouble on First Round, Morrison Taking an 80 and McQuade an 85; Morrison Held Title Two Years Ago.

Cutting loose with a string of pars to win eight out of ten holes of the afternoon round, Bob Morrison, Uplands Club star, regained the city amateur golf championship at the Royal Colwood Golf Club yesterday, vanquishing Ed. McQuade, veteran Colwood southpaw, 10 and 8, in the thirty-six-hole final. After a poor morning round, Morrison came back strong in the afternoon, and for the ten holes played had an even 40, one over par. The match ended on the twenty-eighth green after Morrison had become dormie at the twenty-seventh.

In the morning both players were a little off their game, Morrison having an 80, made up of two 40's, while McQuade took 85 strokes to complete the eighteen holes, 43 on the first nine and one less coming home. For the first nine in the afternoon Morrison had a 36, one over par, while McQuade took 42.

ADVANTAGE OFF TEES

Morrison had a big advantage over McQuade off the tees, his drives being on an average of thirty to forty yards longer. On the majority of the holes McQuade would be forced to use a brassie for his second shots while Morrison could get the required distance with an iron. This gave the younger player a decided edge and many times he was on the green in two whereas McQuade had used up three strokes to reach the same distance. In the afternoon McQuade suffered a lapse in his putting and on three holes missed two foot putts that would have given him a half.

Both Morrison and McQuade had some good matches before gaining the final bracket. The former defeated J. H. Wilson 2 and 1, E. W. Ismay 2 and 1. Alex. Straith 4 and 3 and then turned back Brynjolfson, defending champion, 2 and 1. McQuade beat Jimmy Todd 2 and 1, Walter Newcombe 7 and 6, R. L. Challoner at the 20th and Walter Hall 2 and 1.

Following the final yesterday the prizes were presented to the champion and runner-up and winners of the various competitions by J. A. Sayward, president of the Royal Colwood Golf Club.

MORRISON 3 UP

At the end of the first nine holes Morrison had built up a lead of 3 up. At the tenth McQuade put his first tee shot out of bounds to lose the hole with a 5 to Morrison's 4 and became 4 down. Morrison's par 3 was good enough to win the eleventh, McQuade taking a disastrous 6, and Bob was 5 up. The twelfth was halved in 5's with McQuade winning the thirteenth when Morrison three putted. At the fourteenth Morrison caught the bunker to the left of the green and was forced to take a six and lose the hole, McQuade scoring a five after getting into a trap to the right of the fairway with his tee shot. The fifteenth was halved in par 3's with McQuade taking the sixteenth with a 5 after Morrison had pushed his second shot with an iron into the rough and then was faced with a stymie on his second putt. This left Morrison 2 up. The seventeenth was halved in par 4's with Morrison winning the eighteenth, when McQuade put his tee shot into a trap and was forced to take a 5.

The pair opened the afternoon round by halving the nineteenth in 5's, both missing easy putts for a win. At the twentieth both were on with their seconds, Morrison was down in four to become 4 up. At the twenty-first Morrison played a beautiful second shot to reach the edge of the green in two, while McQuade played his second safe and took another stroke to gain the carpet. Morrison chipped dead and sank his putt for a 4, mile McQuade needed two putts for a 5 to become 5 down. Missing a two-foot putt cost McQuade the short twenty-second, and Morrison was 6 up.

SINKS TWENTY-FIVE FOOTER

Both hooked their drives at the twenty-third, but Morrison played well out and reached the green in three, while McQuade needed four strokes. Morrison then proceeded to hole out a twenty-five foot put for a birdie 4, and take a seven-hole lead. Morrison's advantage in driving stood him in good stead at the twenty-fourth. He was on the green in two, twenty feet from the pin, while McQuade put his third six feet from the cup. Bob got down in two good putts and enjoyed a splendid lead of 8 up. McQuade won his only hole of the afternoon round at the twenty-fifth when he snared a par 3, while Morrison took a 4 after catching a trap to the right of the green with his tee shot.

A par 4 won Morrison the twenty-sixth, while another 4 gave him the twenty-seventh, putting him dormie at the three-quarter mark. McQuade had hard luck on the twenty-seventh. After getting into bad position from the tee he played his second into the trees below the green. Playing a high shot through the trees he put his ball fifteen feet from the cup. Morrison laid him a half stymie, but McQuade went after the putt and his ball hit the back of the cup and bounced out, and he lost the hole.

At the twenty-eighth McQuade landed his second shot into the rough to the left, struck a tree trying to get out, and was on the green in four, while Morrison was to the edge in two, chipped within five feet of the pin and sank his putt for a par 4, while McQuade took a 6 to lose the hole and the match.

TWO SOUTHERN TENNIS STARS UPSET THINGS

Berkeley Bell and Bryan Grant Defeat Allison and Brugnon in United States Meet

Fred. Perry and Geo. Hughes, British Pair, Advance With Easy Victories

Forest Hills, N.Y., Sept 8.—A couple of stubborn little guys from the south came along just before dark yesterday to toss a couple of monkey wrenches into the well-regulated machinery of the national tennis tournament at Forest Hills.

Berkeley Bell, the 130-pounder from Dallas, Texas, and Bryan Grant, the tireless little gamester from Atlanta, who weighs perhaps 120 pounds wringing wet, were the pair who lifted the second round out of its doldrums. Bell, who goes in for such things, provided the first upset of a seeded star by eliminating his old University of Texas teammate, Wilmer Allison, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Grant followed him ten minutes later with a hard-earned triumph over Jacques Brugnon, French Davis Cup veteran, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

Up to that time things had been running along too smoothly, if anything, the seeded players parading monotonously into the third round.

Johnny Doeg, the defending champion, had something of a brush before he subdued Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore, in five sets, but the others were able to take things in stride.

BRITISH PAIR WIN

Frederick J. Perry and George P. Hughes, Great Britain's representatives, had little difficulty advancing. Perry eased his way through to a 6-3, 6-2, 10-8 victory over Edward Targioli, New York, while Hughes had an even easier time in disposing of Ray Palmer Jr., Malba, N.Y., 6-1, 6-4, 6-0.

HACK WILSON IS SUSPENDED

Outfielder of Chicago Cubs Off Line-up For Remainder of Season

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Hack Wilson, idol of Cub baseball fans last season, when he hit fifty-six home runs for a new National League record, probably has played his last game with Chicago Cubs.

The brief statement:

"Wilson has been suspended for the remainder of the season without pay" by President William L. Voeck Sunday, just about makes it certain that the pudgy outfielder will continue his baseball career elsewhere.

The suspension was imposed at the request of Manager Rogers Hornsby because of incidents which occurred while the Cubs were losing six straight games in Cincinnati last week. It was said that Wilson disregarded training regulations in a big way, and that Hornsby decided he was done. "The Rajah" gave an indication of what was to come when he used Bud Teachout, left-handed pitcher, in the outfield during the series with the Reds, when Vince Barton, the Coast League recruit, was called to his home by illness in his family.

MALONE FINED

At the same time President Voeck announced that Pat Malone, one of the aces of the Cub pitching staff, had been plastered with a substantial fine for "disorderly conduct and roistering." Malone, however, was not suspended.

Owner William Wrigley last week expressed the wish that Wilson would be traded or sold because he has failed to earn his reported salary of $35,000 a year, and Sunday's action made it virtually certain that Wilson will move if there are any takers.

CARSTEEL WIN TITLE

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Carsteel of the National League won the Province of Quebec soccer championship when they defeated Ulster United of the Montreal League by 2 to 1 in a hard-fought game here yesterday.

Trainer Accepts $500 As Share Of Young's Winnings

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Shier Mendelshon's claim of 10 per cent of the $10,000-purse won by George Young in the fifteen-mile swim at the Canadian National Exhibition last week was settled amicably out of court to-day, with Young paying Mendelshon $500.

JOKERS DROP INITIAL GAME IN PLAY-OFFS

Locals Garner More Hits, But Are Held in Check; Play Here Saturday

New Westminster, Sept. 8.—Sapperton Chiselers downed Victoria 9 to 6 at Sapperton Park yesterday afternoon to win the first of the three-game series for the B.C. senior softball championship.

Chiselers took the lead in the first inning and were never headed, although Jokers tied it at 3 to 3 in the second. Four runs in the third put the Sapperton boys well on the way to victory.

The second game of the series will be played Saturday in Victoria.

Six costly errors in the Victoria boys' game were largely responsible for the defeat. Although they garnered eleven hits against Sapperton's ten, the New Westminster players did not let a bobble creep into their play and were able to hold the visitors.

Carmichael hit a home run for Victoria. Wagland, Jones, Carmichael and Wood all hit doubles.

Baldwin, Chiselers pitcher, had a slight edge on Jones, striking out three and allowing only two bases on balls. Jones whiffed two and gave two free tickets.

Short score follows:

TOWNSEND IN SECOND ROUND KNOCKOUT WIN

Vancouver Welterweight Puts Sammy Aguirre, Los Angeles, Away Early

Right to the Chin Ends Bout; Jack Johnson Gives Exhibition at Vancouver

Vancouver, Sept. 8. — Billy Townsend, Vancouver welterweight, knocked out Sammy Aguirre, Los Angeles, in the second round of a ten-round main event on the boxing card here yesterday evening. Townsend weighed 146, Aguirre 142.

The Vancouver boy polished off his opponent after one minute and forty seconds of mixing in the second round, with a right to the chin. Aguirre went down, attempted to rise before the count was up, but fell back to the floor and had to be carried to his corner.

Townsend started out to get his man from the bell in the first round. Aguirre was fast and shifty but Townsend cornered him repeatedly and whipped in hard lefts and rights.

TOWNSEND STAGGERS

Just before the bell ending the first round, the Los Angeles battler caught Townsend off balance with a blow to the head and Billy staggered slightly. In the second canto Billy took all Aguirre had but it didn't faze him. Driving his man to his corner, Billy caught him on the jaw with his dynamite right and the southerner went down for the count.

In the semi-final Allan Foston decisioned Phil Trudeau, Winnipeg, in a fast six-round event. Trudeau put up a stiff battle and appeared the faster of the two, but Foston was too rugged and packed the heavier punch.

Both weighed 122.

Billy Shaw, Vancouver, scored a technical knockout over Dick Gordon, Bellingham, in the third round of a four-rounder.

Jack Johnson, one-time world's heavyweight boxing champion, sparred three exhibition rounds with Ernie Bickerton, Vancouver heavyweight.

Excelsiors Crush Salmonbellies In Opening Game 8-4

Eastern Lacrosse Champions Turn Back New Westminster in First Game of Best Two Out of Three Series for Canadian Championship; Brampton Proves Far Better Team; Penalties Prove Costly to Home Club; Brampton Takes Early Lead and Never Headed; Second Game To-morrow.

New Westminster, Sept. 8.—Jumping off the train only a few hours before Brampton lacrosse squad, holders of the Mann Cup, proceeded to hand out a neat 8 to 4 lacing to New Westminster's best in the first clash of two out of three games for the Canadian championship at the historic Queen's Park yesterday afternoon before 5,000 people.

The Easterners were well worth their four-goal margin. They jumped in front in the opening period to take a lead of 3 to 1 and they were never headed afterwards. The visitors had the edge 5 to 2 at halftime and 6 to 3 at the finish of the third quarter.

It was steady, systematic lacrosse that won for the Brampton boys. They showed a strong defence in which Large in goal put up a sound game and was well supported by Stew Beatty and Jim Burton, two rangy players who blocked well, checked strongly and handed out the body when necessary. They were chiefly responsible for the inability of the Salmonbellies to get inside for shots at the net.

BRAMPTON NOT FLASHY

It wasn't the kind of a game that gave the fans many thrills, Brampton are not a flashy team. They are well balanced, knew what it is all about and took advantage of the openings when presented. There were few outstanding players on the line-up of the visitors. Oddie Core, a slippery customer at outside home and Bucko McDonald, another youth who bores in hard and shoots well, were the pick of a very tricky attack.

Salmonbellies seemed to be off their game. Not at any time during the fray could they be considered to be in the fight. Only in the third period did the home crew have an edge in the play when they pressed hard but were met by a stout defence that never wavered. Penalties played a big part in the poor showing of the Royals. They were shorthanded for most of the game, Johnny Vernon spending twenty minutes in the penalty box.

New Westminster players suffered forty-five minutes on the fence against five by the Excelsiors. McDonald was the only visitor to get a penalty. Vernon drew a ten minute penalty and Mackie also got a rest for ten minutes in the closing period when he deliberately slashed O'Hearn over the head.

Bucko McDonald, smooth working inside home of the Excelsiors, went around Grauer for the first tally. Some speedy play by Feeney and Stoddart resulted in the latter working in close to beat Large with a fast bouncing shot which tied it up. The Royals were short handed at the time.

Core took advantage of the defence and fielders backing up to let loose a low shot which Brown never saw and the score was 2 to 1 for Brampton. McDonald uncorked a pretty backhand shot on a fast pass from Jennings to make the score 3 to 1 for the visitors at the end of the first period.

FANS KEYED UP

When Feeney grabbed a pass from Bob Mackie and scored from close range to make the count 3 to 2 the fans got keyed up and looked for a New Westminster uprising. But Oddie Core beat Brown with an easy shot to give the visitors the edge again. Anthony was left unguarded and took a pass from Core and scored from a few feet out to make the score read 5 to 3 for Brampton at halftime.

Stapleton ran the length of the field and took a pass from Burton to score after walking around big Rudy Grauer for another Bampton tally early in the third stanza. Douglas gave Feeney a pass from behind the goal and the local star made good on a pretty shot to leave the score 6 to 3 at the end of the period.

The visitors rushed in two fast goals by Jennings and Core to cinch the game in the last period. Salmonbellies fought back hard but were shorthanded most of the time. Vernon got the last tally.

The next game is set for New Westminster to-morrow afternoon.

D.F.A. in Annual Session at Regina

Regina, Sask., Sept. 8.—Concentrating upon clearing away all the minor details in connection with the parley rather than tackling any of the major problems which will come before them, delegates attending the annual convention of the Dominion Football Association here met in committees yesterday evening to prepare for the long sessions opening to-day.

Junior Football

A meeting of the Junior Football League will be held to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. Entries for the season will close, and all teams are requested to have delegates present.

The juniors are still seeking referees for their games this season, and anybody willing to act is requested to communicate with Fred Oliver, the league secretary.

Shorty Cantlon Takes 100-Mile Automobile Race

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 8.—Shorty Cantlon, Detroit, won the 100-mile Labor Day automobile race yesterday, going into the lead on the eightieth mile when Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, made a tire change. Cummings finished second, with Chet Miller, Detroit, third, and Jimmy Gleason, fourth.

10,000 WATCH DEMPSEY CLOWN ON RENO CARD

Former Heavyweight Champ Batters Three Large Fellows Into Submission

Red Tingley, Seattle, Gets Big Hand For Staying Two Rounds; $15,000 Gate

Reno, Nev., Sept. 8.—Ten thousand fans yesterday watched Jack Dempsey clown through five rounds with three large but not overly willing heavyweights, knock out one of them in less than a round and carry the others along for two rounds each. Sammy Baker, Douglas, Ariz., was knocked out in one minute and twenty-five seconds.

The old Manassa Mauler toyed with Cowboy Eddy Burns, Davenport, Iowa, for two rounds, knocked out Sammy Baker, Douglas, Ariz., in one minute and twenty-five seconds, and then trounced Red Tingley, Seattle, off the canvas no less than six times in their two-round set-to.

Burns was the only one of the three to make even a semblance of a showing against the former heavyweight champion, who was fighting with sixteen-ounce gloves.

BURNS DRAWS BLOOD

Burns drew a fleck of blood to Dempsey's mouth in the first round and landed several respectable lefts, but Jack always had the situation well in hand.

Baker tried to keep out of range while he was in the ring, but Dempsey finally caught up with him and landed a left to the ribs that floored the 207-pounder for the count. Baker seemed paralyzed by the blow, and had to be helped to his corner and then to the dressing room.

Red Tingley didn't fare so badly at the outset, but as soon as Dempsey found the range the Seattle youth began hitting the canvas. Each time Demsey helped him up, mauled him around a bit and then floored him again with either a right or left.

TINGLEY GETS HAND

The promoters estimated the crowd of 10,000 paid approximately $15,000 to see the bouts.

RENFREW RINK WINS BOWLING

Takes First Honors From All Players in Big Labor Day Tourney at Beacon Hill

About fifty players, including women, took part in the Labor Day matches on the greens of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club at Beacon Hill Park. First prize was won by T. Renfrew's rink with a score of 29 to 12 against its opponent.

The season's games are drawing to a close. The final for the Little Cup is to be played between rinks skipped by J. Munro and T. Renfrew. The winners of the evening's doubles were H. M. Wright and J. A. Macdonald who defeated A. McKeachie and J. Aikins. Afternoon doubles were won by Phillipps and Dowswell in the final against Collinge and Dorrell.

A semi-final for the Whitney Cup of the Greater Victoria contests is scheduled for this evening on the Beacon Hill greens between two rinks of the Victoria Club and two of the C.P.R.

Port o' Play Wins Polo Park Feature

Winnipeg, Sept. 8. — Before more than 12,000 spectators at Polo Park yesterday, Jockey N. Richardson rode Port o' Play to win the feature Polo Park Handicap over the mile and seventy yards route, Dr. Wilson and Modern Times headed out the rest of the eleven-horse field of three-year-olds and up, seeking the $2,500 purse.

Jockey Craigmyle Pilots Dolan Home In Feature Event

Major Austin Taylor's Entry Scores Easy Victory in Labor Day Handicap at Colwood Track; Large Holiday Crowd Attends Opening Day at Mile Track; Dona Rock Captures Sixth and Pays $31.50 as Day's Longest Price; Favorites Capture Five of Seven Races.

Major Austin Taylor's Dolan, despite top impost, galloped home an easy winner in the Labor Day Handicap, feature of the holiday race card at Colwood Park yesterday afternoon. Craigmyle rode the winner, which was favorite in the betting, and paid off at $4.80 straight. Purity Shot, owned by H. M. Fullerton, staged a strong finish, to take the place from Leo Bancroft's Mount Elgon.

After the week-end rain the track suited Dolan, who is a notorious mudder, perfectly. Craigmyle took him in behind the pace and then came around the leaders in the stretch to win easily. The race was at one mile and one-sixteenth.

One of the largest crowds ever seen at Colwood track enjoyed the Labor Day races and from the way the favorites came down most of the bettors went home happy. Betting was done on the pari-mutuel system without totalizator machines.

GOOD PRICES

While the public choices copped in the majority of events there were a couple of long prices to encourage the punters. The sixth provided the biggest upset with the favorite, Big Joke, out of the money. Dona Rock returned $31.50 straight and $58.60 across the board by winning, and the Falconer, in second slot, paid $21.75 to place.

The other outsider which got down first was Blue Middy in the third, paying $17.00 straight. Dr. J. B. Clark's Silk Train was second, rewarding her backers with $17.70 to place and $9.40 show.

General Sutton's Jim Rogan, the first choice in the betting, broke slowly in the first, leaving the way open for Lord Goldstream, second choice, to get down easily for his third straight victory. Gilmarkee, an outsider, took a large lead after the field left the barrier but was overhauled in the stretch and finished second. Georgina, a longshot, was third, paying $11.25 show.

Hank Mills, leading rider of the season, brought down his only winner of the day, when he galloped home with the Brown Bank, odds-on choice for the second. Missive, with Marshall up, set the pace and finished second, and May Upset was third.

Out of a twelve-horse field over five and one-half furlongs Blue Middy and flashed to the front in the third and won easily. Silk Train and Lovecharm finished strongly in the stretch to take the place and show.

Slipper to Slipper proved the class of an eleven-horse field in the fourth and had little trouble keeping away from Welty in the stretch, winning by herself. Ko Ko surprised by taking the show position, paying off at $9.10.

OUTSIDERS IN

When Dona Rock came charging through as the field neared the wire she sprung the big upset of the day. The Falconer and Billie Wisp set all the early pace in this event, and although they could not hold off the winner had enough left to get the place and show.

Millerick Bros.' Omrah outclassed the field in the final event over the mile and sixteenth route. He went to the top when ready on the last turn, wrestling the lead from the pace-making Kingsman and was much the best. Flashy came with a strong end rush for the place and Kingsman lasted for the show.

Johnny Craigmyle and Henson split the riding honors for the day. Craigmyle rode Lord Goldstream and Dolan, while Henson had a leg up on the last two winners, Dona Rock and Omrah. Henson also got a second with Silk Train and a third with May Upset. Mills, Fredericks and Gerard rode the other winners and Mills also had a couple of seconds.

First race—Six furlongs; purse, $300: 1, Lord Goldstream (108, Craigmyle) $5.15, $3.15, $2.90; 2, Gilmarkee (105, Mills) $5.00, $2.50; 3, Georgina (100, James) $11.25. Time 1.20. Also ran: Tully, Joe's Pearl, Irish Whittier, Jim Rogan and Belle Somers.

Sixth race—One mile and seventy yards; purse, $300: 1, Dona Rock (108 Henson) $31.50, $19.95, $7.15; 2, The Falconer (113, Palaez) $21.75, $7.45; 3, Billie Wisp (113, Robertson) $3.50. Time 1.57 4-5. Also ran: Big Joke, Hec, Cas Welch, John Franklin and Queen of Prosser.

Seventh race—One mile and one-sixteenth: 1, Omrah (Henson) $4.15, $3.60, $3.20; 2, Flashy (Mills) $4.60, $3.25; 3, Kingsman (Gerrard) $3.45. Time 1.57. Also ran: Muriel H., Culiacan, Nelda W, and Meta Frances.

GOOD RACES PROVIDED BY LOCAL CREWS

Jimmy Mann's Crew Wins The Times Cup; MacLachlan's Boys Take Flumerfelt Cup

The winning of The Times Cup and the Flumerfelt Cup by crews stroked by Jimmy Mann and Andy MacLachlan respectively, were features of yesterday's regatta at The Gorge under the auspices of the J.B.A.A. when the rowing season was officially brought to a close.

There were five events on the card and a fair gallery was present to cheer on the various crews and applaud well-earned victories. Most of the events were fairly close until after the half-mile mark, when the winning crews steadily forged to the lead.

In the novice fours for The Times Cup, Bill Dillabough, stroke; Phil Vaucher, 3; Mervyn Caverhill, 2; Dick George, bow and Ernie Code, cox, gave Jimmy Mann, stroke; J. Middleton, 3; A. Mann, 2; W. Duncalfe, bow, and Vic Rollins, cox, a close run for the trophy. Until within forty feet of the finishing line Dillabough's crew was ahead. Mann's crew came rapidly to the front and won by about three feet. All the way up the course the two boats kept almost the positions they had when they left the starting line. Both crews rowed well.

WIN BY A LENGTH

The Flumerfelt Cup was won by MacLachlan's boat by about one length. This trophy is one of the oldest with the club and much good natured rivalry runs between the crews for its possession. In the winning boat with MacLachlan were Art Osman, 3; Leonard Backler, 2, and Jack Dunn. Rex Askey stroked the competing crew, and with him were Art Speed, 3; Brian Tobin, 2, and Art Eagle, bow. Both crews kept fairly well even throughout the course, the winning crew not getting ahead until well after the half-way mark was reached. The course was approximately one mile.

In the 140-pound fours, Jack Crane stroked his crew home to victory, winning by about three lengths. This was the easiest win of the day. With Crane were Andy MacLachlan, 3; Phil Vaucher, 2; Bob Wratten, bow, and Vic Rollins, cox. The other crew was composed of Frank Cole, stroke; Art Jones, 3; Gordon Scott, 2; Bill Stancil, bow and Ernie Code, cox.

In the doubles, the Mann brothers won the two events. In the first event they raced against Dick George and Jack Dunn, getting the lead about the half-way mark and maintaining it until the finish line was crossed, George and Dunn, over the first half of the course, gave the flashy brothers some stiff competition.

A KEEN FINISH

By their first victory the Mann brothers won the right to meet Bill Dillabough and Hughie Francis. Right until the end it looked as if the first decision was to be reversed. Dillabough and Francis were ahead until within thirty feet of the finishing line. Then the Mann brothers forged ahead, Dillabough and Francis fouled, and the race was given to the brothers. This event was undoubtedly the most exciting on the programme, and for some moments the judges were undecided as to which crew won the race.

Famous Scottish Goalkeeper Dies

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 8.—Kicked in the head during the soccer match between Celtic and Rangers Saturday at Ibrox Park, John Thompson, Scottish international goalkeeper, died in the Victoria Infirmary during the night. He suffered a fractured skull and though he was operated on the doctors were not able to save his life.

WRESTLING CLASSES

Wrestling classes will be resumed at the Tillicum gymnasium to-morrow evening with the junior classes starting at 7.30 o'clock, and the senior group an hour later.

Calgary Athlete Star of Canadian Meet

George Sutherland Takes Two Firsts And Three Seconds

Giant Who Tosses Javelins, Shots and Hammers in His Barn-yard For Practice, Gives Brilliant Performance at Canadian Championships at Winnipeg; Hamilton Team Captures Ten First Places; Seventeen-year-old Bert Pearson Wins 100-yard Dash; Poor Conditions Ruin Chances of Records.

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Sept. 8. — One of the youngest teams Hamilton Olympic Club has ever sent into a major meet yesterday ploughed through inch-deep dirt at Polo Park here and won most of the glory there was to be gained in the annual Canadian track and field championships. They garnered ten first places without breaking a record, which is probably a record in itself.

Against the schoolboy-veteran combination Capt. J. R. Cornelius sent into action, hopefuls from six provinces failed dismally for the most part. Polo Park's dirt track, soft, lumpy and deep, took a tremendous toll from finely-trained legs, a blazing sun made the toil a little tougher and a brisk breeze blew straight up the track. Dominion records were safely out of reach.

Three Hamilton High School trackmen won their first national championships, seventeen-year-old Bert Pearson winning the 100-yard dash, Fred Shaver the half-mile and Ollie Holland the broad jump. Shaver, another seventeen-year-old, ran the 880 in two minutes flat, sensational time for the heavy track, which so wore down the defending title-holder, Percy Pickard, Hamilton, that he failed to place.

CRACK FIELDS WILT

Crack fields that jumped away with the starter's gun in almost every race, wilted to a man before the finish. Nine of the country's outstanding distance men started the six-mile run and two completed the grind, the veteran Harold Webster, Hamilton, leading the way by three-quarters of a mile after such stars as Billy Reynolds, Galt, Ont., Hartington Anderson, Calgary, and Billy Kibblewhite, Winnipeg, had quit. Ole Lofendale, Winnipeg, was the other finisher.

Fighting to retain his mile title, won last year at Toronto, Eddie King, Hamilton, staggered into the tape ten yards ahead of the western intercollegiate champion, Harold McMahon, University of Saskatchewan, and passed out. Most of the field failed to complete the distance.

Jimmy Ball, Winnipeg's great quarter-miler, refused to run in his specialty over the horserace course.

But the meet produced champions of merit, whether they neared records or not, and gave giant George Sutherland, Calgary's one-man field team, a chance to flash his weight-throwing prowess in titled company. Big George, blonde and good-natured, became one of three double-winners and came within an ace of taking a third first place. As it was he annexed three second places.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMER

Individually Sutherland, who farms near Calgary and tosses javelins, sixteen-pound shots and hammers in his barnyard for practice, was the meet's outstanding performer. His point-total would be nineteen if aggregate points were officially recorded. Sutherland won the javelin and hammer throw and took second in the shot put, discus and running hop, step and jump. He lost the latter to Jack Portland, Collingwood, Ont., schoolboy, by three-eighths of an inch.

Portland, Ontario's high jumping sensation, won his specialty at five feet, eleven and one-quarter inches and scored his second victory a few minutes later. Abe Zvonkin, Hamilton's burly, red-headed weight man, joined Sutherland and Portland in the select class of double winners by taking the discus throw and shot put. He was second to Sutherland in the javelin.

Fred Sargeant, Galt, scored a smashing triumph in the three-mile, easily downing a good field by twenty-five yards. Fred Franklin and Billy Kibblewhite, both hometowners, were second and third. Sargeant's time was 15 minutes, 59 2-5 seconds. Webster's six-mile was just as impressive, but made easier for him when seven of his eight opponents dropped out before the half-way mark.

For half the distance Hartington Anderson, smooth-striding Dane from the Calgary Altomah Club, kept pace with Webster. Anderson, who has won most of the important distance races in the west since he came to Canada recently, and was only seventy-five yards back of Webster when he called it a day. His legs had gone dead, unable to continue along the weary way. Billy Reynolds had quit at the two-mile post and only Ole Lofendale tottered to the bitter end back of the steel-legged Webster.

NEGRO WINS JUMP

Ollie Holland, Hamilton's colored-boy jumper, won the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 7 3-4 inches and the Cornelius-coached relay teams conquered Winnipeg squads in both the 440 and mile relays. They were given a good battle in the longer four-man race, Winnipeg North End Athletic Club's team holding the Hamilton runners until the last lap when Fred Shaver ran away from Walter Hay, Winnipeg anchor man, to win by six yards.

Instead of battling it out in the 120-yard hurdles, Art Ravensdale and Tom Coulter, the only experienced timber-tobbers present, split the two hurdling titles. Ravensdale captured the sprint and Coulter, running for Montreal A.A.A., took the quarter-mile low hurdles.

Easily superior in his specialty, Bob Stoddart, Goderich High School, won the pole vault at 12 feet 5 1-2 inches. His only opponent, Dave Almas, Hamilton, failed at 11 feet 6 inches.

Of all the famed schoolboy sprinters in Hamilton, Pearson's victory in the 100-yard final was decisive and as impressive as it could be on a slow track. He defeated a clubmate, Bill Robinson, by a yard, with George Powell, Toronto, and Ralph Adams, Hamilton, tied for third. The fair-haired youngster jumped his field in the first ten yards and never was headed. Robinson raced at his heels over the full distance but Adams, a heavy favorite, had to come from behind to get even with Powell. Pearson's time was 10 2-5 seconds.

In a runoff for third place, Adams and Powell ran another dead heat and both were awarded medals by the Scottish Athletic Association, sponsors of the championships.

ADAMS WINS 220

Adams came into his own in the 220-yard dash, beating a sprint division that did not include Pearson. He turned on a burst of speed over the last half of the furlong that left Powell three feet behind. Powell was a good second, only a foot in front of

FAST ONE ON THE REFEREE

Bert Large, the sensational goaltender of the Toronto Maple Leafs box lacrosse team, literally "pulled" a fast one on referee Bill Powers in a recent league game. Bert, usually shy and unpretentious, went down in a melee near his goal, with opposing players piled all around him. Arising from the heap, Bert was holding his jaw and making faces as though he were suffering excruciating pain. The referee walked over and asked him if he were hurt, and Bert replied that a certain player had knocked his tooth out, and thereupon proceeded to remove it. He held it up as an exhibit of the damage the foul deed had done, but unfortunately he must have held it too close to the light, for the referee spotted the little screw on the end and knew it for a false tooth. When he called Bert's bluff, the latter merely shrugged his shoulders and put the tooth back in its place. It is suspected that he was blushing from ear to ear. Bert's a shy cuss.

Exhibition Boxing Bouts To-night At 5th Regiment Smoker

Collapse of Boston And Cubs Features Big Time Baseball

Former Club Which Proved Sensation During Early Months of National League Drop Sixteen of Last Eighteen Games; Chicago Has Dropped Nine Straight Games; St. Louis and Giants Win Doubleheaders; Athletics Drop Two Games on Yanks; Ruth Hits Pair of Home Runs.

Virtually certain that the world's series again will pit the Philadelphia Athletics against the St. Louis Cardinals, baseballs major league fans perhaps can revive lagging interest by cogitating upon the collapse of two National League clubs, the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves.

The Cubs, picked to give the Cardinals a battle for the pennant, to-day had lost nine straight games and fallen into fourth place in the standings. The Braves, sensations of the circuit during the early months, and a fighting ball club until the last few weeks, have lost sixteen of their last eighteen games and now are in sixth place, only a half game ahead of the Phillies.

The Cardinals handed the Cubs a double beating in the holiday programme yesterday, 1 to 0 and 8 to 3. Paul Derringer hung up his sixteenth victory of the season in the opener, scattering eight hits and fanning eight. Burleigh Grimes was master of the Cub batsmen in the nightcap, although he was touched for eleven hits.

The Braves accepted two beatings from the Brooklyn Robins, 4 to 5, in ten innings and 2 to 0, and the Robins moved into third place. Fresco Thompson's single drove in Babe Herman with the run that enabled Bill Clark to gain the decision over Ed. Brandt in the opener. Van Mungo, recruit from the eastern league, gave the Braves only three hits and struck out seven in the second game.

GIANTS WIN TWO

Carl Hubbell and Roy Parmalee pitched the New York Giants to victories over the Phillies, 6 to 0, and 2 to 1. Hubbell fanned nine and gave only three hits in the first game and Parmalee was reached for only four safeties in the second battle, decided by Allen's single with the bases filled in the sixth.

Effective pitching by Larry French and Ervine Brame enabled the Pirates to chalk up their fifth and sixth straight wins at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 1 and 4 to 2.

The Athletics, although trounced twice by the New York Yankees, 15 to 3 and 9 to 4, still head the American League parade by thirteen games. The Yankees scored eight runs in the first inning of the opening game, largely because of the wildness of Athletic pitchers. Two home runs by Babe Ruth, number thirty-nine and forty, Gehrig's forty-second, and one each by Lary and Dickey, spelled disaster for the A's in the nightcap.

SENATORS DOUBLE WINNERS

The Washington Senators maintained their hold on second place by whipping the Boston Red Sox twice, 7 to 5 and 15 to 1. The Senators got off to an early lead in each game, scoring six runs in the first three innings of the first game and twelve in the first two innings of the nightcap. Sam Rice collected three hits in each battle.

Cleveland's Indians won two games from the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 2 and 5 to 2, on good pitching by George Connally and Clint Brown, while Detroit and St. Louis split even, the Tigers winning the opener, 3 to 2 and dropping the second, 11 to 7. The split left the Browns in fifth place, a half game ahead of Detroit.

Watching the Majors

With the aid of his thirty-ninth and fortieth home runs, Babe Ruth moved within two points of Al Simmons as the American League half of baseball's Big Six continued to set the pace yesterday. The Babe got five hits in the two games with the Athletics, while Simmons again was idle and, as the result, the standings to-day read:

Simmons	.362
Ruth	.360

Eddie Morgan also tacked a couple of points on to his batting average, while Bill Terry was the only one of the National League trio to gain and he added only one point.

Dick Irvin Says Report Correct

Regina, Sask., Sept. 8.—"I guess it's right," was Dick Irvin's only comment when interviewed regarding the report from Chicago that the "Silver Fox" would not be at the helm of the Chicago Black Hawks in the next National League hockey chase.

Irvin was not conversant with the report when interviewed, but after hearing that the announcement came from the Black Hawk office in Chicago he stated that it was no doubt correct. Beyond that he would say no more, and informed the press that he had made no plans for next winter.

J.B.A.A. RUGGERS MEET

To discuss plans for the coming season, the J.B.A.A. rugby team will hold a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the club headquarters at the Gorge. A full turnout of all members interested in rugby is expected.

Practices of the J.B.A.A. teams will be held this year in the new horse show building at the Willows. "Benny" Bendrodt will act as coach, and is looking forward to a successful year.

World Baseball Series Will Open in Park of National Champs Oct. 1

Chicago, Sept. 8. — The 1931 world baseball series will open in the park of the National League champions, October 1.

This was decided at a meeting in the office of Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis yesterday. Should St. Louis win the title, two games will be played there, with the next two days set aside for traveling to the stronghold of the American League champion, where three games will be played, if that many are necessary. Should the series go more than five games, the two remaining contests would be played in St. Louis.

If the New York Giants should overhaul the Cardinals, the series will open at New York, with the third game scheduled for October 3, in the American League title winner's park.

Only representatives of the Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics attended the meeting.

Local Y Sprinters Sweep Island Meet

Art Chapman Wades Through All Opposition to Capture Three Jumps

The "Flying Y" emblems of Archie McKinnon's crack track and field squad shattered the tape in the majority of the senior events in the Vancouver Island championships held at Nanaimo yesterday, and local boys returned with the lion's share of medals and cups. Chuck McDonald, leading British Columbia miler, and Boy Hibbert, running for the Navy, cinched up other awards for Victoria. About 1,500 saw the meet.

Art Chapman, rangy association jumper cleaned up in a big way in his events, taking high, broad and hop-step contests. Joe Addison, speedy schoolmate of Chapman, ran through to easy victories in the 100 and 200 yards senior. Chuck Copeland, showing some of his old-time form, grabbed off the quarter mile honors. Chuck Cunningham took the half and Frank Aldous garnered a couple of second place medals.

The Y.M.C.A. relay team composed of Copeland, Crothall, Cunningham and Addison also came through in a blaze of glory to take the only team event on the programme.

WINS EASILY

Breaking fast, young Addison jumped into the lead at the start of the century final. By the seventy-five-yard mark he had a big enough margin to coast in. He was clocked in 10 1-5 seconds. In the 220 he again went out in front and won easily in 24 seconds. Bill Crothall, another local runner, placed second.

Copeland stretched out his stride into pretty running form to annex the quarter mile honors. He had a good lead over Boy Hibbert of the navy, who placed second. Chuck Cunningham tagged the field up to the final lap and then sprinted in to finish third. Copeland's time was 55 seconds flat.

MacDONALD TAKES MILE

MacDonald walked off with the mile, striding off the distance easily to lead Frank Aldous by several yards at the tape.

At his chosen distance, Cunningham showed the way to win the half mile in 2 minutes 6 2-5 seconds. Frank Aldous was second.

With jumps of 5 feet 4 inches in the high, 18 feet 9 inches in the broad, and 39 feet 2 inches in the hop-step, Art Chapman made a clean sweep of his department.

All events were Island championships and carry with them a good stock of medals as well as some valuable cups.

NANAIMO EVENTS

Corporal McDonald of the Nanaimo police won the twelve-pound shot-putt with a mark of 44 feet, beating last year's mark by six feet. In the Nanaimo and district races, N. Green won the century in 11 seconds, and George Brown, Cumberland, won easily in boys' eighteen and under, running the century in 10 1-5.

A good race was witnessed in the girls' century, M. Mallory, Crofton, defeating Kay Brown at the tape. Lizzie Main, Nanaimo, ran second in both races.

In two special invitation races, Lillian Palmer, Canadian intermediate champion, won easily, covering the sixty yards in 7 1-5. Mary Frizzie, Vancouver flash, fell at the start and did not run. She ran an exhibition later covering the distance in 7 2-5.

VICTORIAN BIKE RACE WINNER

Jerry Ward, Victoria, won the cycle race from Ladysmith, covering the distance of sixteen miles in 38 minutes 40 seconds. Pete Tyson, last year's winner, was second, losing by a minute. Tyson's time last year was 43 minutes. Both lads received great ovation. Stolzenberg, seventeen-year-old local lad, was third.

Dunc McNaughton, Canada's jumping ace, and Joe Bills, hurdler, also gave exhibitions.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Hygro, sensational speed marvel from the west, galloped off with the $5,000 added Joliet handicap for two-year-olds yesterday. He smothered his seven rivals with blistering speed to win by a length over Burning Blaze without a real struggle. The race was witnessed by 25,000, largest crowd of the Lincoln fields meeting.

LOCALS LOSE CRICKET GAME IN VANCOUVER

Reg. Wenman Leads Batters With Good 48; Vancouver Retains Cup

(Canadian Press

Vancouver, Sept 8.—By a margin of twenty-one runs Vancouver's rep cricket team defeated Victoria here yesterday, and retained possession of the Flumerfelt Cup, Vancouver winning the first game in Victoria Dominion Day.

Victoria sent over a weakened eleven, but made the strong local team play to the last man.

Winning the toss Victoria made a fine opening, Sparks and Wenman putting on 67 before the former left for 24. Meredith and Wenman then played the brightest cricket of the day, the latter hitting vigorously. Wenman was the first to go after scoring 48, the highest total of the match, while shortly after Meredith was bowled for 43. The remainder of the team gave little trouble, and the side was all out for 152.

Vancouver have to thank Smeeth 47 and Bullen, not out 40, for their victory, and it was only the steadying influence of the Vancouver skipper which made it possible. Ball was the best bowler with four wickets for 68, but did far better than his average indicates.

Nanaimo fared badly before the Auroras, as after the latter had hit up 205, the Coal City failed to get more than 72.

After an absence of seventeen years, Seattle cricketers made their reappearance on a local field, but failed to impress. Vancouver ran up the big score of 270 for seven and Seattle were all out for 59.

Do You make the MISTAKE which Ostracized this WOMAN?

THIS woman made a mistake. One little mistake—but everyone holds it against her.

It is a common mistake, too. One that any woman might make. One that thousands do make, to their sorrow.

This is the mistake: She assumed that she was free of halitosis (unpleasant breath). Simply took it for granted that she never offended this way.

No intelligent person makes this error. Because the facts show that every day even in normal mouths conditions capable of causing unpleasant breath are already present or may arise.

You may be interested in knowing that 90% of halitosis is caused by fermentation of tiny food particles the tooth brush has failed to remove.

You undoubtedly realize that it is also caused by minor mouth infections and by excesses of eating, drinking, and smoking. Surely, then, any toilette, to be complete, must include a precaution against it.

LISTERINE immediately overcomes odors other antiseptics fail to mask in four days

The one pleasant way to make sure your breath is beyond suspicion is to use full strength Listerine as a mouthwash. No other should be considered. Use Listerine every morning, every night, and between times before meeting others.

Listerine halts fermentation, the principal cause of halitosis. Relentlessly it attacks infection, another cause of odors. Having thus struck at the cause, it then overcomes the odors themselves. Its ability in this direction is simply amazing.

"Listerine immediately overcomes odors that ordinary mouthwashes fail to mask in four days," says a noted chemist after a series of tests to determine the deodorizing power of Listerine and other mouthwashes.

When you want certain deodorant effect, healing antiseptic action, and pleasant taste, use Listerine. No ordinary mouthwash provides these qualities to such a degree. Lambert Pharmacal Co., Toronto, Ontario.

TRAIN-BUS CRASH TAKES SIX LIVES

Canadian Press

Moncton, N.B., Sept. 8.—Six killed instantly and two in hospital critically injured made up the toll taken Sunday when the eastbound Canadian National Ocean Limited struck a bus containing eleven people at Coyle's crossing, eighteen miles east of Moncton.

The party was returning home from a religious celebration.

Those killed were Miss Eubert Leblanc, Miss Celoie Leblanc, Aldric Landry, Antonie Leblanc, Alphee Leger and his son, Philip Leger, all of Dupuis Corners.

The injured are: Miss Sarah Leblanc, Cape Bald, and Miss May Leblanc of Dupuis Corners.

The bus was driven by Aurele Landry of Dupuis Corners. He escaped with slight cuts and chock. Rain spattering on the window obscured his view of the crossing.

FINE FIELDING GIVES VICTORIA CRICKETERS WIN

Local Wednesday League All-stars Beat Vancouver By 24 Runs and Three Wickets

One of the finest displays of cricket fielding ever given in Victoria featured yesterday's game between the Wednesday League of Victoria and Vancouver, played at Beacon Hill. Victoria won the match by twenty-four runs and three wickets, due chiefly to the brilliance of the fielding in the first innings, which resulted in retiring the whole of the Vancouver team in an hour of play, for the total of fifty-one runs.

Before the luncheon adjournment the Victorians had compiled a score of fifty-two, due to the hard hitting of Hanson and Peberdey, and on resumption the score was run up to 133 before the side was retired.

The Vancouver batsmen made a much stronger showing in the second inning, the bowling not being so deadly and the Victoria fielders not quite so keen on the ball. As a result they added 117 to bring their total score up to 168 when the side was retired, well after 4 o'clock.

Although Victoria had only to stall to win the game on the first inning, Capt. Payne's men set out to slash their way to a complete conquest of the mainland men. Griffin hit everything and took many chances before he was caught by Hart, making sixteen. Fletcher also hit to double figures before he was caught by McNeil and Peberdey, not out with eleven, was the only player on either team to make double figures in two innings. Victoria retired when Payne was bowled by Smith, their score being 192, three men to bat and fifteen minutes of play remaining.

GANDY, HOLDEN STAR AS CITY WINS BASEBALL

Holden Pitches Hitless Game to Hold Seattle Japanese Down in Afternoon

Art Gandy's homer in the first game, which brought in Bacon and Holman for Victoria's three runs, and Leo Holden's hitless hurling in the second, which held the visitors to one lone tally, gave the city all-stars both fixtures in yesterday's doubleheader against the Seattle Taiyos at the Royal Athletic Park. The locals won the first game by a 3 to 2 score and walked off with the afternoon battle 4 to 1.

After going hitless and scoreless for six innings in the morning, Bacon went to first on an error and gained second when Holman was walked, as Victoria started the parade in the seventh. Gandy went to the plate and walloped out a homer over centrefield fence to bring in the city's only runs.

In the eighth the Nippons made a gallant effort to even the count. Kawaguchi went to first on a walk and gained second on a passed ball. Nakaboyoshi hit hard into left field, where Holman fell in trying to field. He finally threw home, but the catcher did a little base throwing after Kawaguchi had crossed the plate and let Nakaboyoshi walk in unhampered.

Oyami pitched a good game for the Japanese, and except for Gandy's homer in the sixth, held the locals down well. Cann kept the visitors in check.

Holden's pitching featured the evening encounter.

STOLE HOME

In the second Niini scored the Nippons' only tally when he went to first on an error, worked his way around to third and stole home.

With Gandy on first, Worthington hit into a double play in the Capitals' second.

Holden sent the Japanese down in short order in the third. Holden got a life, but was put out at second when Holman forced him around with single to short stop.

Taiyos went four up and three down in the fourth, and Victoria went scoreless.

Ogami got to first in the Nippons' fifth, but died on third after Kawaguchi, Oyami and Niimi had been sent back to the dugout.

LAST TALLY

The locals added their last tally in the sixth. Craig went to first when three Taiyos collided trying to catch his fly. Steele was put out on a bunt. Holden singled and Craig came in on an overthrow.

Gandy and Worthington both crashed out bingles in Victoria's half of the sixth, after the Japanese had been sent down scoreless, but both the Capital hitters died on bases.

Holden struck out Hashimoto and Pipo, and Oaki flied out as the game closed.

Holden turned in a pretty exhibition, striking out eleven, walking only two and giving no hits. Nakaboyoshi whiffed six, walked three and gave five hits.

MANY SEEKING SCHOLARSHIPS

Selected Students Will Be Helped Through University of British Columbia

Many applications have been received for scholarships under the plan of giving assistance, recently adopted by the Department of Education. Some time ago arrangements were made with the authorities of the University of British Columbia that the academic standing and achievements of the applicants should be passed upon by a committee appointed by the board of governors.

Applications as received have been forwarded to the registrar of the university and dealt with by this committee. This committee, however, deals only with the academic standing of the applicant. The granting of the scholarships is to be based upon two considerations:

1. The applicant's academic achievements must show that he is of much more than ordinary ability, and

2. The applicant's financial condition must be such that without some assistance he would be unable to pursue his studies.

As already pointed out, the question of ability is passed upon by a committee appointed by the board of governors of the university. The question of financial need and the final selection of those to whom scholarships shall be awarded has by the Minister of Education been referred to a committee composed by Professor Farr of Victoria College, B. C. Nicholas of The Victoria Daily Times and C. Swayne of The Victoria Colonist.

In addition, it was necessary to have a committee that could be convened at any moment, as applications may have to be dealt with at very short notice.

It was felt by the minister that, with a committee appointed by the board of governors, passing upon the academic qualifications and a committee of outstanding citizens making the final selection, after taking into consideration the financial need of each applicant, the objective aimed at, namely, to give needed assistance to young people of outstanding ability, would be best achieved.

RADIO PHONES IN LIGHTHOUSES

Will Be Advocated By Victoria Delegates at Regina Convention

Radio phones for all offshore lighthouses and permanent rating for all full-time temporary civil servants will be advocated by British Columbia delegates to the convention of the Amalagamated Civil Servants of Canada, opening in Regina September 8 and continuing until September 11.

The Victoria local has fought for several years for improvements in working conditions of lighthouse keepers, especially those at some of the lonely stations, and has secured several concessions to relieve the monotony of men in isolated posts.

A strong fight will be made to transfer to the permanent staff many men now listed as temporary employees. Hundreds of men filling regular jobs have the temporary rating, it is pointed out. They are debarred from holiday privileges and from participating in the superannuation fund. An eight-hour day will also be advocated by British Columbia delegates.

A. H. C. Jones, secretary, will represent the Victoria local. He left Saturday for Vancouver where he will be joined by H. A. Benbow, W. M. Chapman, J. Haslett, D. J. McCarthy, W. A. Squires, Vancouver; W. John, Nanaimo, and G. H. Jameson, New Westminster.

The Vanishing Metallic Fiction of Silver and Gold

If silver is no longer money, and if the metallic fiction of silver is to pass into history, so also will pass, and very quickly, the metallic fiction of gold. Capitalism should be under no misapprehension on that score.

The public services of nations co-ordinated on the basis of utmost economy so as to maintain even a modest standard of living, seem to-day to call into use every factor of credit which those nations possess; there is apparently no national ability to divert any portion of the national credit to the work of maintaining a metallic value. Is there no alternative, then, but for gold and silver to change from money into a commodity?

If gold and silver are to vanish as money tokens, which now seems inevitable, the following observations are offered colloquially, without detailed statistics and calculations, and the capitalistic world should think these calculations through to the results which must follow their adoption.

(1) The 5 billion dollars in gold that lies in the vaults of United States, and the 3 billions that lie in the vaults of France, is actually worth no more than gold will bring as a commodity for use in art and manufacture. LIKE SILVER, GOLD HAVING ENDED ITS SERVICE AS MONEY, IS HEADED FOR A DROP TO ONE-THIRD OR ONE-QUARTER OF ITS PRESENT VALUE, UNLESS SOME SANTA CLAUS LIKE UNCLE SAM CAN BE FOUND WHO CAN AFFORD TO BUY AND STORE GOLD FOR ITS ANTIQUE OR FICTION VALUE.

This means large losses for United States and France, but no larger than the losses recently taken by China and India in having their billions of silver dollars reduced from $1.34 in 1920 down to to-day's values of about 25c each. A similar loss in gold is small compared to the loss in world trade which United States and France and England are to-day taking while they are trying to make up their minds whether or not to discard silver and gold as money.

(2) For several centuries past, many of the governments of the world were purchasers and holders and hoarders of silver. Almost at the same time all these governments found their expenses in excess of their incomes to an extent which could not be met by tax increases. Something had to be sold; and that something was silver.

(3) Accordingly silver was poured on to the world market in enormous quantity and the price broke; and in the breakdown carried all other commodities with it for the reason that in seven-tenths of the commercial world, commodity values were fixed by reference to the purchasing power of people who bought and sold with the silver dollar.

(4) The direct remedy would be for governments to buy back silver: BUT NO GOVERNMENT HAS ANY MONEY TO DO THIS. Therefore the world will have to be content with the indirect method of waiting until the industrial use of silver absorbs the available supply.

(5) Gold bullionists claim that the theory of giving silver a market value based on international action and co-operation is impractical, because the absolutely necessary governmental and commercial credits of the world have far outgrown any basis of metallic value. BULLIONISTS FAIL TO SEE THAT GOLD IS TO-DAY IN EXACTLY THE SAME POSITION AS SILVER WAS YESTERDAY.

Bullionists cannot seem to see that the volume and procession of world trade has left them sitting on vaults of dead and useless gold which, unless joined with silver to make a usable volume of world currency, must join silver as a mere commodity like tin or copper or salt.

Admittedly, the nations of the world will have to abandon the gold standard so as to avert world-bankruptcy. For example, England with 90 billions of national wealth, has less than one per cent, or only 800 million dollars of gold. Germany and Europe are in the same position. So that gold has passed out of their financial picture; it has ceased to function.

THE SUBSTITUTE THEN FOR THE GOLD STANDARD WILL BE A PRIMARY AND SENIOR SECURITY UPON NATIONAL ASSETS WITHOUT INTERPOSING THE FICTION OF ANY METALLIC SECURITY.

India was changed from a silver to a gold standard; sold something less than one-third of the Indian Government silver holdings; has the balance in safe vaults; has some gold; and is now doing business on the basis of a law of the Parliament of Great Britain undertaking to make advances to the Indian Government as and when deficits mature.

The example of India, and the 400-million-dollar loan made to England last week, can only be taken as clear demonstrations of the fact that metallic fictions have been displaced from the sphere of national finance.

The crisis in world trade has confronted Western capitalism with the problem of recognizing silver as a money, or in lieu of that, providing China and India and other silver countries with some form of international credit.

Countries and individuals interested primarily in PRODUCING SILVER, urge the recognition of silver as a money. Countries and individuals interested primarily in WORLD TRADE, demand that the world recognize that silver countries are entitled to international credit in keeping with their properties, their populations, their utilities and their products.

The Vancouver Sun is in the latter class. Although located in a mining province, this newspaper views as paramount the requirements of world trade.

World depression cannot and will not end until world trade is revived. World trade cannot revive until a world currency or world credit is available in silver countries. Silver is demonetized; gold has become impotent.

TO REVIVE WORLD TRADE AND BRING BACK NORMAL EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS, THE COMMERCE AND CREDIT OF THE WORLD CAN NOW BE BASED ONLY AS A PARAMOUNT LIEN ON THE SECURITY OF THE PROPERTIES, UTILITIES, PRODUCTS AND COMMODITIES OF EACH TRADING NATION; SO FORMULATED THAT EACH TRADING NATION WILL DIRECTLY CONTRACT TO MEET ITS OBLIGATIONS IN RESPECT TO BALANCES ON WORLD TRADE.

There is no half-way station; no basis of compromise on any metallic fiction.

It may shock Americans to learn that their five billion pile of gold is as valueless as the 143 carloads of silver cartwheels that to-day clutter up the treasury vaults of Washington.

It may take the mining industry, as in the case of silver, some time to become reconciled to the depreciated value of gold, but, viewing the trends of world trade and world credit, it is now clear that the fiction of gold and silver as money are fast being regarded as the folly of a rich and antiquated world.

INCREDIBLE AS IT SEEMS, AND STRANGE AS IT SOUNDS WHEN FIRST HEARD, IT IS CERTAIN THAT THE HISTORIC METALLIC FICTION OF GOLD AND SILVER IS VANISHING.

See and Hear Columaire "8" Today

A RADICALLY NEW RADIO

TO-DAY, after months of testing and months of proving, Westinghouse invites you to inspect Radio's newest, perfected creation — Columaire "8"—the most significant radio announcement in four years.

Leave behind you all preconceived ideas of radio design. Columaire "8" does not look like any radio you have ever seen before. At first glance you will not see any speaker, tuning controls or selector dial. These important features are all there of course, but obviously placed for the greatest efficiency and convenience.

The Columaire "8" presents the first and only radio cabinet scientifically designed to serve the purpose of radio reproduction. To embody the fundamental principle which distinguishes Columaire "8" from all other radio receivers, it had to be different.

The "column of air" principle though entirely new to radio, is old as the hills. The great masters of music have used it for hundreds of years. It is the secret of sweetness and purity in the violin, of mellowness in the cello, of resonance in the pipe-organ.

Now in a Radio Receiver for the first time Westinghouse adapts this principle for radio reproduction, thereby producing tonal qualities unique in beauty, magnificent in resonance and amazing in fidelity.

With this radical innovation come other improvements scarcely less surprising.

Columaire is up-to-the-minute—modern as the ninety story skyscraper. Columaire brings refreshing beauty—richness of substance as well as sound—that harmonizes with any setting.

Although a full-size receiver, it takes up only one square foot of floor space—a unique advantage in any home and especially in small apartments.

It is more conveniently placed, easier to handle, more satisfactory to operate than the old-style receivers it supersedes.

It is equipped with either an electric or eight-day clock as you require—affording a double utility in the home.

It is a superheterodyne of amazing power—quiet yet sensitive to the weakest signals. It has extraordinary volume yet cross talk and interference between wave bands is eliminated.

Hear for yourself its magnificent range of tone. See for yourself its new, dynamic beauty. Secure for yourself its amazing performance, its unmatched utility and its outstanding value.

Your Westinghouse Radio Dealer is proudly waiting to show you Columaire "8"—the receiver that is remaking radio history. Visit him to-day.

HARVEY ROSS

"I think the application of the Column of Air principle is a decided step forward in the true reproduction of music by radio"

HECTOR CHARLESWORTH
Eminent Musical Critic and Editor
"Saturday Night" says
"It would seem to me that the basic principles of design embodied in the Columaire offer extremely interesting possibilities for a higher standard of sound reproduction and tone values"

FUND BELOW EXPECTATIONS

Much Will Have to Be Raised Daily If Sum Is to Really Relieve Distress

"The Victoria Citizens' Unemployed Fund has a colossal task before it if the objective of $250,000 is to be raised," a representative of the committee said to-day. "More than $25,000 must be collected on each of the remaining ten days of the campaign, and we realize that nothing short of a miracle can produce that result.

"We have endeavored in a plain, straightforward manner to place pertinent facts before the public, iterating and reiterating the need of money to relieve distress which is abundant today, and will increase as the winter approaches. Our appeal for support has been insistent, but the response has been far below expectation.

"Many citizens have given generously, some far more than they could afford, and interest in the object of the fund is increasing daily. But, while the much welcome small contributions are constantly adding to the sum in hand, multiples of thousands of dollars are required to ensure the success of Victoria's effort to relieve distress."

Contributions large and small may be sent to campaign headquarters, View and Broad Street, telephone G 1725, or to the city treasurer, E. C. Smith, City Hall.

Lifeboat Drifts Home to Germany From "Nurnberg"

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—Among sailors there is an age-old superstition that a vessel left derelict on the high seas is ever seeking to return to the home port from which she sailed, as did the ship of Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner."

Uncanny as the theory is, an incident occurred during the war years that is still discussed among some old salts as supplying a modern basis for it. Among the vessels destroyed by the British guns in the epic battle off the Falkland Islands, it will be recalled, was the German cruiser Nurnberg.

Fourteen or fifteen months later all Germany was awed by something which seemed positively uncanny. In the murk of a winter dawn two German coast watchers, whose beat lay along the shoreline a mile or two away from the River Elbe, spotted a storm-beaten lifeboat being driven inshore by the white-capped waves. The little boat seemed to have no occupant, but her nose pointed straight inshore just as if an unseen hand was at the helm to insure that the storm-tossed craft made a good landing. The two watchers secured the lifeboat and then, when she was safely beached, a startling discovery was made. For she was one of the Nurnberg's lifeboats, come home without any human agency halfway across the world, and she had actually reached the German coast again at a point only a mile or two from where, more than a year previously, the cruiser had steamed forth on the voyage that was to prove her last.

A SURPRISE FOR SAILORS

One of the most curious stories in the gallery of derelict ships concerns a British vessel—the four-master Andrina. During a winter storm word came to London that this sailing ship had gone done off Cape Horn, her crew having taken to the boats just in time to save their lives. There was no reason to doubt that the vessel was lost, and, in due course, the insurance risks were paid and her name was struck off Lloyd's register. It was twenty-one years later that she came back to the world. She was sailed into New York only a year or two back by a scratch crew from a Chilean ship, as trim and seaworthy as when she had sailed down the Clyde. The Chileans, it appeared, had stumbled upon her by accident, near the Straits of Magellan. They were seal hunters who had come suddenly upon a land-locked cove, where, to their amazement, they found this four-master, snugly at rest yet without any sign of the hand of man about her. Carried by some chance current of the sea to this sheltered cove, she had slipped in and had remained there in full security for more than two decades. The sea often steers derelicts in this way to some sheltered bay or river mouth where they remain more or less out of danger. Others, however, are sent out to the wide open seas and have been known to cover many thousands of miles before again coming under the hand of man. Thus, it is logged of one vessel that after being abandoned off the American coast one wild March day, she passed from human ken for close on a year, then, having journeyed about 6,000 miles, her decks again heard the scrape of seamen's boots—off the Hebrides.

Lack of Sunshine British Handicap, Says Sir A. Lane

London—What would the Briton be like if, in his native habitat, he was used to more than fitful spells of sunshine? England's decline in sporting prestige is attributed by Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, the eminent surgeon and health specialist, to the lengthening of the "latent period" in the inhabitants of these isles.

The "latent period," as Sir William explained, is the time elapsing between perception and action. The slowing up of the average Englishman, he contended, is due to the absence of sunlight with its ultra-violet and health-giving rays.

A heavy fog enshrouded London when Sir William expressed his views in his Portland Place consulting rooms. Although it was high noon the street lamps were lighted and traffic was moving at a snail's pace. Pointing to the murky atmosphere outside he exclaimed: "We could never develop a Don Bradman (the Babe Ruth of Australian cricket) in such a climate. The essence of the skill of such a sportsman is the quickness of his reaction to perception. To see with him is to act. It is this ability to coordinate sight and action that makes for greatness. The infinitesmal part of a second makes all the difference.

"It is this added quickness that makes for success. This is seen in boxing, lawn tennis, cricket, and in baseball. In lawn tennis you have the Latin peoples, nourished by the southern suns, and the Americans, who also enjoy the advantages of the sun, continually excelling us—beating us at our own games. We were the pioneers of games, yet we are continually being left behind. And the reason is the lack of sunlight—the lengthening of the 'latent period'."

In the opinion of Sir William, no Caesars or Napoleons have been produced by Great Britain because of the absence of sunlight. On the other hand, it did produce one of the world's greatest sailors—Nelson—because he lived in "the suns of the seas."

HIGHWAY OR RAILS ALL THE SAME TO THIS MOTOR BUS

London.—Alternately a railway coach and a public highway coach, the Ro-Rail car is calculated to revolutionize the transportation systems of Great Britain. Tests are being carried out by the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company with a view to adopting the new type of coach. It is thought the Redbourn branch of the railway may be the first to put the new car into use.

A description of the initial run of the Ro-Rail coach from Redbourn, Hertfordshire, to Hemel Hempstead, under the auspices of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway recently is thus given by a newspaper correspondent:

"We threaded a way among all the motor and horse traffic without a soul realizing that for the first time a railway coach had literally 'run off the lines.' Returning to the station, we became a train again and went back to Redbourn by rail. It took forty seconds to turn us from a railway coach into a road coach and the same to change us back. No one left his seat.

"This Ro-Rail car, built for the L.M.S. by Karrier Motors Limited, of Huddersfield, marks a revolution in travel. We demonstrated how a passenger might arrive, say, at Euston and travel to the door of a West End theatre in the same coach.

"The outside wheels of the coach are ordinary motor-coach wheels fitted with pneumatic tires. Inside these wheels, flanged rail wheels of smaller diameter are fitted to the same axle. To transfer from road to rail the coach is driven to a place where the road has been made up level with the rail tops. The made-up road tapers down and as the coach is slowly driven along, the flanged wheels come to rest on the rails. The road wheels, mounted on an eccentric device, are then raised above rail level.

"The coach is run on road and rail by a petrol motor developing 120 h.p. On short tests fifty miles an hour have been attained. On the road it has the appearance of a super motor-coach."

Suffered Stroke

FEELS LIKE NEW.

"A few years ago," writes Mrs. W. J. Workman, South Mountain, Ontario, "I suffered a slight paralytic stroke which laid me up for several months. It left me in a terribly run down condition. I was advised by a friend to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was discouraged, but my friend insisted upon my trying them, which I did. I may say that I am not now sorry, for I feel like a new person."

The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills increase the amount of haemoglobin in the blood. It is the haemoglobin which carries oxygen to the tissues—producing a sense of well-being.

Decide now to be well. Get a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your druggist and see if they don't give you your much needed start toward health.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

Minimum charge 25c.
$1.25 per line per month.
Minimum charge, $2.50.

Births $1.00 per insertion.
Marriages, $1.50 per insertion.
Deaths, $1.50 first insertion and $1.00 succeeding insertions.
Funeral notices: In Memoriam notices and Card of Thanks, $1.50 per insertion.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office, as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E7522 before 8 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

DIED

HIBBERT—There passed away Saturday, September 5, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, William Hibbert, aged fifty-five years, born in Macclesfield, England, and a resident of this city for the last twenty years, late residence 27 San Juan Avenue. There survive his widow and one son at home, also brothers and sisters in England.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, September 9, at 3 o'clock, from the Sands Mortuary Chapel. Rev. O. L. Jull will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Harry Maynard desires to express his sincere appreciation to the many friends of the late Lavington Cumberbatch for their expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings.

Vitamins Easily Destroyed By Heating and Air Exposure

* * * * * *

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The most sensitive of all the vitamins to heat is vitamin C. This is the vitamin that prevents scurvy. As pointed out by Dr. Walter H. Eddy in a recent discussion of nutrition, whereas one gram of raw cabbage daily will prevent scurvy in a guinea pig, twenty times that amount of cabbage, if the food is boiled for an hour in an open kettle, is required for scurvy prevention. Four grams of canned cabbage daily is protective, although the canned cabbage also has been boiled. The fact is that the canned cabbage is heated in airtight cans.

Evidently the factor that is involved in the destruction of the vitamin is oxidation. Heat sufficiently high will destroy vitamin C. Access to air or oxidation during the heating process is the most serious of all the factors in its destruction.

If minute amounts of copper are present in the vessels used in heating food substances, the vitamin destruction will take place much more rapidly. This is due to the fact that the presence of copper will speed up all oxidative reactions.

The use of copper kettles in the preparation of tomato pulp produces more destruction of vitamin C than if heated in tin lined kettles. Furthermore, the tomato pulp after heating will be found to contain small particles of copper.

The vitamin A content of butter is reduced by heating at higher temperatures if a current of air bubbles through. Vitamin A, however, is more stable than vitamin C, and it seems doubtful that ordinary cooking harms the vitamin A in plant sources, although oxygen, if present, will destroy vitamin A from animal sources.

Vitamin B is slowly destroyed by the application of heat, but the presence of alkalis destroys it much more rapidly than does the presence of acids. Therefore, the use of water in cooking green vegetables may be injurious to the vitamin B content.

Evidence is not as yet available regarding the manner in which vitamins D and E may be destroyed. Apparently these vitamins are much more stable and difficult to ruin. Unfortunately we do not yet know about most of the vitamins the minimum necessary to preserve and advance human life, nor how much the average human being gets in his usual diet.

HARD-WORKED TOURISTS

A reader who is traveling in Italy sends the following stories to Peter Simple—At Capri I met an elderly lady who asked for my advice. Would it "be possible" for her to leave Capri without visiting the Blue Grotto? I told her it would.

"But what would my friends say if I told them I'd been to Capri and not done the Blue Grotto?"

Not knowing them I was unable to say. But I suggested that she might buy several colored picture postcards of the place and when her friends asked about it give them each one. She graciously found me "vurry, vurry amiable," and added pathetically, "I'm getting an old woman. For three months I've been doing Europe, and I'm about all in!"

INVENTOR OF WAR INSTRUMENTS DIES

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—Professor Archibald Barr, an engineer, who was well-known for his association with inventions relating to range-finding and other phases of warfare, has died in his seventy-sixth year, at his home at Milngavie, Dumbartonshire. Conjointly with Professor William Stroud, he was the inventor of the naval range-finders adopted by the British Admiralty and by nearly all foreign governments; of various types of range-finders for fortress and field services adopted by many governments; of height-finders for anti-aircraft services, and of electrical and mechanical fire-control instruments for use between the fire-control positions and gun-stations of war vessels adopted by the British Admiralty and a number of foreign governments. Other inventions for which he and Professor Stroud were responsible were those of torsion dynamometers and power meters, a pump for the production of very high vacua, improvements on the optophone, a photogrammetric platter and other instruments for use in air-surveying, etc. The two inventors established works at Anniesland, Glasgow, for the manufacture of these instruments, Professor Barr being chairman, and Professor Stroud director, of the firm of Barr & Stroud Limited.

yung Vincent Forbes, who carried Vancouver's hopes into the race section ruled formerly by Percy Williams. Jimmy Ball won his heat in the 220 but could not stall off Forbes's final rush in the final to show.

Ball's withdrawal from the quarter left the event wide open and the sensational victory of Maurice Hughes, Montreal, in the unsensational time of 57 2-5 seconds featured the sprint events. Hughes won the gruelling dash by two yards over Fred Martello, sturdy Trail, B.C., runner. Don Ball, younger brother of Jimmy, was third, less than a foot ahead of Charlie Bellamy, from Owen Sound, Ont.

Hughes came up from a plodding, tired band of stragglers in the last fifty yards, and caught Ball and then Martello, to forge his way to the tape. Hamilton's two entries were withdrawn from the event along with Jimmy Ball.

Dust, sun or wind did not bother young Fred Shaver in his race to a title over 880 yards. The high school boy went to the front in the first 100 yards and stayed there, successfully staving off a rush on the stretch by Les Wade of Montreal A.A.A. Wade was second, five yards back, and Wally Bain of Port Arthur, present Ontario interscholastic champion, was third.

Eddie King's second straight win in the mile took all the grit and stamina the lean Hamiltonian had. He finished a good ten yards in front of Harold McMahon, awkward collegian from Saskatoon, but it was all King could do to complete his gallop. Earl Moore of Hamilton, was third, another ten yards behind McMahon.

STORMS FIELD FOR INVENTORS

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—A remarkable fact recalled by every storm is that one hundred flashes of lightning occur on the earth every second. If the power so wasted could be harnessed it would supply all man's needs for ever. Data collected by the British Meteorological Office reveal that at any one time about 1,800 thunderstorms are in progress in different parts of the world, and that the average frequency of lightning flashes during a storm is 200 every hour. A simple calculation shows that this gives the amazing figure of 100 flashes every second as representative of the average frequency of lightning discharges over the whole earth.

There are three types of lightning discharges. From cloud to cloud, which are the most frequent; from cloud to earth, which do storm damage; and from earth to cloud, which are much more rare and most dangerous of all. The generally accepted theory concerning the origin of lightning is that in certain electric conditions a cloud becomes charged by the coalescence of drops of water. The superficial area of each drop is less than the total area of its constituent drops. Hence this electrical "potential" arises. The multiplication of this action on all the myriad drops forming a cloud raises the electrical potential of the cloud as a whole and so causes it to rise. When the cloud passes near another stratum of cloud, or a projection on the surface of the earth, such as a mountain range or, in exceptional cases, a very tall building, a discharge of lightning occurs. When the actual path of the discharge can be seen it is forked lightning.

OBITUARY

There passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on Sunday afternoon John B. Davidson, 2596 Cook Street. The remains are at Sands' Funeral Parlors.

Many friends attended the funeral of Thomas Watson, which was held Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the Thomson and Fetterly Funeral Home, Rev. W. R. Brown, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Keyworth, conducting a very impressive service, during which the hymns "Abide With Me" and "Peace, Perfect Peace" were sung. The great number of floral tributes showed the esteem in which Mr. Watson was held by his many friends. The following were pallbearers: C. A. Tervo, Charles Conyers, F. W. Davey, D. Dewar, W. R. Hornsby and Peter Shandly. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Many friends attended the funeral of Miss Clara Eleanor Croghan, which was held on Saturday afternoon at the McCall Bros.' Funeral Home. Rev. E. F. Church conducted the service, during which the hymns "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "There's a Land That Is Fairer Than Day" were sung. Interment was in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery. The following acted as pallbearers: R. Eccles, F. Townsend, E. Bent, R. Porter, S. Martin and J. Hall.

Miss Marjorie Winifred Mead Robins, aged thirty-eight, passed away Sunday evening. She was born in Sutton, Surrey, England, and had been a resident of this city for nine years. There survive her mother, Mrs. Kate Mead Robins; two sisters, Mrs. Kathleen McCreech of James Island, Mrs. Barbara Hughes of Elk Lake, and one brother, George, at home. The funeral will take place to-morrow, September 9, the cortege leaving the Sands Mortuary Company at ten minutes after 1 o'clock, and twenty minutes later services will be held at St. Michael's Church, Royal Oak, by the Rev. F. Comley. The remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The funeral of William Hibbert who passed away last Saturday will take place to-morrow afternoon, September 9, at 3 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. O. L. Jull will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Miss Sara Harriet Bowhill, aged thirty-eight years, passed away at an early hour this morning at her home, 1516 Pembroke Street. She was born in San Francisco, and has been a resident of Victoria for three years. She is survived by her mother. The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary Company Chapel, and the funeral notice will be announced later.

Mrs. Martha Pauline Brett, aged fifty-three years, passed away Friday at 2663 Blanshard Street. Mrs. Brett was born in Napa, California. She had resided in this city for fifty-two years. She is survived by two brothers, Ernest Wolf, Victoria, and Henry Wolf, Langford; also two sisters, Mrs. Burns, Vancouver, and Mrs. Carter, Seattle. Mrs. Brett was predeceased by her husband, George Henry Brett, two years ago. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the parlors of the S. J. Curry and Son Funeral Home. Interment was made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Automobile Travel Shows Falling Off

Customs Figures For Season Shows 2,176 Less Cars Came This Year

Over 4,000 Less Passengers Arrive in Cars Than in Previous Year

Automobile travel in and out of Victoria was less than last year, according to figures released this morning by the Department of Customs. Totals for the Labor Day week-end, which will swell the total for the season, were not completed. There were many motors in town over the holiday and all ferries and highways were busy Saturday, Sunday and yesterday.

For the first eight months this year total of 6,449 cars arrived, compared with 8,625 cars in 1930. These cars carried a total of 18,864 passengers, compared with 25,431 passengers last year. This is about an average of three persons to a car. Cars and passengers used all the routes leading to Vancouver Island, but Nanaimo and Sidney were the most popular ports of entry, although many of the cars came direct to Victoria.

Of the total this year 5,304 cars were foreign and 1,145 Canadian, 15,399 passengers foreign and 3,465 Canadian. Last year 7,247 cars were foreign and 1,378 Canadian, and 21,564 passengers foreign and 3,867 Canadian.

June, July and August are always the heaviest months of the year for automobile travel. July was the heaviest of the three for foreign automobile travel in 1930, while Canadian travel moved more in August.

In August there were 1,850 foreign cars in and 2,541 cars out, and 5,067 foreign passengers in and 7,088 out, while there were 414 Canadian cars in and 523 out, and 1,373 passengers in and 1,850 out.

The passenger travel on the regular steamers has been fairly good this year, although not up to that of former years. It is expected, however, that when the figures are totaled they will show that close to 400,000 people passed in and out of Victoria since June 1.

HISTORY OF J.B.A.A. TOLD LOCAL CLUB

Kiwanians Hear of Successes of Organization During Last Forty Years

The history of the James Bay Athletic Association and its success in different fields of athletic endeavor, particularly in recent years, were outlined by B. C. Nicholas before members of the Kiwanis Club at a special luncheon held in the J.B.A.A. quarters at the Gorge to-day.

The speaker dealt with the circumstances which led to the club leaving its old quarters in the Inner Harbor and being established at the Gorge. He also pointed to the possibility of its development as a centre of recreational activities for Victoria.

Both to-day and in former years the association boasted fine teams in football, lacrosse, basketball and other sports, and showed outstanding merit in rowing and tennis.

Mr. Nicholas referred to the organization of the N.P.A.A.O regatta, and after reviewing the success of the local oarsmen in the premier rowing meet of the Pacific Northwest, spoke specifically of the fine showings made by J.B.A.A. crews in the last meeting at Burnaby Lake.

From the time of its organization, over forty years ago, to the present, the association had played a large part in the athletic life of the city, Mr. Nicholas stated.

Following the address, members of the club were shown over the clubhouse, the grounds, changing rooms, gymnasium and boathouses.

Eighteen Thousand Guessed on Weight Of Butter at Fair

The correct weight of the hand sculptured "Our Own Brand" Butter panels displayed by Central Creameries at the fair was exactly 402 lbs. 4 oz.

The winners were Mrs. A. McKinnon, 1153 Caledonia Avenue, and Mrs. L. B Hetherington, 171 Sims Avenue, who tied for first place, being within 1 oz of the correct weight. The other winners were G. Brady, 51 Moss Street; B Carmichael, 1325 Fernwood Road; A. Crawford, 1267 Fairfield Road; M. E Kilty, Royal Oak; Mrs. Isabel Heal, Royal Oak, Annie Draper, 121 Michigan Street; J. Lees, Gordon Head; M. A. ap. John, 1653 Fell St.

All of the winners were within 4 oz. of the correct weight and 154 others estimated within 2 lbs. of correct weight.

The 18,000 guesses ranged all the way from one lb. six ounces to 12,963 lbs.

BANK CALL

New York, Sept. 8.—Stockholders of the Bank of United States, now in liquidation, were called to-day to contribute $25,250,000 for the benefit of depositors. There is little likelihood, however, of collecting the entire amount as many of the stockholders are also depositors whose funds were tied up in the closing of the bank a year ago.

PASTOR WARNS AGAINST BAD AUTO DRIVING

Campaign to Check Accidents Backed By Metropolitan Church Preacher

Police Chief Says Bicyclists Who Disregard Regulations Will Be Stopped

Backing up Chief of Police Thomas Heatley in the campaign to check careless automobile driving in the city, Rev. E. F. Church, in the course of a sermon on the "Costliness of Life" at Metropolitan Church on Sunday, referred to the prevalence of motor accidents in Victoria and uttered a warning against excessive speed and disregard of care at intersections.

"I think," the pastor said, "that motor traffic might be more firmly controlled for a time in the interests of public safety until these motorists who persist in driving to the public danger are driven from the streets."

He also appealed to all young people to take the utmost care that they do not conduct themselves in such a way that would make life more costly for others.

TO INCLUDE CYCLISTS

Chief Heatley this morning reiterated his warning of Saturday to reckless drivers but also drew attention to the fact that the police campaign would include bicycle riders who show a disregard for traffic regulations.

"Especially at the present time, with winter coming on, is there need for more care among bicyclists," the chief said. "Many of them travel at night without lights or reflectors. They cut across intersections, disregard stop signs and make it very uncomfortable for automobile drivers in many cases. Violation of these rules will result in summonses until the practices are checked."

MOSS DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Jury Hears of Tragedy in Which Autoist Lost Life on Malahat

After hearing evidence of John Roberts, injured companion of Arthur Moss, who met his death on Sunday, August 30, when his car plunged over the Malahat Drive, the jury at the adjourned inquest in Currie & Sons' Funeral Parlors to-day returned a verdict of accidental death.

The hearing opened early last week, but was held over until this morning in order to let the jurors hear the evidence of Mr. Roberts, who was resting in the hospital at the time of the opening session.

With the verdict the jury added a rider recommending "dangerous bends be more adequately protected for motorists in the future."

Mr. Roberts told the jury of events leading up to the fatal drive. He said he and Mr. Moss had visited friends before setting out. In reply to question later, he said neither himself nor his friend had been drinking liquor of any kind.

They had set out on the drive and had passed the summit of the Malahat before anything untoward had occurred.

CALLED DRIVER ROAD HOG

"We had gone around the first curve in an 'S' bend and were rounding the lower part when I saw a car approaching," Mr. Roberts stated. "I said to Moss: 'Look at that fellow hogging the road,' but Moss did not answer. He kept checking the speed of his car."

In reply to a question, Mr. Roberts declared the approaching automobile was using more than its half of the road. It did not alter its course until the two were almost upon each other, he continued.

"Then the driver took a sudden turn to his right. When we were almost abreast the front wheel of Moss's car mounted the log barricade he was hugging on the right side. We went along a few feet further and I could feel the car balancing. I said: 'Moss, we're going over.' I took a look to see if there were any other cars, but there were none around."

In reply to question, Mr. Roberts stated he had been handling cars for the last twenty-five years. He understood Moss had owned one before that in which he plunged to his death.

Dr. E. L. McNiven told of attending the deceased. He had found him on the point of death and the patient had expired shortly after. Death, he said, was caused by shock brought on by multiple injuries sustained in the crash.

Local Opera Society Will Present "Robin Hood" This Season

For its first presentation this year, the Victoria Operatic Society will commence practices to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock for the well-known light opera, "Robin Hood," which will be presented early in December. The practices will be held in the Board of Trade rooms Bastion Street. Madame Laura de Turczynowicz will again be the director

Work may shortly start on "The Bohemian Girl" as the second of the season's presentations. Both these light operas are very well and favorably known and should meet with popular approval. Last year the society made its debut in "Boccaccio" and "Fra Diavolo."

INEXPENSIVE SATISFYING

FAIR MAY HAVE NEW BUILDING

Accommodation For Sheep Urged, as Well as Additional Space For Swine

A new sheep building and additional space for swine are possibilities for next year's Provincial Exhibition, according to Edward M. Whyte, re-elected president of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, who states that the executive will consider the building programme at its first meeting.

A new cattle barn is unnecessary, added George Sangster, who has been in charge of this section of the fair for many years. Exhibitors were quite satisfied with the present facilities, and considered them better than those at Vancouver.

All officials expressed satisfaction at the outcome of the seventieth annual Provincial Exhibition. They had heard few complaints and considered Victoria's reputation for hospitality had been enhanced through the treatment accorded visiting exhibitors.

Though practically all the livestock exhibits were taken away Saturday, the exhibition was open yesterday and quite a number of Victorians took advantage of the weather to enjoy themselves on the midway.

LANGFORD TENNIS CUPS PRESENTED

Cups won at the recent open and handicap tournaments were presented yesterday by James Stuart Yates, honorary president. Mr. Yates congratulated the club, particularly noting the progress made by the younger members. A large number of members and friends were presept.

The Le Quesne Challenge Cup for men's singles open was won by H. C. C. Bennett, it was held in 1930 by A. Howe. The Wenger Challenge Cup for open and mixed doubles was won again by Mrs. A. F. Bayles and H. C. C. Bennett.

The O'Halloran Challenge Cup for boy's singles open was won by Allan Jackson after being held for three successive years by John Wilkinson.

The mixed doubles handicap was won by Miss Christine Brotherston and T. O. Guy, and the ladies' double handicap was won by Mrs. H. A. Hincks and Mrs. L. G. Wilkinson.

The men's double handicap was won by T. Q. Guy and T. Catterall, the international handicap was won by F. Colclough, the ladies' single handicap was won by Mrs. A. F. Bayles, and the Boy's double handicap was won by Allan and Stanley Jackson.

A RULER LIMITS OWN POWER!

Probably few monarchs in history ever have voluntarily restricted their own power. Yet that is what the Emperor of Ethiopia did when, as pictured above, he signed a decree giving a constitution to his subjects. The decree was greeted by a public celebration.

ELEVEN-DAY ROUND-TRIP TO PERNAMBUCO PLANNED FOR BIG GERMAN DIRIGIBLE

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 8.—Decorated as gaily as a vacationer returning from a summer jaunt, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin arrived at its hangar yesterday afternoon from its strictly business trip to South America after an eighty-hour homeward journey.

Aboard were freight, mail and sets of scientific instruments that had been tried out during the journey, but what interested welcomers on the field were the huge tuft of palm branches adjoining the bow and a stuffed crocodile figure-head.

The Graf had experienced 216 homecomings but yesterday's—number 217—proved the big dirigible as fascinating to the welcomers as ever.

Another trip to Pernambuco by the Graf is planned for September 17. It is expected to arrive there September 20, leave September 24 and arrive home September 28.

Will Your Boy be Forced to Stop School?

HE'S off to school once more—that lad of yours—and you look forward confidently to the day when he graduates from High School or University.

But what if you are not here to see that he is thus equipped to face the business world?

Will your boy be forced to stop school—handicapped by lack of education—doomed to a life of meager pay and periodical unemployment?

Or will a Life Insurance Policy guarantee him adequate schooling and an opportunity for future success?

Estimate the amount necessary to ensure your boy's education—then discuss with a Life Insurance representative how this may be arranged.

PIONEERS

WITH other immortal pioneers, the name of DUNLOP is engraved in stone on the Ford Museum at Dearborn . . . a tribute to the man who founded the pneumatic tire industry.

The history of DUNLOP is the history of the modern tire. Founders of the pneumatic tire industry . . . first to build a cord tire . . . first to develop the drop center rim . . . first to develop the straight side tire . . . first to build the Cleated-Grip tire . . . DUNLOP has pioneered at every step.

To-day DUNLOP has over $200,000,000 in resources . . . 50,000 skilled craftsmen . . . 42 years of tire building experience. And to-day, as ever, DUNLOP is a pioneer of new improvements, new discoveries—better tires.

DUNLOP CABLE CORD TIRES

TRACTION-BALLOON:

PACEMAKER:

MULTIPLE-BEAD BUS-TRUCK:
A massive, new, patented wide-tread tire to carry heavy loads at new low cost per mile.

CLEATED-GRIP:
Grips like a cleated shoe. Gives safety and traction in mud and snow—and definite extra miles. Patented—exclusively DUNLOP.

Sir Malcolm Campbell established a new world's land speed record of 245.7 m.p.h. this year on DUNLOP Tires. His previous record, and that of the late Sir Henry Segrave, were also made on DUNLOP Tires.

$25,000 FIRE IN ALBERTA

(Canadian Press)

Drumheller, Alta., Sept. 8.—Fire yesterday destroyed the Ukrainian Labor and Farmer Temple at Newcastle with a loss of $25,000. Insurance to the extent of $15,000 was carried.

The previous quarters of Ukrainians at Newcastle, nearby mining town, were destroyed by fire in August, 1929, entailing a loss of $30,000.

Earthquake Felt In Baluchistan

Quetta, Baluchistan, Sept. 8.—Baluchistan was shaken yesterday evening by two severe earth shocks and thousands of residents of this city and district are leaving by train and automobile.

Comparatively little damage was done here, but it was feared some of the smaller towns and villages might have suffered heavily.

GERMANY TO BUY WHEAT FROM U.S. FARM BOARD

Berlin, Sept. 8.—According to the newspaper Berliner Tageblatt, the Minister of Agriculture has sent an emissary to Washington to negotiate for the purchase of 500,000 tons of hard winter wheat from the United States Farm Board on extended credit terms. He is prepared to offer the Farm Board 4½ per cent interest for a three-year credit, the newspaper says, on a basis of about 50 per cent above the average price on delivery days at Chicago.

The Tageblatt opposes the plan, asserting the interest price, though 4½ per cent is proposed, really amounts to about 20 per cent in view of the suggested premium above the market price.

The paper says the envoy to Washington is a director of an organization which purchases the bulk of the grain bought by the government in foreign markets.

POPULAR PLAY AT THE ROYAL ON SATURDAY

Ethel Barrymore in "The School For Scandal" is Interesting Victorians

When Ethel Barrymore comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre for one night only, Saturday next, in Sheridan's immortal comedy, "The School for Scandal," local play-goers will have an opportunity of seeing how little time has affected or changed modes and manners and human nature of "high society."

Although written over 150 years ago, it has been one of the most popular classic comedies through all these generations largely because of its humor, dialogue and sarcasm which are as modern and timely and applicable to the present era as almost any play of to-day.

As if to stress this "freshness," Lee Shubert, under whose management Miss Barrymore is touring the country, has given the production an ultra modern flavor while the costumes, although of authentic period design, will be featured by a distinctly modern motif. Ernest Schraps, who designed the costumes for Maurice Chevalier's "Smiling Lieutenant," was commissioned to design the costumes for Miss Barrymore and her company.

Mail orders are still being received for Miss Barrymore's local engagement and filled in the order of their receipt, prior to the opening of the general box office sale which start to-morrow.

ON THE SCREEN

Capitol — "Forbidden Adventure," Mitzi Green.
Coliseum — "On Approval," British International Picture.
Columbia — George Arliss in "The Millionaire.
Dominion — "Huckleberry Finn," with Jackie Coogan.
Playhouse — "The Third Alarm," Hobart Bosworth.
Crystal Garden—Swimming, Dancing and Miniature Golf.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

When Tiffany gathered together the cast for the sound version of Emilie Johnson's story, "The Third Alarm," they picked the biggest names available. Anita Louise as the heroine and James Hall as the hero are supported by Paul Hurst, Jean Hersholt, Hobart Bosworth, Mary Doran, Dot Farley, Nita Martan, Georgie Billings, Walter Perry, Aileen Manning, Joseph Girard, Franklyn Farnum, Tom London and Charlotte Merriam. The picture is directed by Emory Johnson, recorded by RCA Photophone and showing to-day at the Playhouse Theatre.

DOMINION THEATRE

Children are now prepared to fight for their moving pictures, and, as one of the first steps to insure a continuation of productions satisfactory to them, they have enlisted Jackie Searl, Paramount juvenile player, as an honorary member of the Fox Hunters club of Canta Barbara.

The Santa Barbara club is the first chapter in what is planned to be a national organization to further interest in motion pictures especially suitable for youngsters. Jackie's characterization in "Tom Sawyer," which he recreates in "Huckleberry Finn," now showing at the Dominion Theatre, his work in "Skippy" and "Forbidden Adventure" won him the invitation to join the club.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Comedy is now featured at the Capitol Theatre in "Forbidden Adventure" the hilarious satire on life in Hollywood, with Mitzi Green, Edna May Oliver, Louise Fazenda and Jackie Searl in the featured leads.

"Forbidden Adventure" is a comedy with a brand new, and highly imaginative type of plot. It is a tribute to the genius for fiction of Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," "Babbitt," and "Elmer Gantry."

"Forbidden Adventure" is based upon his latest novel, "Let's Play King," his first forthright incursion to the field of humor.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

David Manners, who plays the juvenile lead in "The Millionaire" with George Arliss starred, for Warner Brothers in the current production at the Columbia Theater, was in demand for three pictures at the same time when the Arliss cast was being selected. He preferred, however, to work with Arliss.

COLISEUM THEATRE

A Lonsdale comedy demands above everything polished and distinguished acting, and the success of this delightful film is entirely due to the sympathetic feeling which obviously exists between the various members of the cast and the author, and the accomplished direction of an artist in Tom Walls, who not only puts over a perfect performance himself, but gives every member of his company equal facilities. "On Approval" now showing at the Columbia Theatre, is a very entertaining comedy.

Gripping Picture Of Two English Lads In War Coming Saturday

"Tell England" Is War Story That Should Have Dramatic Appeal to Victorians

Names that are distinguished not only in the film world but also in the history of the British Empire are associated with the British screen masterpiece "Tell England," which will be presented at the Coliseum Theatre on Saturday next.

The story of the film concerns two inseparable young English boys and their loyal friendship to each other which persists from their schooldays until death separates them in the heroism of a Dardanelles battle.

The introduction into the film of the memorable Gallipoli campaign was the source of great interest and of the valuable co-operation of the Admiralty with the picture's directors, which resulted in the active participation of General Sir Ian Hamilton in "Tell England." Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force in 1918, Sir Ian appears in the film and will be seen and heard in a reconstruction of his conference with the naval commanders of the flagship before going into action.

Two distinguished naval officers, Commander R. W. Wilkinson, D.S.O., late naval censor at the Admiralty, and Commander Edwin Unwin, V.C., gave invaluable assistance to the directors in an advisory capacity. The former acted as liaison officer between the film company and the Mediterranean fleet, craft and men from which were lent for the occasion, and the latter, who commanded Ss. River Clyde, the troop ship from which landings were made in Gallipoli, superintended the scene in the picture which depicts the heroic deed for which he received his decoration. This shows the officer and another hauling on the landing barge for the benefit of the disembarking troops while totally unprotected and under a virulent fire from the enemy.

Ernest Raymond, author of the book of "Tell England," now in its thirty-third edition, and of "The Berg," from which the British screen masterpiece, "Atlantic," was taken, Anthony Asquith and Geoffrey Barkas (who, incidentally, served with the immortal 29th Division at Gallipoli) two distinguished British film directors and A. P. Herbert of "Punch" fame, who contributed much of the dialogue in the picture, are other notable names conected with this film memorial to the sacrifice of heroic youth on the eastern front.

"Les Voyageurs" To Sing in Victoria At Concert Shortly

After four years of patient rehearsal, "Les Voyageurs," an all-Canadian mixed choir of sixteen voices, will be heard in Victoria at the Shrine Auditorium on Friday, September 18.

Bernard LeBerge, notable impressario of Paris and New York, has placed "Les Voyageurs" on his list of international celebrities, and has arranged for a United States concert tour of this interesting group of singers during the present season.

The choir will be effectively costumed on its appearance in Victoria, and its programme anticipated with interest, especially by those who are engaged in choral work. Walter Bates, who selected and trained these singers, will be the conductor, whilst Bettie Cross will handle the piano accompaniments.

Clynes Urges Advertising As Business Duty

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London.—The plight of the cotton industry was quoted as an example of the modern need for advertising by J. R. Clynes, the Home Secretary, speaking at a dinner of the Advertising Association to honor the retiring president, Lord Riddell, and to welcome Sir Gomer Berry as president.

The Home Secretary said that the power of the press was so far-reaching as to enable it to determine many causes and work great good, or do great harm, as the case might be. There was in relation to trade and future industrial life, added Mr. Clynes, an enormous economic and trade value from the activities of the advertiser, and from the by-products of publicity.

"In the recent industrial depression," he continued, "big business houses naturally felt that they must curtail expenses, and they turned to what seemed the easiest form of saving, and I am told that they lessened their outlay of money in advertising. I am not so sure that that is the right way to save. Such saving might, indeed, turn out to be a loss. Effective advertising has become an essential part of the trade of the Empire, and experienced and able business houses will not, I think, neglect it."

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

"I say you must advertise, you must travel, you must not hide your worth and industrial prospects under a cover," declared Mr. Clynes. "In these days of keen and increasing competition British trade is likely to be left even further behind unless something is done to get the prices and the value of quality of our goods more in the picture than has been so in recent years. I look forward to a period, which I am certain is not far distant, when again there will be a very substantial drop in our unemployed, and a very substantial increase in our level of prosperity. I think towards that end this association will make its contribution, for it has become, in the light of commercial and industrial Britain, a factor which is indeed indispensable for the continued prosperity of our trade."

Wine Tasters Gather At Solemn Convention

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—The proceedings of the International Wine Tasting Conference—the first to be held in London—have little of the jocundity which its subject might suggest. The judge dare not speak lest the perceptiveness of their palate should be impaired, the spectators are not allowed to do so, and visitors were so impressed by the solemnity of the atmosphere that they hardly dared speak above a whisper as they watched the connoisseurs take tiny sips of the four brands of champagne under review, and endeavor to diagnose their year and place of origin and their rival merits in taste, color and bouquet.

The conference includes delegates from France, Germany, and the United States, and—a citizen of the last-named country, Judge Murfin, is its president. Judge Murfin is among the regents—that is the governing board—of the University of Michigan, which is one of the largest universities in the world and is regarded by Americans as the chief engineering school in the country. Recently his fellow regents summarily closed five of the students' fraternity houses on the ground of the drinking which went on in them. It seems odd that such an action should be necessary in a dry country, but the regents at Ann Arbor found that it was.

In the course of the month the members will work their way slowly through about 350 kinds of wine, not to seek out new vintages which may become fashionable, but to judge the merits of those which are approaching maturity. One of the objects of the conference is to inculcate the truth that wine is frequently ruined by being served with the wrong food, and that food should be chosen with a view to the wine that is to accompany it and not the reverse.

In connection with the Wine Tasting Conference is a small exhibition, including two finely carved barrel ends and various sizes and shapes of bottles, one of them bearing the seal of "Sir Neil Menzies, Bart.," no doubt a survival of the time when wine lovers bought claret by the cask and had it bottled for them. There is also on view a "tappit hen," which has a capacity for six bottles.

In League With The Babies

WHEN LITTLE girls wore copper-toed boots and tight-waisted dresses, and little boys wore kilts—what of the babies? Swathed in yards of clothes. Scrubbed with unknown soaps. Few of them expected to live during the dreaded second summer. Many of them suffering countless ailments because nobody knew what to do.

A glance back only a generation or so is enough to reveal how fortunate babies are to-day. Now there are soft, cool soaps . . . every aid in food that care and knowledge can prepare . . . sensible, light little clothes . . . and such knowledge of sanitation and control of disease that every little baby should live and grow.

Mothers are indebted to advertisements for their news of these nursery aids . . . just as they are indebted for news of fascinating menus, fadeless curtains, sprightly dinnerware. Constantly, ways are being devised to make life happier, more comfortable for baby, the whole family. Laboratories clean and bright are scenes of goods being tested—being made safe and pure. When the testing is over, the perfecting done—advertisements hasten the goods to you.

No longer marvel (the next time you buy something widely known) at how fresh, immaculate, fine it is. These are qualities you can be sure of in buying advertised merchandise . . . qualities you must be sure of in buying for the health of babies, children, any one.

It is surprising how timely and vital the news in advertisements can be! Read them regularly.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—Wheat—The market continued dull and featureless. Prices during the first period were about ⅜ to ½ higher than the close on Saturday, getting up against the daily offers, but a small amount of hedging pressure appeared later and prices sold off about one cent and went into the daily bids. The only outside interest shown was a little buying early, by Chicago houses. Export sales over the long week-end were very small, only an odd scattered load being confirmed here and there, with the total volume insignificant.

The market held steady at around 52 cents for October wheat, possibly being held by buying against the bids. After the hedging sales were in, the offerings were very light. The cash market was also a dull affair with very little changing hands. There was a fair milling demand, more particularly for No. 1 hard and No. 5 wheat, otherwise the demand was very light. The spread on No. 1 hard was ⅛ to ⅜ better than at the close on Saturday, and No. 5 wheat was at least one-half cent better, while No. 1 north was ¼ off, and others were unchanged. There was no change reported in the flour situation.

The United States Department of Agriculture estimates the world wheat crop, excluding Russia, at 2,992,280,000 bushels, as compared with 3,142,112,000 bushels the previous year. The on passage supplies of wheat and flour decreased 518,000 bushels.

The weather in the United Kingdom was clear and warm over the past week-end, but snow with hail was experienced in parts of France and further crop deterioration was reported. Reports from Russia state that the weather was wet and that country has withdrawn offers of better grade wheat. The Canadian visible decreased 2,455,000 bushels for the week and the United States visible increased 1,416,000 bushels. The New York market was very weak. Winnipeg wheat futures closed on the bottom showing losses of ¾ to ⅞.

Coarse grains—These markets continued very dull, with some spreading operations being the only feature. There was no export business reported. A New York message stated that Russia and Danubian countries were taking care of the present demand for barley, but a little later it was thought the demand for Canadian barley would again develop.

Oats closed ⅛ lower to ¼ higher. Barley closed 1⅜ to ¾ lower. Rye closed ¼ lower to unchanged.

CHICAGO

(By Logan & Bryan)

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Wheat: Weakness in the security market has been an adverse factor in wheat to-day, checking buying. The general run of news showed no particularly depressing feature. Weather continues favorable in Canada and most of the wheat is now out of frost damage, but the crop is so small that there is not likely to be much pressure.

Export trade was moderate to-day, world shipments 16,500,000 bushels and on passage stocks decreased 608,000 bushels. Winnipeg sold off about as much as Chicago. Clearances for Friday were 168,000 bushels wheat and flour. Deliveries to-day, 140,000 bushels. Liverpool closed ⅜ to ½ lower for the day.

While we believe present prices discount everything that is bearish, the buying power at the moment is modest. For the long pull favor long side on setbacks and believe later on the conditions will favor holders to a greater extent. Visible supply increased 1,416,000 bushels.

Corn—After being rather firm early, corn turned easy and was affected by the stock market and also heaviness in wheat. Cash sales were good again to-day, with sales of 160,000 bushels. Country sales continued light. Our Mr. Donovan reports a poor outlook for corn in southwest Nebraska and northwest Kansas, saying the intense heat has increased the damage, especially to the late planted in which were the best sections.

Open interest September at close Friday 6,927,000 bushels. Very little precipitation over the holiday period. Think December corn is getting down to a basis where, with a continued good cash demand, investment buying is likely. Visible decreased 532,000 bushels.

Oats—Were a little easier with other grains. Cash demand only fair. Deliveries were 95,000. Visible increased 417,000 bushels. Primary arrivals 566,000 bushels, against 650,000 year ago. Market influenced mainly by other grains.

Fractional Changes In Bonds; Moderate Volume

Industrial obligations were less active than other groups, which probably accounts for the fact that had the appearance of resisting the downward pressure more effectively. Changes among the more representative industrial bonds were mainly fractional and were divided about equally between gains and declines.

Fluctuations among foreign issues were principally fractions. Belgian 7s and French 7s were high-grade foreigns, showing firmness.

Railroad loans were more irregular than other groups. Canadian Pacific debenture 4s lost about one point. Erie 5s of 1975, Missouri Pacific series F 5s and New York, Chicago and St. Louis 4½s of 1978 declined about as much. Atchison General 4s were firm and active.

Public utility bonds fluctuated within narrower limits than the railroad or foreign groups and they were more active than the industrials.

STOCKS FALL IN SELLING BEE ON MONTREAL MART

Accumulated Orders Over the Week-end Send Market Substantially Lower

Canadian Press

Montreal, Sept. 8. — Accumulated orders over the prolonged week-end holiday brought the stock exchange list substantially lower to-day. Failure of business to show a normal seasonal pick-up, coupled with the unfavorable action of the New York market in the closing sessions of last week, served to concentrate pressure on the selling side.

C.P.R. common dropped ½ to 17¾ at the close. Royal Bank closed at 234, off two points; Smelters dipped 9½ points to 77; Brazilian, Nickel, Montreal Power and Shawinigan all registered losses. Montreal Power was down 2 points.

GENERAL DIP IN TORONTO MINES

Noranda Recedes to 80; Nickel to 40 and Chemical Research to 60

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Softness on other boards was reflected in price action on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange to-day.

Noranda registered the outstanding recession, with a loss of 80. International Nickel was down 40.

Teck Hughes closed down 5, and Eldorado exhibited a similar loss. Dome dropped last week's gain of 10.

Moffatt-Hall finished with a decline of 4. Bidgood lost 2. Macassa, Dominion Explorers, Tashota and Murphy were somewhat lower, while Sylvanite, Moss, Howey and Federal made small gains and McLeod River moved up 2.

POST-HOLIDAY SESSION DULL

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—Quotations were unchanged to slightly lower during the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, with trading again in small volume.

In the mining group, gold stocks came in for the greatest share of attention. Lorne sold around 11 or a little over, Pioneer in small amount at $2.30, 24 was bid for Reno Gold and Big Missouri turned over at 21 and 22 cents. Georgia River sold at 4 cents and Premier at 52 cents.

Oils were comparatively quiet. Royalite sold at $6.50, C and E. at 22, Mercury was quoted at 9 to 12 cents in bid and asked figures, and Model turned over at 13 cents.

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—Stock sales this forenoon on the Vancouver Stock Exchange were:

Mines—2,000 Big Missouri at 21, 200 at 22; 16,500 Georgia River at 4; 1,000 Inter. C. and C. at 12; 6,000 National Silver at 1; 600 Noble Five at 3; 100 Pioneer Gold at 230; 200 Premier Gold at 52; 500 Reeves McDonald at 21.

Curb—5,000 Lorne Gold at 11, 4,000 at 11½.

Eastern Mines—20 Inter. Nickel at 12.00; 50 Noranda at 18.60.

Industrials—10 C.P.R. xd. at 18.00.

JULY PRICES FIRM

Washington, Sept. 8.—Wholesale prices were said to-day by the commerce department to have remained firm during July for the first time since September, 1930.

In its monthly survey of current business, the department added the general level of commodity prices failed to move downward during the month, although early in August there was a tendency toward further weakness.

Fine Racing Seen At Cowichan On Sunday

Local Entries Show Up Well and J. F. Dick, Douglas Robertson, and W. T. M. Barrett Bring Home Silverware to Victoria; Sueja III and Gwendolyn of Seattle Are Outside Winners.

Although somewhat marred by cloudy weather with frequent rain squalls, the races held at Cowichan Bay over the week-end were generally voted a success by the large number of yachtsmen present from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle and other Puget Sound clubs.

The races were held on Sunday, and although those in the open boats got soaked to the skin, there was a good sailing wind, and some fine competition and sailing style were seen in the various events. There was a representative turnout from northwest clubs, and the bay was gay with white winged craft skimming over the racing courses. Coming over on Saturday the Vancouver boats ran into quite a sea, and some of them were forced to return to port when the going became too difficult.

The only race Saturday was the event for motorboats from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club moorings in Cadboro Bay to Cowichan Bay. This event was won by the Sueja III of Seattle, Capt. James Griffiths, who left Cadboro Bay at 4.25 o'clock and reached the finishing line at 6.59.10 o'clock, just a few seconds before the finishing time of 7 o'clock. The distance was twenty-six and a half nautical miles. The Blue Peter of Seattle, John Graham, was second in this event, leaving Cadboro Bay at 4.05 o'clock and reaching Cowichan at 7.02.03 p.m.; the Vouloir, Dr. Thomas Mercer of Victoria was third, leaving at 3.24 p.m. and finishing at 7.11.12 p.m. and the Placon, Col. E. R. Roome of Maple Bay was fourth, leaving at 3.25 p.m. and finishing at 7.19.45 p.m.

THE LIPTON CUP RACE

The Gwendolyn of Seattle, Capt. Ellis Provine, won the Sir Thomas Lipton Perpetual Challenge Trophy over a nautical mile course off Cowichan Bay and down into the Saanich Arm in the feature race of Sunday. Six boats started in this event, and only three finished. The Gwendolyn's time was four hours, fifty-one minutes and forty-five seconds. Second was the Nelmar, also of Seattle, Capt. Alex Marshall, whose time was four hours, fifty-two minutes and sixteen seconds. Third was the Truant, Rear-commodore Roy Ginn of Vancouver, whose time was five hours and forty-eight seconds. The Truant was formerly owned by Walter Adams of Victoria. The Westward Ho of Vancouver, Capt. Barney Johnston's fine craft, was sailing before the wind, with baloon jib and spinnaker set when a strong puff of wind knocked over her mainmast. The Westward Hod had a long lead at the time, and was looked on as a favorite to win. No one was hurt by the accident, but it took some time to repair the damages. Other entries in this race were the Minerva, H. A. Wallace and the Alisa I, Capt. Tom Ramsey, both of Vancouver.

J. F. Dick of Victoria, in the Asthore, won the Pacific Northwest Challenge Trophy and the Cowichan Cup. He raced over a thirteen nautical mile course, his time for the Pacific Trophy being four hours, forty-nine minutes and forty-four seconds and for the Cowichan Bay five hours, eleven minutes and three seconds. In the latter event the Winsome, sailed by Roy Corbett of Seattle, was disqualified, leaving the field open to the Victoria entry.

BARRETT WINS

W. T. M. Barrett, with Mrs. Barrett in their starboat Mintaka, won the Tzouhalem Cup for the starboat event. The Mintaka raced over a four nautical mile course and did the distance in one hour and thirty-five minutes. There were no Vancouver entries, the stars from the mainland being unable to get over in Saturday's squally weather.

Douglas Robertson of Victoria, in the dinghy Murrelet, won the Cowichan Dinghy Cup. He covered the six miles in two hours, and fifty minutes. There was some misunderstanding in the arrangements, and when the time of starting arrived the Murrelet was the only dinghy ready. In the afternoon a special dinghy race was held, the Murrelet not being allowed to enter. It was won by Herbert Gann in the Kismet, whose time for the four-mile course was one hour, forty-one minutes and twelve seconds. Second was Robin Porter in the Guillemot, time, one hour, forty-three minutes and thirty seconds, while third was the Tern, Humphrey Golby, whose time was one hour, fifty minutes and three seconds. The Puffin, "Ginger" Hotham of Victoria, the Gelsha, H. T. May of Duncan and the Whitewings of Cowichan were also in this event, but failed to finish within the time limit.

In the unavoidable absence of Commodore F. A. Lindsay of Victoria, Rear-Commodore F. N. D. Robertson, in the Iola, was in charge of the arrangements. Commodore Lindsay had engine trouble with his yacht, the Aileen, and so was unable to attend. The judges were F. J. O'Reilly of Victoria, and John Graham of Seattle. Ben Temple of Victoria was the starter, and W. W. Rowson of Victoria the timekeeper and general business manager. Following the arrival at Cowichan on Saturday a jolly dance was held in the Buena Vista Hotel. Sunday afternoon the prizes were presented at the hotel by Commodore E. W. Hamber of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, who was present in the Vencedor, and Miss Margot Robertson of Victoria, daughter of the local vice-commodore.

Yesterday broke fair and clear, and as the day advanced weather conditions were ideal for sailing and yachting. Most of the yachts left Cowichan Bay in the early morning, and did some cruising before returning to their respective moorings in the evening. The week-end was voted an outstanding success and one of the most enjoyable of the whole season.

Yachts present from Victoria, besides those mentioned in the various events were the Gannet, G. A. Salveson, the Kabal, Major W. Garrard, the Timisit, R. F. Castle, the Emmeline, P. E. Seymour, the Discovery Isle, H. Beaumont, who towed the dinghies and stars to Cowichan, the Isabel L., Bert Lemon, the Wyveryn III, Capt. R. C. Weld of Parksville, the Querida, Dr. W. J. Gibson, the Elmatra, Thomas Denny, the Sokum, Capt. Arthur Lane, the Varuna, H. D. Payne and the Starlight, Major Sidney Booth.

TO PUT CARGO INSURANCE UP

Lloyd's Will Probably Come Down, However, When Hudson Bay Route Tested

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Although insurance rates on grain cargoes out of Hudson Bay may be high this year, it is certain Lloyd's will lower the rates as soon as the route has been found free from excessive danger, in the opinion of Sir William Garthwaite, member of Lloyd's, at present in Montreal. He suggested personally that the Canadian Government might act by accepting part of the risk.

Navigation into land-enclosed waters usually makes increased rates necessary, Sir William pointed out. This will especially apply in the case of a newly-established waterway through what had previously been regarded as perilous straits and seas.

"But after the underwriters of Lloyd's have had the experience of a few voyages and find the dangers they apprehend to be less than they thought, they will undoubtedly reduce the rates," said Sir William. "For in general, Lloyd's do not quote unreasonable rates when there is a straightforward business to be considered.

"Although I am not authorized by the committee of Lloyd's to suggest it," he continued, "your situation might be improved during the first year or two by the acceptance of part of the risk by your Canadian Government, if your government is confident that the risk is no greater than that run by vessels entering the St Lawrence."

President Madison To Dock in Morning

The American Mail liner President Madison, inbound from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan, will reach the William Head quarantine station at 5 o'clock to-morrow morning, the captain of the ship this morning advised W. M. Allan, local agent, by wireless.

This time should bring the big liner alongside the Rithet piers about 6 o'clock, where she will remain until 10 o'clock before proceeding to Seattle to terminate her transpacific voyage. She has a large and valuable shipment of raw silk and gold specie aboard.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

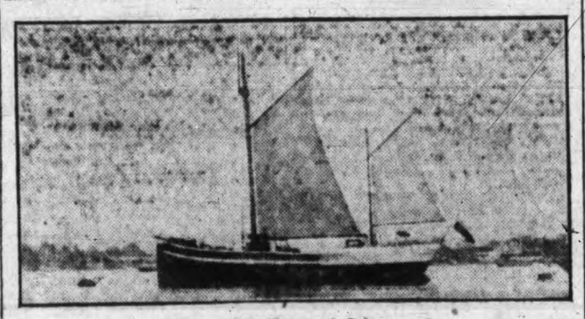
Bound For Victoria Ketch Abandoned Off Island of Barbados

Hearts of Oak Had Ill Luck After Leaving England, Finally Came to Grief on Coral Reef; Capt. C. R. Goss, Her Master, and Members of Varied Crew, Leave for Various Parts; Capt. Goss Coming Here.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 8.—Setting sail from Plymouth, England, in a fifty-eight-foot sailing ketch, the Hearts of Oak, with a Canadian cowboy, a New Zealander just graduated from Oxford University, and an Austrian picked up at the last minute for a crew, and neither of whom knew the first thing about a sailing vessel, Capt. C. R. Goss, lately retired from the Grenadier Guards, London, England, arrived in St. John Saturday on board the Canadian National West Indies liner Lady Nelson.

His original intention was to sail through the Panama Canal to Victoria, Vancouver and Australia. Shortly after setting out from Plymouth they experienced heavy weather with the result that the small vessel commenced to leak so much that they had to pump and bail water continuously for four days, and for six hours of that time the water gained in spite of strenuous exertions. Captain Goss eventually navigated his vessel to Concarneau, in Brittany, and there he beached her and caulked the seams.



The Hearts of Oak

LOSE STEERING GEAR

After leaving Concarneau the crew had fair sailing for a time but later a squall developed which carried away the steering wear, and Capt. Goss was compelled to steer with his sails until such time as he could rig up another.

Setting his course for the Canary Islands, he eventually reached there, and after getting things to rights again aboard the forty-one-ton vessel and revictualling, he squared away from the Canary Islands, but came to grief on a coral reef off the Island of Barbados. At Barbados he disbanded his crew, sold the ketch and took passage on the Lady Nelson to St. John, en route to Vernon, British Columbia, via the Canadian National Railways, to visit friends in the Okanagan Valley.

In all the ketch was forty-eight days on the ocean, during which 4,500 miles was covered.

To navigate Capt. Goss carried a chronometer, a sextant, compass, charts and a portable wireless set presented to him by Capt. R. F. Reford, M.C., of the Irish Guards, now living in England, a son of Robert Reford of the Reford Line in Canada and representatives for the Cunard Line in Canada.

Capt. Goss had intended using the portable wireless set to obtain time signals, but for some reason or another he was unable to obtain these, and so had to trust solely to his sextant and chronometer, along with his charts and compass.

AN OLD CRAFT

Hearts of Oak was sixty years old when the captain purchased her in England, and he lived an entire year on her putting the vessel in shape. He did all the carpentering work himself, among which was decking her in. She is the oldest sailing vessel ever to have crossed the Atlantic, and it was with reluctance that he sold her. Of the crew Jack Harper, who is a cowboy hailing from Kamloops, B.C., took passage on the Canadian National freighter Cornwallis to Montreal, the New Zealander booked passage to Panama, en route to New Zealand, and the Austrian, who joined the crew at the last minute and acted as cook, got a berth on a steamer to Buenos Aires.

Capt. Goss has not abandoned his original intention of sailing to Australia, and if he can obtain a vessel on the Pacific Coast, the chances are that he will soon be sailing the waters of the Pacific, setting his course for the far off Antipodes.

It was announced in The Times some time ago that the Hearts of had left England for Victoria. No further word had been received regarding her progress, and local shipping men were prepared to see the trim little ketch come into the inner harbor some morning just as did Capt. Robert Waard arrive from China on the two occasions he crossed the Pacific, once on the junk Amoy, and aagin last March on the sailing craft Coquet.

Now, however, Capt. Goss will probably include Victoria in his search for a suitable boat in which to sail south on the Pacific to Australia and New Zealand.

TIRED AFTER 10 HOURS SLEEP

After Lunch Would Sleep 3 Hours

NOW SHE HAS "THAT KRUSCHEN FEELING"

Everyone knows the meaning of the famous phrase: "That Kruschen feeling." Well, here is a typical instance of the extreme reverse of that condition. This woman had a perpetual tired feeling. See how it affected her:—

"I am 34 years old, and the mother of two small sons. So my life is a very busy one. Ever since I can remember, I have always suffered with a feeling of tiredness, and never felt ready to get up in the morning, even after 10 hours sound sleep. I have often felt so tired after lunch, that I have slept for 3 and 4 hours, having to do the work in the evening. I took Kruschen Salts for a fortnight—and lost the tired feeling completely. I feel fresh and wide awake, and I have never felt better in my life."—Mrs. E. M. W.

Millions of men and women all over the world take Kruschen Salts daily—not because they are really sick, mind you—but because they know the little daily dose of Kruschen keeps them always fit and energetic, and also keeps the system free from poisonous matter caused by irregular or insufficient elimination.

People who take Kruschen Salts every morning don't have headaches, and are always free from constipation, depression, dizziness, coated tongue and unpleasant breath. They have no poisons in their system because the action of Kruschen Salts on the liver, kidneys and bowels causes perfect and regular elimination. If you want joyous health and glorious vigor—to sleep soundly and arise in the morning fit and refreshed—if you want to work hard and enjoy your work—try taking Kruschen Salts every day. Millions of people are enjoying their daily labours, thanks to the "little daily dose" of Kruschen.

Heart of Liane

by MABEL McELLIOTT

©1931 by NEA SERVICE INC.

In her heart Liane thought, "She shall keep it up. I shall see to that."

And yet she went downstairs with strangely leaden feet. Clive, looking unusually big and formidable in his black and white, held out his arm formally and they followed Mrs. Cleespaugh and the apple-cheeked Mr. Williams in to dinner. Liane experienced an unwonted thrill as she curled her fingers around that broadclothed arm. What a stern and gloomy young man he seemed to-night! He scarcely spoke. Liane glanced at him timidly now and again across the delft bowl with the late roses, the waxen candles in their silver holders.

"—Louis XIV," Mr. Williams was finishing some argument magisterially. "I always said the piece was definitely in that period."

In a daze Liane listened, watched, crumbled bread. Dimly she knew that this night marked a crisis in her life. She seemed to be moving, acting in a dream. She had the sensation of having spoken these words, made these self-same gestures in a previous existence.

When the long, pompous meal was finally ended the four sat in the small drawing-room and Mrs. Cleespaugh poured amber coffee into cups of eggshell fineness.

"You children run off and amuse each other," she said firmly and set the table in place for the cribbage game.

"Come along to the music room and I'll turn on the radio. Get that whatdy'e call her?—that astrological person," Clive offered awkwardly. Liane rose. Now that the moment of decision had come she wanted to push it aside. But she followed him meekly.

Clive twiddled the dials for a moment, then turned to her with an abrupt movement.

"Well, let's have it," he demanded. "Tell me what you really think of me. I know I was no end of a fool to have asked you what I did to-day. I ask your pardon."

She said quietly, "It's I who must ask yours. I was stupid and schoolgirlish. I've been thinking it over—"

"You've reconsidered?"

She nodded. She could not quite trust her voice.

"Good girl." Liane stifled the hysterical laugh which rose to her lips. Was there ever so quaint a wooing?

Clive fumbled with his impeccable tie.

"We've got to make some sort of show of being pals, at least, before we spring it on mother."

"Of course. I understand that." She was demure.

"Look here," the young man said, giving her a shrewd glance. "This will be your show, run as you want it. You're nothing but a kid. I'll play it according to the rules."

She was mystified. She said, "Tell me what to do, and I'll do it."

"Why, it'll be nothing but the regular thing," he said. "Going about together, sending flowers, and what-not. Mean to say you've never been beaued before?" asked this astonishing young man.

"Oh, a sort of glimmering dryad."

She put her hands to her hot cheeks. There was something about the young man's gaze that set her to blushing.

"You don't have to say things like that," she told him.

He turned moody again. Strange, incalculable young man! In a voice suddenly cold and expressionless he said, "Of course not. Sorry. I won't offend again."

Liane, sensitive to the change in his mood, caught him up abruptly. "Oh, but you misunderstood—I didn't mean—"

Clive said, "It's to be kept on a strictly business basis. Isn't that what you mean? Right. Sorry I transgressed."

Oh, well, she thought, if he's going to be mulish about it, let him! She stole a side glance at the mutinous profile.

"Let's see, could we break it to them in about three—say four weeks?" Clive asked a few moments later.

"That will be all right," Liane agreed.

"Well, how's for starting right now with a bit of dancing," the young man wanted to know. He turned the dials and presently the throb and beat of a far-off dance orchestra entered the room.

The young gril, after an instant's hesitation, slid into them. Ah, but she hadn't known he would dance like that! She had danced with Van Robard and had loved it. She had been joyous dancing with Chuck Desmond, but never before had she experienced this fluid perfection of motion accomplished by the born dancing man with wings on his heels.

The tune beat its insistent way into her brain as her steps lightly and fleetingly followed his, wove themselves into the patern of the music. A singer broke in raucously:

"Moanin' low, my sweet man, I love you so. If you die, where'll I be?"

Muriel Ladd ran down the steps of the riding club. From top to toe she was the ripe color of saddle leather. Little, saucy, turned-up felt hat. Beautifully fitting coat and whipcord breeches. Shining, mirror-like boots.

She put a cigarette between her lips and lighted it in the shelter of the hedge. A groom came running to open the door of her gleaming car. She stepped in without a word of thanks and made a reckless swirl around the bluestone drive.

A young man, hatless, his boots glittering in the sunshine, ricocheted after her. He was a half moment too late. He ate Muriel's dust and uttered a heartfelt "damn" at sight of the vanishing car.

The groom throttled a sympathetic smile which had sprung unbidden to his lips. The young man ground his heels in the gravel and went back into the long, low stone building. In the cardroom he summoned a lackey and ordered ginger ale. He mixed a drink and lounged, moody and lowering, in the big leather chair.

"You're a pretty pair of billing doves," the lanky man said indolently. "I could hear you yelling at each other as I took my shower. Dam' ill-tempered wench, if you ask me."

"Cool down," advised the other. "I've known you too long for you to get the wind up over a little harmless joking."

"Haven't set the day yet." Robard's tone was markedly sullen.

"Never expected you to step off, Van. Thought you'd be the giddy bachelor till you were seventy."

Van said abruptly, "Let's talk about something else."

* * *

Meanwhile along the avenue of copper beeches Muriel drove recklessly. She swerved once, almost hitting the cart of an Italian laborer as he turned out of the lane. At the sight of the great pile that was the Cleespaugh mansion she hesitated and her eyes lighted as with a bright idea. With lightning quickness she nosed the long car about and presently drew up before the entrance of the house. A maid answered the long drawn out peel of the bell.

"Miss Barrett? She's in, yes. I'll be calling her."

Muriel reflected idly, swinging her crop and looking about her, that it was devilish quaint of Clive's mother to have these artless peasant maidens on her staff, instead of the smoothly insolent servants most of the Willow Stream gentry enployed.

She explored the room in a vain search for cigarettes. She chuckled to herself, thinking of how she had got away from Van. Served him right. It would give him something to worry about, looking for her.

Liane said through stiff lips, "And so much has happened—let me wish you happiness."

"Oh, that!" Muriel's laugh tinkled like blown bits of glass. "Thanks. Where can we sit down and chin?"

Liane led the way to the morning-room, the most cheerful room in the house. When Nora brought the tea tray Muriel said, half banteringly, "You certainly seem at home here."

Liane nodded. "Mrs. Cleespaugh's very sweet to me."

She poured the steaming amber fluid into an eggshell cup but Muriel made a gesture of annoyance.

"None for me, thanks. I never touch the stuff. I could go for a highball, though."

"Oh, well then," pouted Muriel, "I guess I will guzzle a cup. Catsy little cakes, though." She helped herself to two, looking like a greedy child.

What could he see in her? thought Liane while that dull pain deepened and tightened around her heart. She thought she had forgotten all that. She thought she had put it behind her. Here it was, all the anguish and the longing, risen to confront her again. "She's come to crow over me," Liane thought, dully. "She wants me to know she's got what I could never have."

* * *

Muriel's next words banished her suspicions. "I don't want to talk about my engagement," she said after a pouting hesitation. "It all bores me. It's a mess. We've just been rowing hideously, screaming at each other."

"A mess?" Liane's trembling voice sounded strange.

"Oh, I get in a lather about his pokiness. He wants to order me around."

She looks like a bad child and a spoiled one thought the listener. Undisciplined. Untrained. And yet how exquisite she was with that creamy skin, those charming arched brows, those useless, fluttering, scarlet tipped fingers. Greedy, clutching little fingers.

"Don't let's talk about it," said Muriel. "It'll all come out in the wash. Actually, I'm quite mad about him. He thrills me."

Her mood changed. She began to chatter magpie-fashion of trousseau frocks and wedding plans." Just before Christmas I think I'll make it," she said suddenly. "I'll have the maids in blue and silver."

Liane paled. "I'm afraid I couldn't manage it," she stammered. "I—I may not even be here."

Muriel forgot the notion with characteristic briskness.

"It doesn't matter," she said, dismissing Liane. "I shall have crowds anyway."

To her relief Muriel stood up to go. "It's been such fun," she said with an abrupt and rather disconcerting show of her long forgotten finishing school manner. "Do dash over and let me give you tea one day. 'Voir." Then she was gone, leaving the scent of amber and incense, a heady perfume, behind her.

Liane sat gazing at the disordered tray. The saucer Muriel had held was a loathsome litter of cigarette stubs. Liane's housewifely soul shuddered at the sight of it. The napkin she had used trailed into the cream pitcher. It was very like the disorder Muriel created wherever she went. She scattered and broke wings with those casual greedy little hands of hers. She took what she wanted, destroyed the rest.

"I—oh, I hate her," muttered Liane, arising.

* * *

The room was almost dark now. She was startled at Clive's sudden appearance in the doorway. She stood there saying confusedly, "Let me get you some fresh tea."

"No, don't bother." He halted her "Sit down for a moment, won't you" There's something I want to talk to you about."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Plums

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one day as she saw the rabbit gentleman hopping over the lawn.

"I am going to see if I can find any fruit growing on the trees,' answered Mr. Longears. "We are now in September and fruit ought to be ripe. In fact I'm sure it is."

"What kind of fruit are you looking for?" asked Nurse Jane.

"If I happened to meet a nice, red juicy plum rolling along, or even a purple plum, I would say 'how do you do?' I think," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"No, I mean what would you say if I brought home some plums?" the rabbit gentleman wanted to know.

"I should say I'd make you a plum pudding," Nurse Jane answered.

"Then you shall have some plum fruit if I can find any," Uncle Wiggily promised. "I'm off to look for them."

"Good luck!" wished Nurse Jane.

"Thanks," said the bunny uncle and away he hopped over the fields and through the woods. The first one he met was a funny green grasshopper who had been shut up in the bouncing ball. You remember I told you that story.

"Ha! Ha!" said the Bob Cat

"I am going to look for some plums so Nurse Jane can make a pudding for my breakfast," the rabbit answered. "Do you know where any plums grow, Mr. Grasshopper?"

"Take ten jumps to the left and five to the right and you will see the plums," was the answer.

"Thanks!" said the bunny uncle so he took ten jumps to the left and five jumps to the right, but he saw no plums. "That grasshopper must have made a mistake," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll have to keep on jumping I think."

So he hopped along farther and then he met a butterfly flitting from flower to flower sipping the sweet juice.

"Do you know where I can find a plum tree?"

Ten jumps to the north and ten jumps to the west," answered the butterfly. "There you will find a plum tree."

"Thank you," spoke the rabbit gentleman. "I knew the grasshopper must have made a mistake, telling me ten jumps to the left and five to the right." Then the rabbit uncle took ten jumps to the north and ten jumps to the west and there he found a tree loaded with purple plums.

"Hurray!" cried Uncle Wiggily in a jolly voice. "Now I can have the plum pudding." Uncle Wiggily began to pick the plums from the tree, filling his pockets and even putting some in his tall, silk hat, for he had forgotten to bring a bag or basket.

All of a sudden, when Uncle Wiggily had finished picking the plums, out of the bushes came stalking a gruff, unpleasant old Bear.

"Ah ha!" growled the Bear, who was no relation to Mr. Stubtail, the kind father of Neddie and Beckie the bear boy and girl. "Ah ha!" I am in luck, it seems!" said the Bad Bear.

"How so?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Why, I am going to have some nibbles off your ears!" growled the naughty old Bear, smiling to show his teeth.

"No, indeed you are not going to nibble me!" cried Uncle Wiggily, brave like and not at all afraid.

"Who will stop me?" growled the Bear.

"I will!" said Mr. Longears still brave and not afraid. "I will throw a plum at you, Mr. Bear, and hit you on the nose."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the Bear. "Those plums are as soft as mush and I am not afraid of being hit on the nose with a plum."

"Aren't you?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Well, try this!" with that the rabbit gentleman quickly ate all the soft pulp or meat off a plum and threw the stone at the Bear, hitting him very hard upon the nose. And the Bear howled loudly.

"Will you have another plum?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No! No! No more!" howled the Bear. Then he ran away and Uncle Wiggily took the plums home to Nurse Jane. And if the pepper will stop jumping up out of the salt cellar to make the pussy cat sneeze, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's red peaches.

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1931

There is a strong benefic aspect active to-day, according to astrology. It is a day to plan carefully and to execute promptly.

In the morning there is a planetary influence supposed to encourage sound judgment and wise foresight.

This should be an auspicious sway under which to begin a long journey, and ocean voyages may be most enjoyable.

Again oil and oil interests appear to be subject to good influences that seem to promise fairly prosperous days.

New uses for oil and oil products in immense quantities are foretold, and the United States will profit substantially.

Fortunate results from contracts signed to-day appear to be foreshadowed. Written agreements in most business matters are strongly advised at this time.

Certain classes of workers may encounter difficulties under this sign, which presages unusual labor problems.

Strikes may be expected in certain industries before the winter, if the stars are rightly read.

All who read the stars stress the importance of co-operation between employers and employees. Danger of accepting unfair estimates is emphasized.

Farmers should make the best of this day's work, which may be more or less discouraging, although the seers' prophesy improved conditions for agriculturists.

Merchants should profit while this configuration prevails. Both buyers and sellers may benefit.

The rule favors executives of every sort and heads of both government and business should find this day auspicious for important matters.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of many events. Financial ventures should be profitable.

Children born under this sway probably will be unusually gifted and forceful. Many of these subjects of Virgo attain lasting fame.

Count Tolstoi, Russian philosopher and author, was born on this day, 1828. Another who has celebrated it as a birthday was Eleazer Lord, 1788, financier.

Man Electrocuted At Mission While Wife Is Witness

Canadian Press

Mission City, B.C., Sept. 8.—Ernest Braithwaite, thirty-eight, prominent fruit grower of Hatzic, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon when he came in contact with a switch carrying 2,300 volts while visiting the Stave Falls plant of the B.C. Electric Railway Company Limited.

Before the eyes of his wife and two friends, whom he had been showing around the plant, Braithwaite, calling to them to "look here," stretched out his hand to a switch around which a corona of blue flame was playing. An instant later he was thrown to the ground. Artificial respiration failed to revive him.

Swan-upping Still Done on Thames

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—Among the curious customs which survive in connection with city companies is the annual practice of swan-upping, or taking up the swans of the River Thames for the purpose of marking them in such a manner as to establish their ownership. This ancient practice, which is being carried out at present, was not confined originally to the Thames, but embraced the whole country, and during the last five centuries Acts of Parliament and Orders in Council have been passed for its regulation.

The earlier laws relating to the preservation of this royal bird enacted severe penalties in case of infringement. Any person killing a swan, or even driving one away from its own ground if it desired to breed there, was liable to a year's imprisonment and a heavy fine, while a fine of 13s. 4d. was inflicted for each egg stolen from the nest. If a dog killed a swan its owner was liable for a fine of forty shillings, and if the animal drove a sitting bird from her nest the penalty was reduced to 13s. 4d. Nor did it matter if the owner of the dog was not present when the indictment occurred. With a view to further protection no one was allowed to hunt waterfowl near the haunt of swans "with any dogges or spanylls from the feast of Easter to the Sunday next after Trinitie Sunday on payne to forfeit 6s. 8d."

As far back as the reign of Elizabeth as many as 900 distinct swan-marks were recorded by the Master of the Swans. Although this office is abolished, some of the old orders are adhered to by owners of swans upon the Thames. Owners who exercise their former privileges to-day are the King, the Vintners' Company and the Dyers' Company. Each has a swanherd, and the ceremony of swan-upping is observed as soon as the broods are sufficiently well grown. The swanherds meet upon the appointed day and journey up the river in boats from London Bridge to Henley, the ceremony occupying approximately four days. At the last ceremony there were about 600 swans on the river, and of these roughly half belong to the King, the remainder being divided between the Vintners' and Dyers' Companies.

"JUNGLES" CLOSED AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—With Vancouver's "jungles" officially closed, 878 of their population are either being house in the Emergency Refuge at 35 Pender Street West, or in various rooming houses about the city which honor bed tickets issued by the city relief department.

On Saturday the relief officer with a wrecking crew recruited from the bread line swept down on the "jungles," issued bed and meal tickets to all residents, good until Wednesday, and tore down the variegated shacks and wigwams which had sheltered these men during the summer weather.

In only a few cases did any of the men continue in their abodes after Saturday. These occupied shacks of a fairly permanent nature, but orders were given for them to evacuate the areas.

OUT OUR WAY— —By WILLIAMS

OUR BOARDING HOUSE— —By AHERN

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Before I was married all my friends pitied me greatly and predicted wreck and ruin for my marriage because I was going to live with my mother-in-law. But it has turned out beautifully. I love my husband's mother dearly and have learned much from her. I think that in most cases where there is a man worthy of a girl's love he has a fine mother who started him on the right path and kept him there, and that if newly-married girls would look for this wonderful side of their mothers-in-law, there need not be so much trouble between in-laws. After all, mothers are interested in seeing their sons happy and successful. They are not trying to wreck their son's home. I hope that some day I may have a son and that I will be able to make his wife happy as my mother-in-law has helped make me happy.

MRS. E. F.

Answer—And I think you will get your wish, Mrs. E. F., for life is pretty apt to pay us back in our own coin and what we have given returns to us. Certainly the qualities, the philosophy, the generosity, the good sound horse sense that have made you a good daughter-in-law will make you a good mother-in-law.

I often wonder that the young wives, who are so snippy and hateful to their husbands' mothers, and who are trying so hard to take their husbands away from the mothers who bore them, never think of the day when their own sons will marry, and that they do not fear that a just retribution will fall upon them, and their sons' wives will treat them as they are treating their husbands' mothers.

Of course, in the conflict that goes on between in-laws and in which so many tears are shed, so much bitterness engendered, so many homes wrecked and so many hearts broken, it is just as much the daughter-in-law's fault as it is the mother-in-law's. Most brides go into their husband's families with a chip on their shoulders. They are determined that their mothers-in-law shall not put anything over on them or boss them or have any influence over their husbands. Therefore, they are on the lookout for causes of offence. They resent even the most casual word of advice and consider the mildest suggestion a mortal offence. And they would rather die than learn anything from their husbands' mothers.

One would think that instead of a bride looking upon her husband's mother as her predestined foe and one whom she hated sight unseen, she would feel a sense of gratitude and an instinctive affection toward this other woman who had done her the greatest service that one woman can do another.

For what a man is, is what his mother has made him. Years upon years of patient, loving work, of anxiety, of sacrifices have gone into the making of a man's character, and if he is fine enough to win a girl's love and good enough for her to marry, she owes a debt to her mother-in-law that she can never repay.

It is a pity that young wives don't consider that obligation sometimes, and it is a pity that they haven't sense enough to see that there is no other human being in the world who can do so much to help make their marriage a success as their mothers-in-law, no friend so valuable as their husbands' mothers would be if they would let them.

To begin with, there is no other one thing that a wife can do that strikes such a deadly blow at her husband's love for her as for her to quarrel with his mother and to be always coming to him with complaints and criticisms of his mother. Most men's love for their mother is an integral part of their lives. More, it is a sort of a religion, and a wife interferes with that at her peril. For the sake of peace and to avoid being nagged and to keep from breaking up his home the man may outwardly take his wife's part and let her separate him from his mother, but deep down within him is a resentment that never dies and a cold anger against his wife that chills his affection for her.

And mother-in-law, who has known John for some twenty-five or thirty years, could give the young wife some mighty valuable points about how to handle him, and in spite of every bride's conviction that she is incarnate wisdom, there are mighty few young wives who would not do well to sit at the feet of their mothers-in-law and gather from their lips some of the pearls of wisdom that years of experience have taught them.

But, of course, the root of the trouble between mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law is jealousy. The jealousy of the mother of the young woman who has taken her son away from her, and who has become the chief thing in his life. The jealousy of the young wife of the woman her husband loved before he loved her and who was the chief thing in his life before he knew her.

A few women are big enough and intelligent enough to see that these two big loves do not conflict. But until there are more of them it will always be a hazardous experiment for mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law to try to live together and one that only the foolhardy undertake.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—The crowd I run with seem to regard me as a lender. I never go out that someone doesn't want to borrow money from me. It is 50 cents or $1 or $5 or $10, and it keeps me strapped. Sometimes I plan a little extra for mother or something for one of my sisters, but I never can give it to them because some chap is sure to hit me for a loan just about that time. I am tired of it. Which way out, please?

ROBERT X.

Answer—I should say that the solution of all your troubles is a Yale lock on your pocketbook. It is a fine and noble thing to be generous, but you can only be generous if you have something to give, and you will never have anything if you are an easy mark who lets a lot of dead beats graft on you.

Also it is a fine and noble thing to lend a helping hand to a friend who is really in trouble, but you are merely encouraging lack of thrift and responsibility and honesty when you lend money to a lot of extravagant boys and girls who spend more than they have and make you pay the deficiency.

"Neither a borrower nor a lender be," said Shakespeare. It is good advice, for when you lend to your friends you lose both friends and your money.

Magic of Mercury

It's here one moment but gone the next! Place a little on the palm of your hand—you will have a hard time keeping it there unless you hold your hand very steady.

Dip a penny in mercury, and the penny will lose its color, turning silver-white on the outside.

Think of a metal which runs around like that! Quicksilver, or mercury, is the only known metal which is liquid at common temperatures. Other metals become liquid if heated to high points, but mercury is liquid without such heating.

"Is mercury mined? What countries does it come from?"

Those questions appeared in a letter I received from a reader not long ago.

Yes, mercury is mined. Most of it is taken from cinnabar ore. The ore is heated until globules of mercury turn into fumes. The fumes are captured and condensed. In a few places mercury is found in a pure state — in "pockets" amid rocks. At times it has been dipped up with buckets.

Mercury is found in Russia, Italy, Spain, Mexico and the United States (Texas and California). The ancient Greeks knew about the strange metal, obtaining it from mines in Spain 2,600 years ago.

Mercury will boil when heated to a little more than 674 degrees Fahrenheit. It will freeze if the temperature around it falls to 40 degrees below zero.

When it is dipped into a jar of liquid air, mercury will freeze rapidly. A block of frozen mercury, fastened to a handle, has been used to drive a nail into wood.

The ancient Romans named their messenger-god "Mercury." The messenger-god was supposed to move in a hurry. The liquid metal mercury certainly moves in a hurry when we give it a chance!

Mercury is also the name of a planet. This planet is the closest to the sun of any in our solar system. It is not much larger than the moon, and rushes around the sun at a terrific speed.

FALSE TEETH ARE A GREAT INVENTION BUT KEEP YOUR OWN AS LONG AS YOU CAN

Most People Seek Protection

FALSE teeth are better than none, but if you prefer to keep your own don't wait for pyorrhea to make your gums spongy and swollen before giving your mouth the care it deserves.

A great British doctor is authority for the statement that many people actually have a pyorrhea condition in their mouths as long as ten years before the real havoc of this disease begins to tell.

As it progresses the gums soften, the teeth may loosen in their very sockets until extraction and false teeth are the last resort. Don't wait another day before taking protective action.

Go to your dentist twice a year

Everyone should pay a visit to his dentist at least once in every six months for teeth inspection. Between such visits start the habit now of brushing your teeth regularly twice a day with Forhan's Toothpaste. This scientific dentifrice was originated by R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., who for years specialized in the treatment of pyorrhea.

This toothpaste is unique in that it contains Forhan's Astringent, an ethical preparation developed by Dr. Forhan, which thousands of dentists use today in the treatment of pyorrhea.

A fine dentifrice for children

Even when gums are in the best of condition, Forhan's is a fine precaution. It is so pure, so mild, so free from harsh abrasives that it cannot do the slightest harm, even to the delicate tooth enamel of children. Forhan's Limited, Montreal.

False teeth often follow pyorrhea, which comes to four people out of five past the age of 40

NEW OLYMPIC TOURIST ROUTE AIDS VICTORIA

Publicity Bureau's Oregon Contact Men Return; Conditions Reported

Victoria will enjoy a great increase in tourist trade when the new United States highway along the Pacific Coast from Crescent City, California to Port Angeles is opened next summer, according to Oliver Hollingsworth and F. M. O'Connor, who returned on Friday evening from Oregon, after three months' duty as contract men of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Mr. Hollingsworth stated that work now in progress south of Newport, Ore., will be completed this winter and will enable automobile traffic to take the cool coast road all the way north from the Redwood Highway. He supported Mr. O'Connor's praise of the newly-completed road from Port Angeles to Aberdeen by way of Quinault and expressed the conviction that Victoria would be a major beneficiary of the new highway.

Mr. O'Connor made his headquarters at the offices of the Grant's Pass Chamber of Commerce, where he found that many California tourists were curtailing their summer vacations, but that Victoria was the objective of most of those bound for the Northwest. "Victoria has certainly been cashing in on the goodwill investment she has made in recent years. This city has enjoyed a much larger proportion of well-to-do tourist traffic than has been experienced by many other communities which have undertaken far more expensive publicity programmes," he reported.

Oregon is now one of Victoria's greatest potential sources of tourist revenue. Prominent men in all communities express warm friendship for Victoria. Most of the business leaders are frequent visitors to Victoria and made a point of recommending this city to their well-to-do friends from California and the Eastern United States.

Mr. Hollingsworth said that similar conditions prevailed at Portland, where he had received hearty co-operation from the Oregon State Motor Association. While the total tourist traffic through Portland was below that of last year he had noted that parties destined for Victoria had not fallen off in number to any proportionate extent.

Spokane had been visited by Mr. Hollingsworth for a week in July for the purpose of renewing contacts established during five previous years. He had learned that the tourist traffic at that portal to the Pacific Northwest had been substantially reduced but was recovering towards the close of July.

BRITISH EXPLORERS CLAIM THEY FOUND QUEEN OF SHEBA'S MINES

London, Sept. 8.—Rubies, diamonds, platinum and gold, such as the Queen of Sheba is supposed to have worn when she visited King Solomon were brought to London Sunday by Frank Payter, big game hunter, from mines he believes were the sources of the Queen of Sheba's wealth.

Payter found the gems and treasure in a cavern hidden in the unexplored country 320 miles due west of Addis Ababa, Abyssinia. He intends to organize a new expedition within a few months to go back and get what he left behind.

His story of the discovery was almost as fascinating as the gems themselves, sparkling through their natural roughness. An old Arab, he said, gave an English mining engineer a map in 1930 which the engineer showed Payter. The two men, he said, worked out the directions and discovered the treasure.

There has been frequent mention in literature of the supposedly rich jewel and metal mines in the Abyssinian area. Sir H. Rider Haggard, the writer, laid the plots of several of his books, notably "She" and "King Solomon's Mines," in the area where the legend locates them.

STORMS AND FLOODS SWEEP EUROPE AREAS

Rivers in France Out of Banks; Gale Hits Berlin

Canadian Press

Paris, Sept. 8.—Storm, flood and cold sketched a trail of death and destruction across most of western Europe over the week-end.

Seven sailors were swept from the Italian destroyer Darecco on the way from Sardinia to Spezia, Italy, and two of them were lost in a heavy sea. The other five were picked up in a lifeboat after being given up for dead.

A laborer was killed and several injured when wind blew over a wall on which they were working at Bernhagen, Germany.

The Baltic coast was lashed by heavy gales that stranded the Hamburg freighter Ull and drove many steamers into Stettin Harbor. Navigation came to a standstill and several barges were sunk.

Thirty yachts anchored in lakes near Berlin were overturned by winds. Trees in the parks and on streets were snapped off as a gale blew through the city.

FLOODS IN FRANCE

France was beset with floods and freezing temperatures. A seaman was washed away and drowned in a storm near St. Nazaire and a farm laborer lost his life in a flooded stream near Cherbourg. The Seine, at Paris, rose to new heights for the year and the city shivered at 50 degrees.

The Marne, Rhone, Saone, Moselle and Meurthe Rivers overflowed their banks and flooded neighboring fields. Snow fell in the Pyrenees and cut off Little St. Bernard from the world. The thermometer went as low as 37 degrees in Savoy. Tobacco crops and vineyards in the Girdone district were badly damaged by hailstones.

EATS STEAK CUT FROM MAN FRESHLY KILLED

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—A white man describes with some enthusiasm his sensations when partaking with cannibals of a meal of human flesh.

"If I had begun with a certain unconscious trepidation," he writes, "I finished well enough to be able—to consider the meat as meat—a sense of pride also in having carried something through to a finish."

This gastronomic eccentric is the explorer, William E. Seabrook, who evidently believes in doing in the jungle as the jungle does. He analyzes his emotions as, he confesses, he analyzed his gruesome meal. Mr. Seabrook's weird experiences are told in his latest book, "Jungle Ways." For two months he lived with the Guere tribe on the Ivory Coast of West Africa, and he delved thoroughly and rather gruesomely into the cannibalistic practices of those people.

"White men taste no better than black men," the chieftan told Mr. Seabrook, "and anyway they have always been too difficult to catch."

TWO STRANGE JOINTS

Mr. Seabrook requested and was given a sizeable rump steak, also a small loin, to cook or have cooked in whatever manner he pleased. It was the meat of a freshly-killed man, who seemed to be about thirty years old.

"Neither then nor at any time since have I had any serious personal qualms either of digestion or conscience," writes the author, "but, despite time, distance and locale, I feel that it would be unfair, unsporting, and ungrateful to involve and identify too closely the individual friends who made my experience possible."

Mr. Seabrook tells of other weird experiences, including the sword jugglers of the Yafouba. Each man, holding his sword stiffly upward with his left hand, tossed a child high in the air with his right, then caught it full upon the point, impaling it like a butterfly on a pin. Through the people the jugglers marched, each bearing a child aloft, impaled upon his sword, and disappeared into the witch doctor's enclosure. When the children were examined afterwards they were found to be unharmed.

LO! POOR WHALE! MACHINE AGE ALSO DOOMS HIM

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London—Sir Douglas Mawson has added the weight of his opinion to the body of counsel which advises drastic restriction of whaling operations in the southern seas.

When whaling was something of a sport as well as an industry, and the whale had a fighting chance of shaking off his enemies, the annual slaughter was not nearly large enough to imperil the survival of the genus. But nowadays whaling is a highly organized industry, conducted from parent ships which are really huge floating factories, while the pursuing craft have formidable speed and armament.

Under such conditions a sighted whale is a doomed whale, and the circle of operations of a whaling fleet is so wide that every season the slaughter is tremendous. If it continues to increase unchecked the whale must soon become extinct as the dodo, and then mankind will realize its folly too late. If the countries or companies engaged in whaling cannot come to a sensible agreement on restriction of killing, the matter had better be referred to the League of Nations without delay.

DIAMOND KING TELLS OF EARLY GAMBLER'S LUCK

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

Sir David Harris, the senior director of De Beers Consolidated Mines Limited, who is now visiting London, has been relating his experiences.

"I went out to South Africa sixty years ago when I was nineteen," he said. "Life was too quiet at home, and I wanted to go to the diamond fields. I walked 500 miles from Durban to Kimberley, obtained a claim, and worked it for three weeks. I found one diamond. I just managed to pay my black laborers, and gave up the claim. Then I worked in a store, and later, with the financial backing of a friend, went round buying diamonds.

"But I went back to the digging again. Once a friend took me into a roulette saloon, but as I had promised my father never to gamble I would not stake anything. My friend asked for some champagne, which was free, and when he gave me some a croupier made a remark about people coming in for free drinks. This piqued me, and I put £1 on No. 13. It came up, and I went on playing till I broke the bank, taking away £800 in cash and a cheque for £600. I banked £1,000 at Kimberley, and with the rest and some of my own money came to England. I spent the lot in three weeks. I was only twenty-one.

THE DEFENCE OF KIMBERLEY

"When Kimberley was threatened during the South African War," continued Sir David Harris, "I heard that the merchants were not supporting the idea of a town guard. I pointed out to them that the small guard available would be only enough to protect the De Beers property. I mentioned that the Boers were fond of looting, and that the merchants would have no government compensation if they did not take steps to protect their property. I put an advertisement in the paper next day asking for men for the guard at 5s. a day, and they rolled in, the merchants willingly allowing their employees to join.

"The pioneers at Kimberley who became millionaires were Beit, Cecil Rhodes, Rudd, Barney Barnato, Harry Barnato, Breitmayer, Michaelis, Julius Wernher, Dunkelsbuhler, J. B. Robinson and the Ecksteins. I have never wanted to posses great wealth or I might perhaps have become a millionaire myself.

"I think diamonds are beautiful. I love to see them worn by a woman. It is pleasant to see them flash and sparkle at the opera, for instance. The diamond industry is to a large extent based on love and romance, I suppose. Engagement rings, and then presents after marriage. I think they will always be valuable."

RELIEF WAGE PROTEST

Canadian Press

Glace Bay, N.S., Sept. 8. — Branding a rate of $2.40 a day for highway workers as "only the thin end of the wedge for a general lowering of the wage rate in this country," several speakers yesterday addressed a mass meeting of United Mine Workers of America here. Three resolutions protesting the new rate were unanimously passed.

INDIAN NATIVES RIOT IN PROTEST AGAINST "ROUND TABLE"

Riots raged in the streets of Bombay, India, as police sought to suppress native demonstrations against the round-table Conference. This picture shows Indian rebels marching in semi-military array toward the heart of Bombay's business district, bearing aloft posters with inflammatory slogans against the British government. Attempts by insurgents to hold mass meetings on the Esplanade Maidan resulted in serious fighting.
